

The Hilltop

Published by the Students of Mars Hill College

The second in a series of faculty recitals will be presented at 8 p.m., Tuesday in Spainhour Hall by Mrs. May Jo Ford, accompanied by Dr. Robert Hopkins.

MARS HILL, N. C., SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1962

Number 5

November

g pass from Bill Clark n Bell for the only wn gave Brown a 6-0 er Spilman for the in-l football championursday.

n's Dea

REEMAN

ne Marion football g n a dozen students, ance. Perhaps mo d; perhaps because t seem to faze the
er. At any rate, it three dozen people
we can't seem to fir os many of them
m to throw in the ar a like to talk about good cross section
large group of ver e home games. I g when they are o
and schoolmates, v
Yet we have some 53 roles in 26 of ne occupation of gre's plays, by starring ir friends in the clock Holmes films and rgets in a very sho
out interesting spec
the Jack Benny Show, that way. When
or the cheerleaders.
one-man stage produc ing target, since the works of Poe, since
they are mo
Dylan Thomas, Shake thrown much at the others.
Oh well, if worse
yawn and watch the interest in the team can All Time Black liams for renowned first candidate an auditorium before
avid supporter of ring a Mars Hill le d it wasn't the sam asn't even the same ons, you deserve it.
a well fought game
they showed a lot ugh they eventually ree different fat stock or holding to such the ribbons for two ause of the Keydet
champions.
here were obvious fl
stave off most of th est, having several making it all the e up a respectable yves, 27-7. The s who watched the war leaders following so man squad of the sloppy play of is how the Lions m they did, with the e Lions had a very how they were l

XXVII

the Mars Hill scene...

RATHBONE, the dis-
English actor of stage, records, will present ing with Basil Rath-
e Fine Arts Auditorium
established a reputation Yet we have some 53 roles in 26 of
ne occupation of gre's plays, by starring
ir friends in the clock Holmes films and
rgets in a very sho
out interesting spec
the Jack Benny Show,
that way. When
or the cheerleaders.
one-man stage produc
ing target, since the works of Poe, since
they are mo
Dylan Thomas, Shake
thrown much at the others.

MAN BOB ANDERSON
Alexander, will repreeel 4-H Clubs in the
ngress at Chicago Nov.
winner in beef-cattle-petition, Bob hopes his project will bring him ational victory in the his previous awards are ns for the grand cham-
ree different fat stock
the ribbons for two
champions.
MENT AT NUREM-eclaimed as one of the ies of the year, will be Moore Auditorium at day.

city of the prosecution of war leaders following the II vaulted German

Candidates tie for president

es are in but they still can't believe it. These three freshmen (right) Dave Gillespie, LaMont Albertson and Carl Jones n a three-way tie for president of their class in the election day. Each received 119 votes. A run-off will be held three other races Andy Morley defeated Bill Howard and e for vice president; Tessa Jones edged out Mary Lynn Brenda Grass and Peggy Roberts for secretary; and Dave over Reed Fickling, Connie Harris and Anne Sellers for and Mrs. Haskell Ezell are the class sponsors.

Seven added to trustees

Seven new trustees have been elected by the Baptist State Convention, which met in its annual session Tuesday through Thursday at Raleigh.

Those elected include Dr. L. M. Caldwell of Newton; Rev. John Knight and Mrs. George Pennell, Asheville; G. T. Cornwell, Morganton; J. E. Gibson Jr., High Point; J. G. Carrier, Hayesville; and Ralph H. Ramsey of Brevard.

These will be replacing Charles Bruce, Mrs. R. K. Benfield, Mrs. H. M. Craig, Rev. Lloyd Garner, Rev. Harold Killian, Dr. C. Ray Lawrence and Rev. W. J. Stephenson, whose terms expired this year.

Although Thanksgiving holidays are still half a week away, some people—both students and faculty members—have been seen packing for the "get-away." One of them was Miss Frances Garner of the English department, who had a helping hand from sophomore Jim Epps and Dr. Jenkins. Despite the fact that one box was loaded with themes to be graded and the other with reading cards to be checked, Miss Garner still carried an armful of reading material.

