Page Four

Nov. 7, 1953

Vo

B

wi

cer

foi

30 me

Gy

go

na

d c

flu

qu

mi

of

ho

car

do dis

cla

foi

tw

an

 \mathbf{M}

cla

fro

me

the

Be

Br

nes

rov

and

Da

Be

Po

bas

M yne

Sai

Ed

Ba

nel

M

Ve

Ca

Bli

ice

H

Se

Sal

Co

ope

in tin

as

the top

tril

mit

the

ing

sea

a c gro

rep

cei

Ma

pos

tier

fun

and

Th

by me

Faith at Work

By Sarah Adams

Thirteen college Sunday School classes pledged $1150 to buy bonds for the new church. This bond drive was presented by David Pittman, Mary Frances Cowart, and Viola Gallimore during the general assembly on November 1. The drive will open on November 8 and continue through December 3. Several plans for raising money have been adopted. Each member of one class pledged to give five dollars. Girls of another class pledged to give $2.50 each and to write letters to former students asking for contributions. A graph will be placed on the bulletin board in the Student Center to show the progress made by each class.

Mission Trips - Nov. 1

The drama class composed of Gladys Price, Mrs. Carolyn Byrd, Margaret Tomberlin, Jackie Roberts, Myrtle Dick, Gwen Cole, Shirley Heath, Lois Ann Morris, Shirley Owen, Mildred Fulfer, Macal Ezell, Lloyd Farthing, Gale Brown, Palmer Mills, Janet Scent, and David McKee went to Forks of Ivey to present a program. Dr. Raymond Nelson is pastor of this church. Following the scripture reading, prayer and special music, the drama, "The Least of These," was presented.

Fred Girvin was in charge of the service at the Cane Creek Prison. Ernest Ferrell spoke on "The Road Back to God." Others in the group were Rowe Teague, Bill Cheek, soloist, and Bobby Coley, organist. Another group visited the Asheville jail in the afternoon.

Gene Allen and Joanne Nixon are doing a grand job of planning the Oteen programs. They need more people to take part, especially students who have never been to Oteen. Encourage your friends to go. Those who went on Nov. 1 were Larry Skipper, Dot Childers, Jimmy Ballard, Claire Buckner, and Charles Miller, ward leaders; George Perry and Joe Sanders, speakers; Alva Wallace, Katy Katsarka, Joanne and Jeanette Watson, Jim Otis, Wanda Mc-Curry, Doris Wardlaw, Martha McLeod, and Jim Grant. A large group of Methodist students went to the Methodist church in Marshall to help with a service there.

Mrs. Harrison Is Hostess In Brown

Mrs. Mary Ruth Harrison of Baton Rouge, La., has recently joined the college staff as house mother in Brown dormitory. Mrs. Harrison was formerly supervisor of the Protestant Orphanage in Baton Rouge.

Born in Hopkinsville, Kentucky, Mrs. Harrison was educated at Kentucky State Teachers College and Bowling Green University. Prior to her marriage to J. T. Harrison, a hotel business man, she taught in the high schools of Columbus, Miss.

In a recent interview Mrs. Harrison stated, "I find the boys in Brown a nice cooperative bunch, and am glad to be connected with an institution as fine as Mars Hill." She does, however, agree with the boys that it is a long hike back up the hill from the cafeteria.

"Tweedles" (Continued from Page 1)

Tarkington has its plot in the love affair of the daughter of a New England family and the son of a wealthy Philadelphian. The comedy is set in an antique shop in New England, where sharp conflict develops between the "summer family" and the native-born "tweedles." Complicating the plot is Philemon Tweedle, a New England constable on the lookout for liquor "confiscation." At a regular meeting on October 26, the Dramateers elected a slate of officers and adopted a constitution, the first ever adopted by the organization. It provides for three types of membership in the Dramateers, based on a programparticipation point system. Honor members, with 50 points, will be awarded a key of recognition in drama. A trophy will be awarded for outstanding portrayals of roles. Officers for the group are Billie Hall, president; David McKee, vice-president; Murriel Huffstickler, secretary; Phyllis Ware, recreation secretary; David Morrow, treasurer; and Judy Jamison, scrap-book keeper. Mr. Holland is asking for contributions of original plays in the fields of religious, comedy, secular, tragedy, etc. They may be either long or short, and have the opportunity of production by the dramateers or entry for awards. The Council will meet tomorrow afternoon, Nov. 8, at 4 p.m., in Spilman sunparlor. The C-I's are especially invited to join. Anderson-Cohn Service Station & Garage Mars Hill North Carolina Lannananananananananananananananana Eller's Esso Station Fuel Oil And Kerosene Mars Hill ... North Carolina lin Conservatory in Ohio and has sung with several opera companies. Raymond Keast is from Arizona, and graduated from the San Francisco Conservatory. He won a fellowship to the Julliard School in New York, and has studied voice with John Charles Thomas. Thornton Marker, of California, is a graduate of U.S.C. and appeared in the movie, "Night And Day." He has also made TV appearances and sung with the Bach Aria Group and the Little Orchestra Society of New York.

