

"Angel Street"
Tonight
8:00

The Hilltop

Published by the Students of Mars Hill College

Get Your
Polio Vaccine
Tomorrow

Volume XXXVIII

MARS HILL, N. C., SATURDAY, MARCH 7, 1964

Number 11

Election Campaign Starts Monday

Gaslight Singers Replace Chad's Trio

The Gaslight Singers, a college group consisting of three boys and one girl, will be presented to Mars Hill College students in the Core Auditorium on Monday (Mar. 16), at 8:00 p.m. They will be taking the place of the Chad's Trio, which has been re-scheduled for Oct. 22.

The Gaslighters, a relatively new group in the folk-singing world, are fast becoming one of the best known. They have appeared in New York, Washington and colleges all across the country. At their nightclub debut Washington's Evening Star said, "It's a troupe called The Gaslight Singers — a pretty girl and three boys — who seem destined for certain fame in the folk music field. See them now at the Shadows and a year from now you can adopt a superior air and say, 'Oh, I knew them when nobody had ever heard of them.'"

Hyman, another native of New York, is the only member of the group who did not attend LIU. He was an accounting major at C.C.N.Y. He's the second guitarist of the group.

Zimmerman, of Toronto, Ontario, attended LIU as a philosophy major. He has participated in many city-wide contests as a singer in Canada.

It was as students that they all met and formed the group as it exists today.

Student Body President Ken Pearce, right, talked earlier this week with three juniors who announced that they would be candidates to succeed him. They are (L to R) Tom Remcho, Gary Brookshire and Dave Livengood. It was discovered later, however, that Livengood is ineligible and he withdrew his petition of candidacy.

Exhibit Features Murray's Works

Part exhibit for March is a dismim. As full of works by Timothy Murray, head of the art department at Brevard Junior College and a former Mars Hill student.

The group consists of three fellows — Earl Zimmerman, Al Alcabes and Jeff Hyman — and a young lady, Martha Velez, definitely the most attractive member of the group.

Students Organized

Richardson Preyer's campaign for governor has moved onto three campuses and may even reach Mars Hill.

Preyer announced earlier this week that three outstanding student leaders have been selected to direct his "Students for Preyer" campaign. They are Charles Shaffer, basketball and tennis star at UNC; John Bynum, student body president at N. C. State; and Kitty Bernhardt, editor of the yearbook at Wake Forest.

"S for P" is the first state-wide student organization to support a candidate for governor. It will work closely with the "Young Adults for Preyer," which is headed by Art Weiner of Greensboro, former all-American football player at UNC.

In accepting their appointment the three student leaders promised, "We will announce soon the establishment of 'Students for Preyer' organizations on every campus in the state."

Campaign posters, speeches and "politicians" hard at work will be the scene for our campus during the next week and a half as the student body is once again put to the task of selecting their four leaders of the Student Government Association for the 1964-65 year.

he might make known his platforms and accomplishments he hopes to obtain. This will be enlivened with the usual banner waving, parading and excitement of any convention. The proposed constitutional changes which have been put before the student body will also be voted upon at this assembly with a two-thirds vote necessary to pass them.

Those running for the various offices are, President, Gary Brookshire, a junior from Thomasville, and Tom Remcho, a junior from Wilmington, Del.; Vice president, Chris Haynes, sophomore from Acworth, Ga., and David Clapp, a sophomore from Spartanburg; Secretary, Angela Priester, a junior from Wilkesboro, and Joyce Dunlap, a junior from Melbourne, Fla.; Treasurer, Stephen Fleetwood, a junior from Palmetto, Fla., and Sylvia Valentine, a freshman from Asheville.

Behind the scenes of this week and a half another committee, Leadership Training, will be hard at work. They will have nightly sessions with all the candidates to make sure they are familiar with and aware of all their duties and responsibilities. The sessions will end with each candidate taking a test that covers what the committee has put before him.

Candidates have received their nomination through the use of petitions and have turned them over to the Committee on Elections and Open Forums for final analysis and approval. They have passed this stage and all qualifications have been met.

Discussing the forthcoming campaign, student body president Ken Pearce said, "A lot of hard work is put into the week and a half that is soon to begin and each member of our student body should realize this as he makes his decision as to whom he shall support. Please remember it is your student government and it is only as strong as you make it. Last year over 80 percent of the students turned out to vote and this can be topped this year with the support of everyone. So when March 18 rolls around, know your candidate and by all means vote for him and help put him into office as one of your campus leaders."

