

nt

at 7.5.
he honor of most ngle game, 27
Bob Gibson got against Milligan
the season.

'S DEN

f the most popu
e world, but w States have vir
for years.
er fans! Begin major-league soc in the United recently founded ssional Soccer of ten teams in es and Canada league include
al Football Leag ddition, the At eball team has anchise for an am. It looks as out to recognize ort.

HILL
SHOP
aturing
PLATES

Noise

y Attached
c

ALBUMS RECORDS
ELRY

n Street

ish her iting scent for sh, completely ance note that asts and lasts!

E $2.50, $4.50
$3.00, $5.00
$5.50, $9.50
(and Cologne)
rosted bottles y packaged in wood boxes.

ACY

LATE NOTICE

Plan your studies ahead so that you will be able to participate in the upcoming symposium which will feature ABC's Howard K. Smith, Newsweek's Leon Volkov and others.

the Mars Hill College

Hilltop

Student Teaching Completed

Forty-seven Mars Hill students completed their student teaching 19 Jan. These students have taught in Buncombe, Madison, Henderson, Rutherfordon, and Mecklenberg counties since November 9, 1966.

The students, the school, and the subject or grade taught is as follows: Carol Allen, Harding High, Charlotte, 10th grade English; Mrs. Judy Ball, North Buncombe High, Weaverville, mathematics; Jacquelyn Bounds, Thomasboro School, Charlotte, 6th grade.

Virginia Bradley, Weaverville Primary, 3rd grade; Mrs. Linda Fox Brookshire, North Buncombe High, 9th grade English; Carolyn Broome, Claxton Elementary, Asheville, 2nd grade; Cathy Broome, Claxton Elementary, 5th grade; Mrs. Dinah Wall Buckner, North Buncombe High, physical education; Carole Clamp, Weaverville Primary, 3rd grade; Betty Jean Davis, Thomasboro School, 1st grade.

Mildred Louise Dean, Claxton Elementary, 3rd grade; Jess Tom Dooley, Erwin High, Asheville, choral music; Darlene Duncan, Thomasboro School, 5th grade; James H. Fisher, Erwin High, band music; Judy Gosnell, Weaverville Primary, 3rd grade; Priscilla Gragg, Enka High, biology; Judy Hill, Ira B. Jones Elementary, Asheville, 1st grade; Steve Hines, Lee Edwards High, Asheville, history.

Mrs. Pamela Ingold, Flat Creek School, near Weaverville, 1st grade; Pamela Jean Keller, Thomasboro School, 3rd grade; Rachel Levy, Spaugh Jr. High, Charlotte, library science; Judith Kay Melton, Haw Creek School, 3rd grade; Patricia Lynn Metcalf, Flat Creek School, 1st grade; Selwa Janice Morgan, Lee Edwards High, French; Rita Gail Motley, Haw Creek School, 2nd grade; Mary Elizabeth Oxentine, South French Broad High, Asheville, history.

Betty Deane Pate, North Buncombe High, English; Bill Poats, North Buncombe High, biology; Carol Jean Potts, Saugh Jr. High, mathematics; Norman Rhyne, David Millard Jr. High, English; Linda Francis Robbins, Thomasboro School, 4th grade; Virginia Rogers, Enka High, Spanish; Hilda Marie Sanders, Bruce-Drysdale Elementary, Hendersonville, 2nd grade.

Judy Lynn Silver, North Buncombe High, mathematics; Mrs. Gwen Sinclair, Rosa Edwards Elementary, Hendersonville, 4th grade; Mrs. Jane Slate Cooper, Harding High, Charlotte, home economics; Dorothy Kay Sparks, Haw Creek School, 1st grade; John Stockett, Mars Hill High, 7th grade.

Jerry Strong, North Buncombe High, physical education; Ann Tarpley, Barnardville School, 3rd grade; Reba Sue Vaughn, David Millard Jr. High, Asheville, mathematics; Coralie Linda Walker, Newton Elementary, Asheville, 2nd grade.

Francis Marie Walker, David Millard Jr. High, choral music; Kay Frances Wallace, Haw Creek School, 2nd grade; Mrs. Carolyn Wallin Ponder, Barnardville, 3rd grade; Rita Sue Ware, Vance Elementary, West Asheville, 2nd grade; and Mrs. Diane Couch Weathers, East Rutherford, Forest City, French.

