

Octo
e Weeks
Holidays!
Mars Hill Bo
econd in Ju

The Hilltop

Published by the Students of Mars Hill College

Beat Wingate!

MARS HILL, N. C., SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1960

Number 4

Three Future
merica members ill placed second the livestock jud
ion at the nation
ntion in Kansas
st week.

They were Neal
d Gus Ballard, 16
Mars Hill High
ohn Buckner, 19, ow a freshman at ollege.

The three boys,
eir Mars Hill vo
lture teacher, J.
on out in the sta
tition last June.

At the national
mpeted with juke
om across the all,
dged market ar
eep, hogs and beer,
der calves and
ughter steers.

For their indivi ckner received a illis, a silver med
d, honorable me

Cave Dweller
(Cont. from p d losing his shoe can make some gh and cry with allows his pride shoe. Saroyan h e by now bringi or worse the d mature new
ite. It's a Triu Recommendation
ve Dwellers."

TAUR
Menu
— Sea Fo
a — Sandv
ervices
RSHALL ROAD
91

WHO LO
FINE
THING

worth
DIES
HARM

"We Forget" Is National Program

"We Forget," the tradi-giving program sponcollege BSU, under
of Dr. Ella J. Pierce, nted in the Mars Hill rch, on Thursday, No-
at 10:15 A.M.

Ge will deliver the
and narrators for the tion of the program
hard Dillingham and
t. Speakers from the ill be Starr Keller,
mpeted with juke
om across the all,
dged market ar
eep, hogs and beer,
der calves and
ughter steers.

Hoyt C. Blackwell
he invocation; Dean will read the Thanks-ation; and the Rev-es D. Davis, pastor Hill Baptist Church
the message.

the program, students pilgrims, along with m the town of Mars
g Thanksgiving songs
and on the campus.
also take part in the
the church.

To Represent Annual Meet

College will be rep-
the Thirty-Sixth An-ng of the National
of Schools of Music
bert Elliott Hopkins.
nd the various sessions e held at the Palmer
hicago on November 5th.

n to being the official of the school, Dr.
l be one of the three panel on "Music in College." Mars Hill
member of the NASM

M has been designat-National Commission
ng as the responsible he accreditation of all e curricula with spe-
the fields of applied theory, composition, py, musicology, and
or in liberal arts prodeliberations will have t bearing on the di-h music study takes ars.

schools will be repre-
e deans of the depart-usic in most of our
and colleges and by e heads of conserva-

sical Culture" will be topic at one of the
ons. It will be dis-
three standpoints.

ay afternoon, the en-
will attend a Chicago Orchestra performance
ation of Fritz Reiner,
the Orchestral Assospecial luncheon will Saturday, November
Dr. Earl V. Moore,
Founders of the Asso-

Other officers include Bart
(Cont. Page 4, Col. 3)

The main characters in "The Cave Dwellers" are shown above sitting around the table eating their meager dinner as they make plans to entertain one another with bits from their lives before coming to the abandoned theatre. Left to right they are the King, John Morrow; the Queen, Feriel Forbus; the Duke, Bill Deans; and the Girl, B. J. Boling.

Yoder, Sodergren, Cooke and Baber Head Societies for Anniversary-Reception Term

Jean Yoder, Emily Sodergren, Ron Cooke, and Bill Barber were elected Anniversary-Reception presidents of their respective societies at the regular business meetings on October 28 and 29.

Clio Literary Society elected Jean Yoder to serve as president. Jean, who was C-I Term vice-president, is from Hickory. Besides being president of Huffman Dormitory, she is a member of Scriblerus Honor Club and the WRA.

Other Clio officers include Reception vice-president, Kay Shadoan; Literary vice-president, Sandy Ragsdale; secretary, Linda James; censor, Elaine Collins; chaplain, Lynda McNeill; chief marshal, Virginia Webb; and chorister, Louise Winecoff.

Emily Sodergren, of Bowling Green, Virginia, was elected president of Nonpareil. She was vice-president of Non C-I Term, and she is also president of the WRA.

Nonpareil elected Jessica Boyette to serve as Reception vice-president. Working with Jessica is Connie Edwards, Literary vice-president. Other officers include Sandra Nolan, secretary; Marie Newton, censor; Helen Stanley, chaplain; Phyllis Inman, chief hostess, and Judy Thames, chorister.

Cooke Serves Phi

Philomathia Literary Society elected Ron Cooke from Hickory to serve as president. Ron was vice-president of Phi C-I Term. Last year Ron served as vice-president of the freshman class.