The Chanticleers, who will appear tonight at eight in the college auditorium, are, l. to r.: Richard Wright, second tenor; Thornton Marker, bass; Michael Carolan, tenor; and Raymond Keast, baritone.

Chanticleers (Continued from Page 1)

Clio claimed two winners and Euthalia and Philomathia one each in the first division of the intersociety competitive speaking contests, held October 27.

In the girls' C-II division, Clio's Betty Wyatt, speaking on "Dietetics," defeated Nonpareil's Roberta McBride, who spoke on the subject of "Men." In the boy's division, Euthalia's Macal Ezell won over Emmett Elledge for Philomathia. Both of the contestants spoke on the subject of "Women." In the C-I division, Clio's Mouise Simpson speaking on the subject "Speakers" defeated Non's Mary George Pennell who spoke on "Blunders." For the C-I boys, Jackson Hooper, speaking for Philomathia on the subject "The American Dilemma; Baseball or Golf?" defeated Euthalia's John Huff, who spoke on the subject "Can Communism Survive?" Last Tuesday night a practice debate was held in Moore 30 at six-thirty, to which the public was invited. Four boys, each seeking a place on the varsity squad, debated the national collegiate debate topic, "Resolved: That the United States Should Adopt A Free Trade Policy." They were Hayward Moore and Kim Cole, versus Ken Small and Joe Sanders.

Wolfe To Give Piano Concert

James Wolfe, concert pianist, will appear here November 21, in the auditorium at eight in the evening as the third in the college series of lyceum programs.

Born in Omaha, Mr. Wolfe received his early music education there and attended the University of Michigan where he received his B.M. degree. After a period spent as a lieutenant in the Navy, he was commissioned to write the musical score for the film "Father Damien," and shortly thereafter returned to the University where he received his master's degree in music.

In an active concert career he has appeared as soloist with such orchestras as the Denver Symphony, the Detroit Symphony, and Corning Philharmonic. He has been reengaged at the Gardner Museum in Boston, where he played last season, and has been soloist under James Christian Pfohl at the music festivals in Asheville and Brevard the past summer. He is also engaged to play in the Charlotte Symphony this fall under the same conductor.

Funds

(Continued from Page 1) all of which is to be repaid over a period not exceeding five years, should the convention approve the loan.

The alumni of the college are now engaged in raising approximately $350,000 to build and furnish a new auditorium as a memorial to Dr. Robert Lee Moore. Plans are also underway for a new sewage disposal plant, which will cost $75,000, and there is at present a paving and landscaping project underway costing $10,000.

Volunteers

Children's laughter rang through the playhouse on Saturday, October 31, at 3 p.m., when the Volunteers gave a Hallowe'en party for the children of the ministerial students.

In Mr. Sodeman's absence, the Ministerial Conference had charge of the service on Sunday night. William Wallace presided. David Morrow led the congregational singing. The Ministerial Choir sang "Precious Lord Take My Hand," after which Bill Duncan spoke. Decisions were made by two college students.

A campaign for new Y.W.A. members will get underway next week. All girls are invited to take part in this vision-awakening missionary organization. On Nov. 5, the Y.W.A.'s gave the Vespers service. Gena Jo Fant, program vice-president, was in charge.

The Y.T.C. sponsored a chapel program on Nov. 4 and 5 at which time they presented the pledge of total abstinence to the students. Those taking part on the program were Johnny Westbrook, Shirley Owen, Charles McKinster, Ruth Bramlett, and Janice Edwards.

SHOP AT

MURRAY'S

____ For ____

Fresh Fruits ... Vegetables

And Fruits

Study Course (Continued from Page 1)

be offered.

V. E. Wood will teach a book, Working Together In A Spiritual Democracy. A most timely subject is covered in the book Tomorrow You Marry taught by Mrs. Fred Poplin. The book, The West Is Big, covered by Miss Mildred Bingham is concerned with missions. To answer a very special need two books on soul-winning are being offered. These are A Winning Witness and Soul-Winning Doctrines, taught by D. T. Holland and J. V. Howell.

To receive credit one must read the book and take an exam, also one must attend an extra session which will be offered at least one night.

The Sewing Shop

Alterations - Buttons Covered

Button Holes - Buckles

And Belts

Mars Hill ... North Carolina

Drop In For A Bite To Eat

---- At -----

Soda Shop & Cafe

Mars Hill ... North Carolina

Homemade Pies And Home

Cooking

Just Plain - Good Food!

Roy's Place

Mars Hill ... North Carolina

Art Club Elects Year's Officers

The Art Club, under the sponsorship and direction of Mr. Joe Chris Robertson, elected the following officers at their initial meeting last Monday afternoon.

Derrell Benefield, president; Grove Robinson, vice-president; Fred Crisp, secretary; and Nora Willis, reporter.

Homecoming

(Continued from Page 1)

half-time ceremonies. Four attendants to the queens will be selected by four campus groups: The M-Club, the Band, the C-I class, and the C-II class.

At 8 p.m. the annual Euthalian Literary Society Anniversary program will be presented in the college auditorium.