Twenty-six of these students graduated in January. Most of them already have jobs. Some began teaching the day after they graduated and some began on the Monday after. Elementary teachers averaged 20 job offers with some receiving as many as 35 offers.

Virginia Bradley and Carole Clamp have accepted teaching jobs in Greenville, James Fisher is teaching in Morganton. Mary Oxentine and Judy Gosnell have teaching jobs in Asheville. Betty Pate is teaching in Tryon and Jean Potts at Spaugh Jr. High in Charlotte. Benny Adams is teaching in Melbourne, Florida, though he did not do student teaching. Alan Bell, who did his student teaching last year, is also teaching in Melbourne.

Drama Fraternity Chartered First

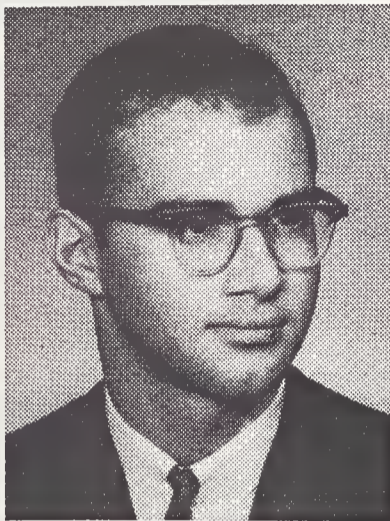

According to Dr. Charles Cox, present head of the drama department, Alpha Psi Omega, is the first nationally chartered fraternity of Mars Hill College. Proposed to promote dramatic activity, as well as to forward the cause of drama as one of the chief American arts, the chapter was formally initiated 1 Dec., 1966.

Members of Alpha Psi Omega are as follows: Ann Cantrell, Candy Coles, David Jones, Cammy McDonald, Ray Michie, Pat Scarborough, Wayne Slagle, Janet Snead, Katie Swofford, Brick Tiley, Jane Watts, Waynelle Willey. (Continued p. 2, col. 3)

Coffee House Proving Successful

The Alley Door, Mars Hill's new coffee house, has proved a success, as announced by the acceptance of both students and faculty. At each opening both rooms have been packed.

Dr. Bentley states, "I was awed by the ingenuity of our students in their recent renovation of the basement of Owen Building for the coffee house. While in Louisville, Chicago, New York, and other cities, I have frequented many such coffee houses, but I have never seen one that would even compete with ours. The decor is highly imaginative, the atmosphere is informal but yet intimate, and the entertainment thus far has been as excellent as the facility itself. I admire the students' making something so great with so few resources. I think this provides an excellent addition to our campus." Denny Hill remarked that he is

James Albert Cody

Tragedy Mars Break

James Albert Cody, a student here at Mars Hill, died Sunday, 22 Jan. of injuries sustained in a motorcycle-car accident 17 Jan. Mr. Cody was a native of Greene County, Tenn., and a 1963 graduate of Lee H. Edwards High School. He served three years with the 82nd Airborne Division, 1st Infantry, and was awarded the Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal. Upon his discharge from the Army last June, he entered Mars Hill College as a freshman divinity student.

(The following poem was submitted to the editor after the recent tragedy. It is not printed as a quality literary work; however, it is presented with the idea that it's the thought that counts.—Ed.)

IN MEMORY OF JIM CODY, A FRIEND

Well, Jim, farewell.
Words are useless chords to play in Songs of deep repose;
If, while in life to you, their worth
I failed to disclose.
Your life so strong as to challenge
Death to defeat.
A struggle so fierce as to remove the Glory from the panting breast
of eternity,
And place it gently on thy brow, as softly

As the descending dews upon the earth.
Rest now, friend, full of faith
and sleep,
Your memory breath doth give to others walking
The same highway;
Your courage is a lamp unto their feet,
Your youth gives promises of the great Beyond, Where your conqueror will be forced to Loose all his bonds.