Chris Hardy and Wes Boling are serving as Anniversary and Literary vice-presidents, respectively.

The remaining Phi officers include Mayon Weeks, secretary; Tim Hill, censor; Fred Linkenhoker, chaplain; and Robert Welch, chorister.

Bill Baber was elected president of Euthalia. Bill was secretary of Eu C-I Term and he is active in B.S.U. work. Roy Me-haffey was elected Anniversary vice-president, and Rhea Fletcher will serve as Literary vice-president.

Other officers include Bart
(Cont. Page 4, Col. 3)

Baptist State Convention To Discuss Advance Needs Among Junior Colleges

The one hundred thirteenth annual session of the North Carolina Baptist State Convention will convene on November 15-17 in Asheville, with the First Baptist Church and the City Auditorium being used as meeting places.

Twenty-five hundred messengers from churches all over the state will hear, on Tuesday, Dr. C. G. Deane, president of the Convention and a former member of Congress, give the opening message. In the afternoon, a report will be given by the Committee on the Advance Needs of the Baptist Colleges.

Varied Themes Spur BSU Convention

"Committed to His Lordship" was the theme for the BSU Convention held in Winston-Salem the past weekend. There could not have been a more needed subject for discussion.

Dr. Dale Moody, a dramatic speaker with a mastery of effective gestures, drew a parallel between the situation in Paul's day and conditions today. Among the points mentioned were sexual immorality, race hatred, religious friction over minor points, and general laxness in morals.

Speaking to the topic "Christ's Lordship in My Life," Dr. John McClanahan gave a dramatic monologue supposedly spoken by a person present at the birth of Christ who did not realize his identity until his crucifixion.

"Campus Christianity" was the topic of Mr. Howard Bramlett's talk. It was filled with pertinent and practical points applicable to student situations.

For his second address Dr. Moody spoke on "The Importance of Missions". After his vivid portrayal of world needs and opportunities a commitment period was held during which many expressed their interest in mission work and re-dedicated their lives to Christ's cause.

"And Now What?"

Dr. Jack Noffsinger spoke at the last session of the convention on the pertinent subject "And Now What?" He emphasized the fact that attendance at the convention should have some results after one went away.

A fellowship period, faculty and student luncheons, and discussion groups conducted by religious leaders of the area were features of the convention. Music was furnished by the state BSU Choir and the choir of Winston-Salem Teachers College.

On Saturday evening at 10:00 P.M. the former Mars Hill students now at Wake Forest College entertained all former and present students of Mars Hill. Fellowship in singing, talking, and eating was enjoyed by all. Especially gratifying were the words of praise for Mars Hill that were voiced by each of the old grads.

The fifty students who were able to go to the convention wish to thank everyone responsible for making the trip possible and wish particularly to express our gratitude to Dr. Pierce for being so very faithful to the BSU at all times.

It is expected that the Convention will study the needs of the seven Baptist colleges in the state in the light of long-range programs and then make recommendations. It is thought that the group will make a recommendation for the largest expenditure for Christian Education in its history, over forty-five million dollars.

Of this amount Mars Hill would conceivably be allotted six million. The seven Baptist schools are expected to use the projected funds to provide for expanding enrollment approximately 50 per cent. Mars Hill's enrollment on that basis would increase to approximately 1800.

A highlight of the convention will be a dinner on Tuesday night on the lower floor of the auditorium for the alumni of the seven Baptist colleges. A large number of the Mars Hill faculty and staff expect also to be among the 800 attending. The dinner is sponsored by the Council on Christian Education, and Mr. Claude Gaddy, executive secretary of that agency, will be in charge.

Other than an occasion for fellowship, the dinner will also give an opportunity to boost the special report on Advance Needs. The report will be acted upon on Wednesday morning.

On Thursday morning, at the final session of the Convention, the messengers will hear an address by Billy Graham at 11:30.

The Mars Hill College Choir, under the direction of T. J. Cole, will sing on Monday afternoon and evening at the First Baptist Church and on Wednesday evening at the meeting in the City Auditorium.

Dramateers To Present "Night Scene" Nov. 20

The Dramateers of Mars Hill will present a one act play "Night Scene" at their regular monthly meeting November 20, at 8:00 p.m. in the college auditorium.

Those included in the cast are Spike Guilford, who will play Bud a college boy who work in a drugstore, and Jonlyn Wren, who portrays a young girl, Alice. Morris Mason will play the part of Mr. Mason, the owner of the drugstore, and Ned Barrett will portray a dope addict.

Donna Day is directing the play.

All students, faculty and staff members are cordially invited to the performance.