

The Hilltop

Literary Edition

MARY ANNE CAMPBELL

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

KATHERINE PHILLIPS
ASSOCIATE EDITOR

EXCHANGE EDITOR
ADVERTISING MANAGERS
CIRCULATION MANAGERS
SPORTS EDITORS
ADVISORS

CLYDE MOODY
MANAGING EDITOR

HANK MARING
CHARLIE CAMPBELL & LUTHER DUNN
MARIE SMITHWICK & RALEIGH BAKER
CHARLIE WILSON & BETTY LOU STEELMAN
MISS COLLIE GARNER & MISS P. A. GENTRY

Volume XXII

APRIL, 1948

Number 13

PUBLISHED BY THE STUDENTS OF MARS HILL COLLEGE, MARS HILL, N. C.

Entered as second-class matter February 20, 1926, at the Post Office at Mars Hill, North Carolina, under the Act of March 3, 1879. Issued semi-monthly during the college year.

Contents

FOREWORD—Charlie M. Wilson	Page 3
GUEST EDITORIAL—Dr. R. L. Moore	Page 4
SCIENCE OR RELIGION—A. C. Snow	Page 5
WE PRESENT THE PRESIDENTS—Dean Minton	Page 6
AUTUMN LEAVES—Janice Hall	Page 7
COMES THE SPRING—Mamie Lou McCrory	Page 8
A SUMMER MORN—Don Jackson	Page 8
AN EVENING PRELUDE—Emma Carol Gandy	Page 9
AS I LOOK BACK—Harrison Eskridge	Page 10
NIGHT THOUGHTS—Lois Keller	Page 11
FICKLE LOVE—Dan Roberts	Page 11
BLACK AND WHITE—Robin Kellum	Page 12
HOPE RENEWED—Howard Alley	Page 13
IN DISTANT YEARS—Nell Neighbors	Page 13
GOD AND NATURE—Bob Ivey	Page 13
I'M NOT GUILTY—Allen Brown	Page 14
WHAT A LIFE! — Clifford Jones	Page 16
I WANT MY DADDY—Nancy Ijames	Page 16
THE LAND OF BEGINNING AGAIN—Betty Bennett	Page 17
PRELUDE TO CHEMISTRY—Harry Cherkas	Page 17
FOUR HOURS AT SEA—Charles Emerson Wilfong	Page 18
THOUGHTS OF LOVE—Marian Jordan	Page 19
LA FIESTA DE SAN JACINTO—Patricia Bradford	Page 20
AT MIDNIGHT—Edward Getzman	Page 20
RETURN OF A NATIVE—John A. McLeod, Jr.	Page 21
DID YOU KNOW? — Iris Porter	Page 22
A PUP'S TALE—Shirley Schellenberg	Page 22
INSPIRED WRITING—Harry Clause	Page 23
NIGHTMARE—Jerry Fields	Page 24

Foreword

Mars Hill Junior College is located in one of the most beautiful regions in Western North Carolina. It lies seventeen miles north of Asheville on Highways 36A and 213. From the campus may be seen an inspiring panorama of lofty mountains. The location of the college makes it relatively free from many distractions and temptations.

The school offers young men and women every opportunity for better Christian living. The primary purpose of the college is to further the advancement of the Kingdom of God. For many years it has maintained standards of "plain living and high thinking." Mars Hill has many literary advantages and social pleasures that can be safely given to young men and women during their early college years.

Other than the regular academic work, the school offers opportunities in the fields of music, business, speech, and art. Under the direction of five coaches, the college has a well-rounded athletic program for men and women. This program includes football, baseball, basketball, tennis, hockey, swimming, archery, boxing, track, and tumbling. In all of these activities, a spirit of teamwork and cooperation is encouraged.

It is a similar cooperation that has made possible this literary edition of the Hilltop. The Hilltop staff wishes to express its appreciation to the English department, and to all students who have submitted material for this edition. The Staff is grateful to all those who have worked diligently and unselfishly in the publishing of this magazine. It wishes to express further appreciation to the College Administration for its wholehearted support. May we continue in this same spirit of cooperation to uphold the high standards of Christian living which this college strives to maintain. Let us incorporate these same principles toward making a better world.

—C.W.

HILLTOP—PAGE THREE

first row:
Netta Su
anet Harris
listment vic
lay School s
g secretary;
rer; Kennet

Stu
U. Sp

udent Att
Prominen

merman, Mar
te of 1947, has
rough an ori
position. The v

Triumphant Sun, was comp

partment presented Jeanne Gen
stedt, violinist, in her sophomore recital. She was accompanied by Anne Morgan. The program con sisted of Sonata IV in D Major by Handel; Concerto in A Minor

as Mistress and master of monies for the occasion were
Marie Smithwick and Ed Stokes.
Toasts were proposed by Charlie
Wilson, Katherine Phillips, Char

ter of the Delta Psi Omega, na tional honorary fraternity. Those who will be initiated next week