

Chris Pappas surprised a lot of people on Nov. 7 when they were one of the big stories of the year. Most of them had to hang on to their seats until 6-0. Hill High School is currently engaged in playoffs. They are playing Tolley, a top...

is spending thousands of dollars on squirrel hunting and arrow ent...

g fans were disappointed when Cassius Clay was defeated before last week's fight. It was felt that Tony Liston was the "Mississippi Lip." In the new stadium, completion. If you will be seeing the Hill next spring, they have launched their campaign at Pembroke College last night. There are in Wilmington and the Wilmington weeks. This should be a reason for Lion...

RINK

ment! 10:00 P.M. 11:00 P.M.

al Prices

At SERVICE SERVICE ATION

rs Hill, N. C.

et to decide who would run. To be eligible for office, a person must have the signatures of 15 per cent of the class members, or no more than 10 demerits and have been on neither social nor academic probation.

The first ballot called for a re-election for the offices of president, treasurer, and senators because more than two people are

S &

Summer BSU Project Told

LISTEN Fund money collected this school year on North Carolina college campuses will be used to finance the sending of student missionaries to the Cherokee Indians next summer and to build a church for the Indians.

Sixteen students — eight men and eight women — will be chosen for the project from nominations made by the colleges.

Mars Hill will be allowed one nominee who is to be chosen by a local committee. The name must be submitted to the state election committee by Jan. 15.

Application blanks are available in the chaplain's office or from BSU president Ellis Fulbright.

Store Inc.

ENUE

Merry Christmas

The Hilltop

Published by the Students of Mars Hill College

MARS HILL, N. C., SATURDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1964

Number 6

Pageant Set Tuesday Night

The 1965 Miss Laurel pageant — a preliminary judging to select seven finalists for the campus beauty queen title — will be held in Moore Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

A total of 32 coeds have been nominated by various residence halls, campus organizations and classes. They will be judged on beauty, poise and grace. Semi-finalists will be chosen and these will then be judged on personality, charm and other attributes to help the judges choose the seven finalists.

A picture of each finalist and possibly a tape recording of a brief interview will be submitted to motion picture and television star Andy Griffith, who will select the winner.

All seven of the finalists will be prominently featured in the 1965 yearbook.

The winner will not be identified until the 1965 Laurel is officially dedicated during a chapel program the second week in May. The books will be distributed following the chapel program.

Judges for the preliminary contest Tuesday are John Havlicek, state news editor of the Asheville Citizen; John E. Jones, sales manager of radio stations WMIT and WFGW in Black Mountain; and Dean Webb, "Miss Asheville of 1964."

According to Tracy Heath, Laurel staff member who is directing the pageant, the contestants will appear on stage twice — once in "Sunday best" and once in evening gown. Six acts of musical entertainment will be interspersed into the parade of beauties. Music will be provided by an ensemble from the Music Department under the direction of Mr. Pressley.

David Clapp will be master of ceremonies; and Jo Wells, the current "Miss Laurel," will add fashion comments.

The 1965 Miss Laurel candidates and the group by which each has been nominated are as follows: Stella Lam, American Guild of Organists; Janis Elam, band; Nancy Whitaker, Huffman Dormitory; Emily Ann Miles, commuters; Sylvia Valentine, Circle K Club; Ann Cantrell, Touring Choir; Dell Broyhill, Myers Dormitory.

Peggy Dinkins, Senior Class; Dianne Jaynes, Brown Dormitory; Doris Martin, Treat Dormitory; Jean Miller, Edna Moore Dormitory; Judy Hill, Stroupe Dormitory; Jackie Norman, Fox Dormitory; Donna Lewis, Spilman Dormitory; Polly Peach, Melrose Dormitory; Jackie Trivette, Freshman Class; Ann Johnson, Sophomore Class; Libby Weathers, Junior Class.

Ginny Bradley, Scriblerus Honor Club; Joyce Dunlap, Spanish Honor Club; Ann Peebles, Stage Band; Mary Lynn Bunting, cottages; Carolyn Wright, Dramateers; Susan Webster, YDC; Diane Freeman, YRC; Nancy Piper, History Club; Bonnie Alexander, Home Economics Club; Penny Ellison, Student Government Association.

