

d 190 years ago, fathers that all was also assumed population could the new nation. d President, suf-ce that time has non-voting classes as been a rather ive one.

the threshold of met many people e than newspaper rformed and mis-ether these per- vote. He might n right to vote e informed than of him.

that the United ellany of voters. of other nations. e of all its own. a difference be- rmed vote. While can see beyond r selfishly knows raded education- ity merits, they r society at large The uninformed uld vote against aim directly.

ot know that his quent militarism cal age in which existence and co- at antagonization y and strengthen ow that an un- He does not ir consequences. e uninformed go to a conference competition and ting in the con- dent a sense of at it would cre- need for more tic scholarships- to be ready to successfully and s Hill.

—C.E.Y.

con

ents would have a member of an tively successful

el that member- d success in it student wants tic records with etimes hard to academic stand- th Mars Hill as and pride that game activities membership in an Hill students a tched with its teams that have better facilities, ogram.

re the school a build spirit by d of. It would ust because of on with teams der to achieve long-range dif- le of years, but n for the team er we've had a ent scholarships

the Mars Hill College

Hilltop

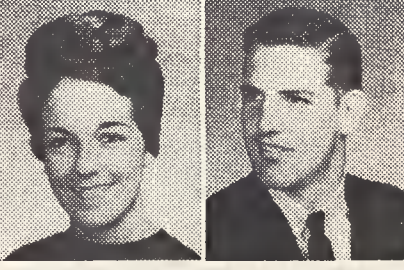

19 November 1966

MARS HILL, N. C.

Vol. XLI, No. 5

23 Seniors Named to Who's Who

Twenty-three Mars Hill College seniors have been selected to appear in the 1966-67 edition of WHO'S WHO IN AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES.

The selections are based on the student's participation and leadership in academic and extracurricular activities, his citizenship and service to the schools, his promise of future usefulness, and his scholarship.

Linda Brookshire, an English major from Mars Hill, has served on the BSU Council and is a member of the Logothia Honor Club.

Carolyn Broome, who has been a junior and senior class officer, is an elementary education major from Gastonia, N. C.

An elementary education major from Gastonia, N. C., Cathy Broome has been a junior and senior class officer and has served on the BSU Council.

Ed Brown, a business major from Boone, N. C., is a member of the Business Honor Club and president of the band.

Carol Campbell, a member of Sigma Alpha Chi and the Art Club, is an art major from Troy, N. C.

Paul Campbell, an English major from Rock Hill, S. C., is BSU president and has worked on the BSU Council.

Bill Carter, a member of the International Relations Honor Club and the Laurel staff, is a history major from Roanoke Rapids, N. C.

Pageant Theme Given

On 5 Dec., at 8:00 p.m., in Moore Auditorium, eighteen contestants will be competing for the title of Miss Laurel 1966-67. The girls will be judged on the basis of evening gown competition, talent presentations, and personal interviews with the judges.

Miss Jean Miller, 1965 Miss Laurel, will preside as Mistress of Ceremonies along with an unannounced Master of Ceremonies. This year's theme will be "On a Clear Day."

Some co-ordinators of the pageant are as follows: Bill Carter, general director; Mike Yelton,

From Zirconia, N. C., Harold Corn is a business major, who is president of the senior class and a member of the Business Honor Club.

Betty Davis, an elementary education major from Granite Falls, N. C., has been a member of the Student Commission and BSU Council.

From Bristol, Tenn., business major Craig Covey was junior class president and is a member of Alpha Phi Omega.

Charles Dewese, an English major from Asheville, N. C., is a College Marshal and member of the Ministerial Conference.

A biology major from Mulberry, Fla., Doug Echols is captain of the football team and a member of Sigma Kappa Lambda.

From Longhurst, N. C., English major Tony Hawkins has served on the Student Commission and is a freshman counselor.

Denny Hill, a religion major from Kannapolis, N. C., has served on the Mission Council and is a freshman counselor.

An elementary education major from Mt. Airy, N. C., Judy Hill has been a class officer and is a member of Delta Phi Zeta.

Dave Hopstetter, an English major from Dania, Fla., is student body president and a College Marshal.

From Morristown, Tenn., Nancy Matheson, a music major, is a member of AGO and the College Touring Choir.

Sue McCall, a physical education major from Acworth, Ga., is president of WRA and a member of SNEA.

A history major from Brookneal, Va., Patsy McDowell has served as a junior and senior class officer and is a member of the International Relations Club.

A College Marshal, Judy Melton from Spindale, N. C., is an English major.

Mack Smith, a business major from Greensboro, N. C., has served on the Student Senate and is a member of Alpha Phi Omega.

From Danville, Va., music major Janet Snead has served as a College Marshall and is a member of Sigma Alpha Chi.

