NASM Membership Considered For Music Department

The Department of Music, which now has a highly trained faculty of seven, is being considered for membership in the National Association of Schools of Music. Dr. Burnet C. Tuthill, secretary of the association, visited the college last spring to make a thorough inspection of the department. He was favorably impressed with the faculty and the work being done and made some valuable suggestions for improving the facilities. Admission to the association would be a significant recognition. At present about 160 colleges and universities of the United States are members, eight of which are junior colleges.

This summer eight new pianos three concert grands and five Hamilton uprights-were purchased for the Department of Music. The three concert grands can be found in the auditorium; one in Miss Biggers' studio, one in Mr. Felts' studio, and one on the stage. The concert grand on the stage is to be used exclusively for concerts and not for general purposes. Last summer the Music Building was renovated and a practice organ installed. Other equipment recently provided for the department includes instruments for the band and orchestra, uniforms for the band, robes for the chorus, and turntables for the library of records.

Briefly . . .

At chapel time October 4 and 5 we shall hear Dr. H. B. Dendy, pastor of the Weaverville Presbyterian Church. Some of the students are well acquainted with Dr. Dendy as one who has been of great encouragement to student mission activities.

October 7 at 8:00 p.m. Maury Pearson, baritone, will appear in the auditorium. This is the opening number of the 1950-51 Lyceum series.

Mrs. J. V. Erskine and Mrs. Ogle, poets and active members of the North Carolina Poetry Society, will present a chapel program on October 9.

Dr. E. L. Spivey, Field Secretary of the North Carolina Baptist State Convention, will conduct worship services in the local church on October 8 and chapel services October 9 and 10.

October 14 at 8:00 p.m. Dr. Murry Banks, Professor, Author, Speaker, Columnist, and Humorist, will appear in the auditorium in the second number of the Lyceum series.

Attending the inauguration of Gordon Gray as president of the University of North Carolina will be President Blackwell. The inaugural ceremonies will be held at each of the three units of the university: October 8 in Greensboro, October 9 in Chapel Hill, and October 10 in Raleigh.

Former BSU Home Is Converted To College Playhouse

In cooperation with the BSU, the Drama Department will soon have a home. The former BSU building is now undergoing painting and repairing, and, because of historic value, will be named "Rivermont Playhouse." The building will contain a Little Theatre, which will be used for rehearsals and one-act plays; make-up room; costume room; speech studio; office; and workshop. The seating capacity of the Little Theatre is approximately seventy-five.

As soon as the building is completed, the Dramateers will sponsor Open-House, and will present a one-act play.

The Dramateers met September 21 in Stroup parlor for organization. There are thirty-one members of the club.

Officers for the club are: Vickie Ogle, president; Betty Ann Turner, vice-president; Mary Frances Silver, recording secretary; Earline Collier, corresponding secretary; Everett Gill, treasurer; and Charlie Tomlinson, publicity chairman. Mrs. David Rogers is advisor.

Three New Courses Added To English

Three new courses are being added to the English Department—fundamentals of speech, interpretive reading, and acting and stage craft. Since the Speech Department has been correlated with the English Department, full college credit is given to those taking these electives. Both freshmen and sophomores may take these new courses.

Dr. Pierce is experimenting in supervised writing by conducting a writing lab every Thursday at 1:30, and all teachers of five hour English are going to utilize one hour each week in instructing their pupils in written composition. A class in English 29 is devoted entirely to journalism and is being offered to sophomores.