Barry L. Brown

40 Seniors Graduate

Forty proud Mars Hill College seniors completed graduation requirements at the close of first semester in January. Many will return in May to participate in the regular graduation exercises. The graduates were as follows:

Bachelor of Science

Benny Franklin Adams, chemistry; Charles Alan Bell, chemistry; Jane Slate Cooper, home economics; Craig Glenn Covey, business adm.; Frank Owen Ezell, Jr., business adm.; Priscilla Beatrice Gragg, biology; Frank Jackson Hester, business adm.; Iris Deanne Peterson, mathematics;

William Daniel Poats, Jr., biology; Carol Jean Potts, mathematics; Vinson Keever Sloan, Jr., phys. ed.; Jerry Edwin Strong, phys. ed.; Gerald Herman Taylor, business adm.; Thomas Burton Vaughan, chemistry; Xanxai Visitkul, mathematics; Johnny Wayne Washburn, business adm.

Bachelor of Arts

Jacquelyn Elaine Bounds, elem. ed.; Virginia Lynn Bradley, elem. ed.; Gail Motley Brooks, elem. ed.; James Garrett Carter, history; Gloria Carole Clamp, elem. ed.; Mildred Louise Dean, elem. ed.; Judy Elaine Gosnell, elem. ed.; Pamela Hunt Ingold, elem. ed.; Rachel Dorothy Levy, history; Judith Kay Melton, elem. ed.; Patricia Lynn Metcalf, elem. ed.; Selwa Janice Morgan, French; Mary Elizabeth Oxentine, history; Betty Deane Pate, English; Hilda Marie Sanders, elem. ed.; Gwendolyn Self Sinclair, elem. ed.; Carolyn Ann Wallin, elem. ed.; Dianne Couch Weathers, French and English; Nancy Ann Wyatt, dramatic arts.

Bachelor of Music Education

Jess Marion Dooley, Jr., voice; James Henry Fisher, tuba; Frances Marie Walker, voice.

Associate in Arts in Business

Rebecca Jo Graham, Camilla Mae McDonald.

IBM Coming

A new era on the Mars Hill College campus begins 10 Feb. This is the day the first IBM equipment is expected to arrive, and computer science will be officially initiated into our college curriculum. A modest assortment of IBM equipment has been leased to the college, and an initial course, Introduction to Data Processing, is now being offered. This summer three additional courses will be added—an equipment operator's course and two basic courses in programming.

Rooms 10 and 14 of Wall Building have been renovated to accommodate these machines, including three IBM 029 keypunches, an 082 sorter, and a 407 accounting machine. A Series 360, Model 20 computer has been ordered and will be built by IBM. This machine will be a major part of a data processing center, which will be incorporated into the proposed Blackwell Building.

Mr. William F. Pegg, associate professor of mathematics, has been working for nearly eight years for the introduction of the computer science to our college. At long last this field of study is now open. This also means that perhaps non-academic jobs such as payroll, accounting, inventory, alumni records-keeping, registration, and maintenance of student records will be modernized.

These initial steps in the mushrooming mechanical science are a vital part of the college's efforts, under a new administration, to emphasize excellence in all phases of operation.

Saturday evenings from 8:00 until 12:00, and on Sunday afternoons from 2 until 5 p.m.

There will be live entertainment on Saturday nights, with recordings being used on other nights. Any records that students can lend will be greatly appreciated. Entertainment in the past has included the "Kay Woodies," Jay Flippin, Malcolm Privette, Cammy McDonald, Perry White, Bill Christmas, Martha Morris, Ronda Stanton, Bill Gardner, and Peter Gott, a folksinger from the mountains of North Carolina.

Any entertainment or talent will be welcomed.

Words of thanks are in order for Martha Morris, Denny Hill, Wayne Hunt, and many others for the fine job that they have done in the preparation of the facility for student use and enjoyment.

very pleased with the reception of the new facility and hopes that it continues to meet the needs and desires of the students.

A bulletin board at the Alley Door will be available for student literary contributions or announcements. Denny announces that The Alley Door now has a calendar on which any official organization of Mars Hill College can make a reservation as early as two weeks in advance to use the facility. The only stipulation is that these various groups or clubs will be responsible for all property damage.

Student paintings and other art works will be on display from time to time, as there will be a regular change in decorations.

The Alley Door will be open after all college-sponsored events. On Friday evenings it will be open from 7:30 until 11:00, on