Mike Yelton, a drama major from Gastonia, N. C., is a member of the Dramateers.

HC Officers Elected

Newly elected officers have recently assumed their duties in seven of Mars Hill's honor clubs.

There are seven honor clubs representing most of the academic departments. To be eligible for membership in these clubs, a student must make a grade of B or above in the subject represented in that club and no grade below C in any other subject.

The French Club is sponsored by Mrs. Nona Roberts and is presided by Carolyn Robinson. Ronald Aldridge is the vice-president, Barbara Fox, secretary, and Wanda Brown, treasurer.

The Spanish Club, sponsored by Mrs. Fish, has four members, who will share the normal officers duties.

Representing the Religion department is the Logothia Club, sponsored by Mr. Kendall. Its officers are: Melvin Lutz, president; Jackie Bounds, vice-president; Sharon Vinson, secretary-treasurer; and Pat Green, devotional chairman.

The Scriblerus Club is sponsored by Mrs. Perry and its officers are president, Beverly Cansler; vice-president, Rebecca Bergen; and secretary-treasurer, Charan Dibert.

The Orpheon Club which represented the music department has been discontinued temporarily. After accreditation to the Southern Association, it plans to become part of the national music honor club, Sigma Alpha Lota for women and Phi Mu Alpha Sintonia for men.

The International Relations Club is sponsored by Dr. Underwood. Its president is Rick Gaskin; vice-president and program chairman, Patsy McDowell; second vice-president, Pat Parker; and secretary-treasurer, Julia Green.

Miss Mildred Bingham is the advisor this year for the Business Club. The president is Tom Sparks; vice-president, John Stan- cil; secretary, Sandra Duck; and treasurer, Harold Corn.

Abstract Art on Exchange

An exchange exhibit of abstract art and pottery from Asheville-Biltmore College will be on display in the gallery of the Fine Arts Building, 7 Nov.-3 Dec.

The abstract art collection is the work of Mr. Tucker Cooke;

the pottery display, the work of Mr. Gene Bunker.

Mr. Cooke is a graduate of the University of Georgia and is presently instructor of art at Asheville-Biltmore College.

Mr. Bunker, a graduate of Montana State College, received his M.A. from Mills College in 1955. Before coming to Asheville-Biltmore, he was assistant professor of art at Stetson University in Florida.

According to the AMERICAN ARTIST magazine, Bunker's pottery has received numerous awards, including first prizes in the California and Montana State Fair shows, Northwest Ceramic Exhibition, Portland and Midwest Designer-Craftsman Fair in Chicago.

In exchange for the work of Cooke and Bunker, sixteen paintings of Mr. Joe Robertson and a display of ceramic by Mr. Stephen Wing are now on exhibit at Asheville-Biltmore. A reception in honor of Mr. Robertson and Mr. Wing will be held 20 Nov.

technical director; Wayne Slagle, audio; Ray Michie, lights; and Carol Campbell, scenery.

One candidate has been chosen from each dorm and two from each class. These are: Ann Peeples, Fox; Becky Cochran, Huffman; Cornelia Akers, Stroupe; Marie Hunt, Edna Moore; Judy Henson, Treat; Vivian Harris, Myers; Beth Foster, Melrose; Beverly Cansler, Spilman; Debbie Bauer, Brown; Janet Snead and Rhonda Stanton, Senior Class; Janis Elam and Elaine Harris, Junior Class; Peggy Jo Smith and Katie Swofford, Sophomore Class; and Becky Sluder and Bobbie Miller, Freshman Class.

LISTEN For New Program

LISTEN, an organization sponsored by the Baptist Student Unions of North Carolina, has announced several student mission programs for next summer.

Funds collected on campus this year will be donated to these summer projects. Mars Hill students and other Baptist students throughout the state will be eligible to work. Applications for these projects and other summer work will soon be available through BSU.

A team of eight students and an advisory couple will be working with migrant laborers in Elizabeth City from 15 June-15 July. The team will work part-time in the fields with the laborers, will conduct recreational and cultural activities for the children, will tutor and conduct vacation Bible schools.

After completing the Elizabeth City project, the team will move to Frogmore, S. C., where they will work in the Penn Community Center until 15 August. The participants will be living in the inter-racial center, conducting Bible schools and work in community development and tutorial programs. The project will be concerned primarily with augmenting the present program of improving Negro communities.

Another team of eight students and an advisory couple will be working in Charlotte in a socially and economically deprived community. The team will be living in the community from 15 June-6 August. Their work will include day camps, activities, tutoring, Bible schools, and pre-school teaching.

Six students and an advisory couple will work in the "Patterson Avenue House" project in Winston Salem.