From fox hunts to dates Hillians ready for 'day'

Thanksgiving vacation begins at 12:00 noon Wednesday, with 1200 students and faculty dispersing to more than 20 states and 81 North Carolina counties.

With the second Thanksgiving vacation in the history of Mars Hill only four days, 96 hours, 5,870 minutes or 345,600 seconds away, students and faculty members have already made plans for the forthcoming holiday season.

The most novel trip will probably be taken by Miss Mary K. Logan, Dean of Women, as she travels to her former home in Southern Pines, there to be wined and dined (well, dined) by old friends. Jacqueline Kennedy will have nothing on Miss Logan as she (Miss Logan) shuttles across the state to participate in the annual Moore County Fox Hunts, one of the few Deans of Women in the United States that will be attending a Fox Hunt this Thanksgiving.

Much of the faculty will be living it up by resting and "doing just nothing—but resting." But the most unbelievable statement was made by Dr. A. E. Jenkins: "I plan to spend my holiday grading papers."

Most of the students plan what they believe to be more practical vacations. Billie Young, for example, plans to "date every night and have a blast."

Juanita Bush's holiday will be an expectant one when, returning to her home in Miami, her mother is expected to present her with a brand new brother or sister.

Paul Nuckolls, president of the campus YRC, will be spending his four days in a more melancholy way. He will be "taking down 'Brown for Congress' posters."

Rosa Pittman is lax about the whole thing. As to her plans, and what she hopes to do, she merely answers "I'll think of that when I get there."

Judy Vaughn and Faye Crutchfield are up in the air over the prospective vacation. At least they will be when it terminates, as they hope to return via Judy's father's airplane. "If the weather's good," she adds, "but if it isn't—well, we may walk back."

Deadline for submitting nominations for "Miss Laurel" of 1963 has been extended until Thanksgiving holidays, according to John Lackey, director of the contest.

"We must have these nominations by Wednesday," he said, "in order that we may make plans for preliminary judging at an on-campus beauty pageant sometime before Christmas."

He also reminded clubs who have not yet submitted entries that their nominee need not be a member of the club although this has been true in the case of most entries received thus far.

Around this college town

CALMNESS, RESTRAINT AND optimism were the main tips given to the students of Brevard College, in a general assembly on air raids. Dean J. B. Bennett said that arrangements had been made with Donaldson Air Force Base to equip Brevard with the essential protective mediums in case of an air attack. Instructions for emergency action were given. All students were told to go to the basements of the buildings where they would find food, water and other necessities.

THE RECENT CUBAN crisis did not seem to faze the chances of Iris Garcia, Cuban, who was recently named Harvest Queen at Campbell College. Iris came to America just three years ago and has learned English. Her parents, brother and sisters still reside in Cuba, where her father is a cashier in a Havana bank.

THE COVETED "Ugliest Man on Campus" award at Wake Forest College went to "Mature Nail" (Richard Gains), officially selected as the ugliest man on campus. Gains modestly accepted the title with the grace of all winner. "There are at least 5,000 boys as ugly, not counting at least a couple thousand girls, who could just as easily have won by a landslide," he insisted afterwards. Gains' winnings amounted to $105 for the Alpha Phi Omega-sponsored charity project.

Litho stolen from exhibit

Stolen from the Fine Arts exhibit, Monday, Nov. 5, was "Composition," a John Miro lithograph valued at $100. The mat for the painting was found outside the Fine Arts building, embedded in the mud, by Joe Chris Robinson. The mat has been taken to the Asheville sheriff's office where it is to be examined for fingerprints.

The lithograph was stolen from the building between 5 and 7 p.m., Nov. 5 and any student with any information leading to the recovery of this object is urged to contact either the dean or the police.

Comfortable Shoes
Not Be Thrown Away
LET US REPAIR
at
MARS HILL
SHOE SHOP
Located Behind
Mars Hill Hardware
RESTAURANT
N. C.
Pizza, Sandwich
Service
9951