

, Dri

n's De

YBURTON

s Den has a new opportunity for the s and spectators alike the whole range three things, thou says welcome, const ns necessary, and d reception for yo n, who has been er of the basketba is still in full spring sports: tra e already started d season. About 4 others interested ounts will start with and all interested ntions.

is as important itioning for spring he month. The co ut for the team. ible and will be e squad. We kno dy who could be e well in high sch ve created a red cafeteria, giving rise r polo team.

Highlight Next Wee

pared to "raise all et."

Club schedules at Monday and Wedne basketball in the 6:30, tumbling in the day, 4 p. m., crafts recreation room; physical culture in

Football S

Six football games have already been s

Coach Henderson four more. Already ville, Sept. 21; New Marion, Oct. 17; Liv 26; Carson - Newrn Western Carolina,

E. Smith, assistant the school, will be us to interview stu- sultations will begin changes have been ly in the calendar of on campus in the ediate ahead.

arance of the noted st Eric Severaid has changed. Originally for Feb. 23, it was Mar. 5 and has now r Mar. 12.

recital by Dr. Hop- led for Feb. 26, has led as has a trumpet Mr. Pressley, original- for Mar. 5.

concerts by the tour- mpus choirs will be nd set on Mar. 26. An the schedule is a mu- am by the touring Southwestern Semi-

PHARM

The Hilltop

Published by the Students of Mars Hill College

MARS HILL, N. C., SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 23, 1963

Number 9

Radio 'Hams' Reaching New Areas

club member Bob Kemp). With this powerful new piece of equipment various members have been able to talk with other shortwave operators in most all the states, Canada, Mexico and the Bahamas. Mr. Pegg, club advisor, recently "worked" (as the radiomen say) Alaska. This should be significant news to many Mars Hill students with a touch of homesickness and a yearning to talk with the folks back home, minus telephone charges. It is possible for members of the club to contact another "ham" operator in a student's hometown and have that operator establish telephone-radio contact with parents, girl or boy friend, or other acquaintance. "We'll be glad to do this for any student whenever possible," said Butch Suttles, one of the club members. "The best time for this is on a week day afternoon. If the student knows a "ham" in his hometown, he should write that person and ask him to be on the air at a certain time and certain day. We will try to establish contact from here and he can make the phone patch on the hometown end." A well-prepared program of training for club members, both licensed and unlicensed operators, is carried on by the club, which has its headquarters in Mr. Pegg's office in the Science Building. Code classes are conducted for those working toward their licenses and exercises for others are planned.

David Thomas of Weaverville is president of the club, Hugh Fisher is secretary and Bill Taylor is club engineer. New members are always welcome. In addition to the Collins transmitter the club owns a Hammarlund HQ-150 receiver. Other equipment belonging to club members is also available. Funds are now being raised to purchase an all-channel antenna to be installed on the roof of the building. With it the range of contacts might well be extended to Mars.

Faculty Away
Five members of the English department faculty are away today attending a special conference at Campbell College in Buie's Creek. Dr. Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. McLeod, Miss Ihrig and Miss Garner are representing Mars Hill at the convention of teachers of English in the seven Baptist colleges of North Carolina.

Open Hearing Set On Student Protest

An open hearing for the purpose of airing student ideas and receiving suggestions concerning the cafeteria and student center will be held from 3 until 5 p. m. Tuesday, Feb. 26, in the audio-visual room of Memorial Library.

The hearing is an outgrowth of the protest demonstration staged recently and an extemporaneous meeting in the auditorium, attended by Dr. Blackwell, Dean Lynch and several hundred students.

World Need Is HE Topic

Dr. Blackwell suggested at that meeting that a special joint faculty-student committee be appointed to look into the matters about which complaints were raised. A 12-member student group was appointed by the joint student councils at their meeting on Feb. 11 and an 8-member faculty group was appointed by Dr. Blackwell, who will be an ex-officio participant in the hearing Tuesday.

The student committee consists of A. D. Frazier, John Myers, Carolyn Riley, Mary Horton, James Henderson, Jane Milam, Don Rothwell, Charles Stevens, Charles William Fox, Kenneth Pearce, Gary Brookshire and Lana Hawk.

The faculty part of the committee consists of deans Lee, Logan and Lynch; Miss Snelson, Miss Swann, Mr. Chapman, Miss Ihrig and Mr. Roy Wood. These two groups will meet at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday to plan for the open hearing.