Diane Coltrain, Women's Recreation Association; Kathy Hair, Art Club; Carol Hunt, Science Honor Club; Fran Walker, the Campus Choir.

Elected to make "sweet music" together are these new officers of the Freshman Class: (l. to r.) Jake Stone, president; Richard Brown, treasurer; Ginger Eddleman, secretary; Mary Owens, senator; "Ruff" Heless, vice president; and Norman Eller, senator.

Stone Heads Freshmen

The freshman class elected its officers on November 23 after a week of reading posters, meeting candidates, and listening to campaign talk.

After the final count on Tuesday, Nov. 24, the following had been elected as the officers for the 1964-65 school year: Jake Stone, president; Ruffin ("Ruff") Heless, vice president; Virginia Eddleman, secretary; Richard Brown, treasurer; and Norman Eller and Mary Owens, senators.

Election proceedings began on Monday, Nov. 9 when the class met to decide who would run. To be eligible for office, a person must have the signatures of 15 per cent of the class members, or no more than 10 demerits and have been on neither social nor academic probation.

The first ballot called for a re-election for the offices of president, treasurer, and senators because more than two people are running for the same office, one of them must have 50 per cent of the votes to be elected.

The present officers will hold office until next spring when the new ones will be elected for the rising sophomore class.

David Clapp was chairman of the SGA committee in charge of the elections.

Dorms Plan Festivities

The Christmas season began officially last night when the college choir and chorus presented Handel's "Messiah." Following this will be the Christmas parties in the various dorms.

Spilman, Brown and Melrose will hold parties Sunday afternoon in their respective parlors. Myers' party will be on Dec. 18 from 7 until 10 p.m. Treat's party will be Thursday night, Dec. 17, in the gymnasium. The cottages have been invited to share Christmas parties with the dormitories as follows: Humphrey is invited by Fox; Cooper and Wood by Melrose; Sams Building by Brown; Robinson and Bowden by Treat; Landers by Spilman; the Science Building boys by the Infirmary; and the Cody Building by Myers.

The women's dormitories Huffman, Edna Moore and Stroupe will have parties on Thursday night, Dec. 17 in their respective parlors. The theme for Huffman will be "Christmas Around the World;" for Edna Moore, "Light." Fox's party will be tonight after the ball game. The girls and their dates are invited. Fox girls will have an intradorm party on Thursday, Dec. 17 featuring the "Secret Santa."

Two January Musicals Slated

Two equally good but entirely different musical programs will be presented by the college lyceum series during the week following the return from Christmas holidays.

An organ recital by Claire Coci will be given on Saturday, Jan. 9, in Moore Auditorium. An internationally known organist with a long and distinguished career in music, Miss Coci began her career as chief organist in a large church in New Orleans at age 16.

After study at the University of Michigan and in Europe she became a teacher at the famous Oberlin Conservatory of Music. Later she was associated with Westminster Choir College. At present she is an accredited teacher at Union Theological Seminary in New York City and heads the organ department at the Dalcroze School of Music.

Her accomplishments also include the establishment of the American Academy of Music and Art in Tenafly, N. J.

Miss Coci's rise to musical eminence has been rapid. She has performed with major symphony orchestras and has given numerous recitals. She was the first woman ever invited to play at the U. S. Military Academy at West Point.

A real change of pace is scheduled on Monday, Jan. 11, when Joe and Penny Aronson, a husband and wife team of musical entertainers is booked into Moore Auditorium.

This folk-plus-satire singing team presents a unique approach and material and is, in addition, a happy combination of complimentary talents.

Joe is the scholar-showman. He is an actor, singer, guitarist and storyteller with a personality to reach an audience. Educated as an illustrator and designer, he also tackles duties that extend from writing verses to songs to designing and writing brochures and publicity material.

Penny, the pretty half of the team, is a performer in most of the visual humor which is so characteristic of the couple's performances. Begun almost as an accident, the visual humor has become an important part of their show.

