Christian Focus Week February 16-20 Noted Speakers, Varied Topics

Services in the mornings at the church, afternoon and evening seminars, and evening church services will be some of the events for the Christian Focus Week activities February 16 through 20 at the Mars Hill Campus.

In addition the speakers will hold personal conferences for all who wish to speak with them:

Wilson, publicity chairman, said, "I think it will be a very notable week for all students here. I hope everyone will have as many meetings as possible and urge others to come."

The theme of the program "The Christian World, and You" will be emphasized by the speakers in their talks. Students are urged to choose a vocation in which they can serve God and Christ.

Co-chairmen for the various sessions are: Jeanene Hardy Gieger, program; Doris Ruth Teague and Hilton Lancelotti, seminar; Mary Lawton and Phil Kelley, informal sessions; Jonita Harris and Larry Harris, hospitality; Jack and Ann Woodall, spiritual preparation; Shaunt Coker, Lois Tatum, visitation; Betty Sue White and Ronrom Clemmer, books and literature; Edwards and Stan Jack-son, evaluation or continuation.

Jacobs, chairman of the committee, said, "I am highly enthusiastic of the enthusiastic committee which we have received from various committees, the student body. The selection of these deeply contrasting Christian men and women for all of us to emit through a radiant Christian in whatever vocation we pursue."

Speakers for the week and their topics they represent are: Charles B. Deane, law; Mrs. George, homemaker; Dr. Robert, world affairs; Dr. Jesse, medicine; Dr. J. A. science; Dr. Claude

Young Balladeer Coming Saturday

Miss Karen Duke, a young balladeer who accompanies herself on the guitar, will present a concert in the college auditorium Saturday, February 21, at 8:00 p. m. Miss Duke sings a variety of songs from the traditional folk to Mozart, an extensive repertoire. She is also a professional model.

Miss Duke has done extensive summer stock work; has toured with "Can Can," "Silk Stockings," "Mr. Wonderful"; and had her own radio program over WHMP of Northampton, Massachusetts. She played the lead for 144 performances in a melodrama at Cripple Creek, Colorado, and has been a favorite guest attraction on television and at the Westbury, Valley Forge and Camden County Music Fairs.

She began her novel fashion of entertainment in an atmosphere most conducive to a musical livelihood. Both her maternal and paternal grandmothers sang, and one played the guitar as well. Her father is John Duke, celebrated composer of songs, and professor of music at Smith College in Northampton, Massachusetts.

However, Miss Duke became fascinated with music quite on her own when she became intrigued by the guitar when, as a teenager, the first wave of popular folksong recordings and folksingers swept the country after World War II. She taught herself to play and began finding songs that would suit her voice and guitar. Concert work was a natural transition for Miss Duke from what was originally a fascinating hobby.

A modern religious drama, "Christ in the Concrete City," by P. W. Turner will be presented in late March by the Dramateers. The cast has been announced and is as follows: Man One, Charles Stevens; Two, Tucker Gibson; Three, Bill Pennell; Four, Bill Culver; Woman One, Martha Colburn; and Two, Joanna Powell.

DANIEL LLORDS

Daniel Llords is shown with a group of his famous puppets. This noted entertainer will perform tonight in the college auditorium. Be in attendance for a delightful Valentine evening.

Llords' Puppets Appear Tonight

Daniel Llords and his Lord's Puppets "International" will present a show of puppetry tonight at 8 o'clock in the college auditorium.

Famed for making "theatrical history", Mr. Llords has the only waltzing chorus in the world which dances around a water fountain. The show will consist partly of an oriental scene in which a goddess appears in clouds of smoke and a gay carnival in Venice with electrical skyrockets.

Since the age of seven Mr. Llords has been in the theater. At his command are many voices and accents including French, German, Italian, Spanish, and, of course, English. His motion picture appearances include "Love Affair", "Angels with Dirty Faces," and "The Hunchback of Notre Dame".

During his career in movies he has appeared with such artists as Bing Crosby, Fred Astaire, and Ginger Rogers. On radio, Mr. Llords has performed with Eddie Cantor and Donald O'Conner.

After entertaining overseas during World War II, Mr. Llords turned to the art of puppetry. Over 100 puppets take part in each of Mr. Llords' performances. This "intimate puppet theater" has played host to many Hollywoodians, among them Judy Garland, and Gregory Peck.

Sunday School Leaders Given

The general officers for the spring semester in the Sunday School are Bob Blanton, superintendent; Peggy BeShears, assistant superintendent; Jonita Harris, secretary; Bill McIlvaine, music director; and Madeline Bragg, pianist.

Mission Council Continues Christian Evangelism; Results Prove Rewarding

By Ron Denton

The Mission Council, under the leadership of Don Van De Veer, has been holding regular services at Oteen Hospital, Cane River Prison Camp, and Mount Olive Baptist Church.

A group of Mars Hill students, headed by Larry Holder, journey to Oteen Hospital each Saturday. They conduct devotions in the respective rooms of persons unable to attend regular church services. The Mission Council aids greatly in giving these people spiritual guidance.

Each month, on the second and fourth Sunday, services are held at Cane River Prison Camp. Marvin Gold has been doing an outstanding job as head of this group. Under his leadership, the council has greatly influenced the lives of many of the men. Two of these men will devote the remainder of their lives to Christian service when they are released. The two men have influenced others, and the response to the services has been exceptionally good.

Services are conducted on every first and third Sunday at the Mount Olive Baptist Church. The council members join in with the regular Sunday School and Training Union classes, and then conduct the regular church service. They are helping to promote better relations between the colored, and white in this district. Hilton Bonniwell, group head, should be commended for his work at Mount Olive.

In addition to these duties, the council also holds week-end revivals and special services at churches other than the regular visits.

Anyone interested in working with the mission council may contact Don Van DeVeer or any one of the group heads.

Quality Play To Be February 25 And 26

A group of faculty members will present "The Neighbors," a comedy by Zona Gale, in chapel on February 25 and 26 as the annual play.

The cast is composed of the following: Mis' Diantha Abel, Mrs. Ruby Cox; Ezra Chapman; Mrs. Elizabeth Watson; Joe Naff; Inez, Miss Stewart; Mis' Elmira; Miss Martha Linney; Miss Virginia Hart; Harry Ellsworth, Dr. Ella

The setting of the faculty production is in a small midwestern town. The plot centers around the lives of small town folks to whom the play is dedicated. Though their good intentions do not always work, they have a happy time anyway.