Any student who has an idea to state or a suggestion to offer will be welcomed at the meeting, Dean Lynch stated. Attendants are asked to be quiet in going to and coming from the meeting place in order not to disturb persons studying in the library.

Two other activities of the chapter are already beginning to occupy the thinking of chapter members although they are still rather far away. A state-wide workshop on the Meredith College campus in April and the chapter's annual spring fashion show in May are already being planned for.

Members of the chapter are continuing their fund-raising project through which they contribute to the support of a 10-year-old boy at the Baptist Children's Home in Thomasville. A recent letter from the youth thanked the girls for their gifts to him at Christmas and on his birthday.

Members of the chapter are continuing their fund-raising project through which they contribute to the support of a 10-year-old boy at the Baptist Children's Home in Thomasville. A recent letter from the youth thanked the girls for their gifts to him at Christmas and on his birthday.

Members of the chapter are continuing their fund-raising project through which they contribute to the support of a 10-year-old boy at the Baptist Children's Home in Thomasville. A recent letter from the youth thanked the girls for their gifts to him at Christmas and on his birthday.

Members of the chapter are continuing their fund-raising project through which they contribute to the support of a 10-year-old boy at the Baptist Children's Home in Thomasville. A recent letter from the youth thanked the girls for their gifts to him at Christmas and on his birthday.

Members of the chapter are continuing their fund-raising project through which they contribute to the support of a 10-year-old boy at the Baptist Children's Home in Thomasville. A recent letter from the youth thanked the girls for their gifts to him at Christmas and on his birthday.

The Mars Hill Scene...

interested in trans- C. State College in specialization in tex- ing will have an op- get first-hand infor- the subject next

E. Smith, assistant the school, will be us to interview stu- sultations will begin changes have been ly in the calendar of on campus in the ediate ahead.

arance of the noted st Eric Severaid has changed. Originally for Feb. 23, it was Mar. 5 and has now r Mar. 12.

recital by Dr. Hop- led for Feb. 26, has led as has a trumpet Mr. Pressley, original- for Mar. 5.

concerts by the tour- mpus choirs will be nd set on Mar. 26. An the schedule is a mu- am by the touring Southwestern Seminary in Fort Worth, Texas, slated here on Mar. 21.

PHARM

A one-man exhibition of paintings and drawings by the young Dutch artist Bonies (Bob) Nieuwenhuis will replace the student exhibit in the art gallery in the fine arts building on Mar. 1 and will run through Mar. 23.

A visitor on the campus in December, Nieuwenhuis is currently touring the United States and Canada to publicize his works and to obtain contracts with galleries.

The mid-semester delinquent list will be sent to parents Mar. 23 and will include the names of any student with a grade average of less than C in any subject, according to R. R. Chapman, registrar.

"The progress report which came out yesterday," added Mr. Chapman, "is a sort of monthly 'delinquent list,' but it will be shown only to the student and his advisor and will not be sent home to his parents."

Mar. 23 is also the last day for dropping courses without penalty.

Unusual Lyceum Number, Lords' Puppets Coming

An unusual program of entertainment—a departure from the frequent recitals, concerts, plays and movies — is coming to the campus at 8 p. m. next Saturday (Mar. 2). It is "Lords' Puppets International," a marionette show featuring Daniel Lords and nearly 200 "little people."

"At first glance," says Dean Lynch, who handles the scheduling of lyceum numbers, "this might appear to be a program more for children than for college students. I can assure you, however, that this is not true. In recent years Mr. Lords' appearance on the campus has been enthusiastically welcomed by the students. They have been fascinated by the skill with which he manipulates his puppets and have marveled at the attention to detail given in the construction and costuming of his figures."

In Lords' cast the chorus girls wear real mink and chinchilla; the Pharaoh and his retinue of maidens, musicians and camels are covered with 18 karat gold; trapeze performers, opera singers, Shakespearean actors rub noses—and share packing space—with donkeys, giraffes, sunfish, dragons, skyrockets and spraying fountains.

The stage on which Lords presents his show is 12 feet wide with an opening of six feet. Above it, in full view of the audience, is Lords, who sometimes manipulates as many as 187 strings at one time.

Musicals Scheduled

Two widely-acclaimed musical movies are coming to the campus.

"Carousel," starring academy award winner Shirley Jones and Gordon MacRae, will be shown in the auditorium at 8 p. m. tonight; and "State Fair," with Pat Boone and Pamela Tiffin, is scheduled for Tuesday night (Feb. 26).