The official campaigning starts on Monday (Mar. 9), under regulations set up by the Committee on Elections and will close with the actual election on Wednesday. The voting will take place in the Student Center between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. Seniors who will be leaving the campus to begin their practice teaching will be given an official ballot on Friday, Mar. 13. Their votes will be held in secrecy and put into the ballot boxes on Wednesday morning, joining the votes of the remaining student body members.

Seminar Scheduled

A seminar on "Christian Faith and the Scientific Era," will be conducted by Dr. Eric Rust at 4 p.m. Tuesday (Mar. 17) in the Library Auditorium. Everyone is invited.

Next week will be highlighted with another first at our campus. On Tuesday (Mar. 10) during the chapel hour we will be in the midst of a small-scale convention. Each candidate will be allotted a certain amount of time to speak to the student body in order that

Dr. Rust, professor of Christian philosophy at Southern Seminary is also an expert in the nuclear science field. A dinner meeting at which Dr. Rust will speak to members of the faculty is scheduled that evening in the Blue Room.

On The Mars Hill Scene...

The Boy With a Cart," a religious drama which was presented in chapel last week, will be staged in Charlotte tomorrow (Mar. 8).

Mar. 19, concert by the college band;

Mrs. Watson, who directs the production, said she has been invited to bring the cast and crew to St. John's Baptist Church in Queen City to present the same cast will perform, including freshman Mike Yelton of Gastonia in the title role and Betty Lou Shaver, senior from Statesville.

Three movies have been scheduled in the auditorium during the next two weeks. They are "Picnic" on Mar. 9, "All Mine To Give" on Mar. 14 and "1001 Arabian Nights" on Mar. 17.

John P. Adams, who became head of the music department last September, will give a piano recital on the evening of Mar. 19. The public is invited to all three performances.

The M-Club will present a talent show in Moore Auditorium at 8 p.m. on Mar. 20, starring members of the faculty as well as students.

Three music recitals are scheduled during the next two weeks. Ron Luck, baritone, will give a senior recital on Mar. 13; and Lia Teeter, pianist, will give hers on Sunday, Mar. 15.

Several faculty members have been signed, but many more are needed, says Dave Livengood, club president. Among those who have agreed to display their talents are Robert H. West, pianist, and the "Beatle Professors."

John P. Adams, who became head of the music department last September, will give a piano recital on the evening of Mar. 19. The public is invited to all three performances.

Others interested in participating should contact Livengood.

The chapel schedule for the next two weeks is as follows: Mar. 10, introduction of candidates for student body offices, and campaign speeches;

Two members of the MH Chapter of the American Home Economics Association have been named to vacant offices within the chapter's student leadership. Audrey Manley, a junior from Rosman, is the new treasurer; and Lula Dickins, a sophomore, is the new second vice chairman.

Mar. 12, the Rev. Armando Silveiro of Tampa, Fla., whose daughter Beverly is a sophomore here; Audrey Manley, a junior from Rosman, is the new treasurer; and Lula Dickins, a sophomore, is the new second vice chairman.

Jo Wells has been named chairman of a special committee to nominate officers for the fall term. Elections will be held at the next regular meeting of the chapter on Mar. 16. Also scheduled that night is a demonstration of flower arranging by an Asheville florist.

I intend to e
a question or re of his imme
possess the cap
the not-too-di
en. alizes that he
at these dete wever, man c n these compo berating the d as an indiv
whole.
vidual must s components
und and free
and skills,
fficient know he is not on tain emotiona y throughout ts as such, he which is equal
e whole.
th and vital
d of the life
en though th imum. As full n observation
l and intemp
is not limit
there is als
of the colle vity. Withou
hy, endurance
ory degener
tion with pla mental labor
a part of co nting, graphic arts and scul
p, as does ph
"readies," th
shows at Chap el Hill and ward earlier in the school year.
on physical is able to r bidly throug
this activit itself and broader term
ment must b
this or any e college stay ment of this in H. Ezell
Three music recitals are scheduled during the next two weeks.
Ron Luck,
baritone,
will give a senior recital on
Mar. 13;
and Lia
Teeter,
pianist,
will give hers on Sunday,
Mar. 15.
John P.
Adams,
who became head of the music department
last September,
will give a piano recital on the evening
of Mar.
19.
The
public is invited
to all three performances.
The chapel
schedule for the next two weeks is as follows:
Mar. 10,
introduction of candidates for student
body
offices,
and
campaign
speeches;
Mar. 12,
the Rev.
Armando
Silveiro
of Tampa,
Fla., whose daughter Beverly
is a sophomore
here;
Mar. 17,
Dr. Eric Rust of Southern
Baptist
Theological Seminary.