The Christmas Stocking

Santa, that time of year again. The when thoughts turn to Christ-trees, you, and presents. I've doing a lot of thinking about lately, your white beard, reinbut especially your presents. body likes to get presents, sometimes people don't get they want, so I decided to help pick some out this year.
I'm sure Coach Jack Lytton like to have a 7' center who jump like Lew Alcindor, driblike Bob Cousy, and shoot like Scott. Energetic Jack Willis might like to have a fountain installed next to his so he wouldn't have to walk door to the office building time he wanted a drink.
The library is in desperate need a daily service by a Brink's car to haul away the day's and some book published since end of the Civil War. The God might really groove on see-year. "There are "Repent" painted on the top of Marron probably wants some-to pass one of his economics Mars Hill College might want and I'm sure Dr. Hoffman like some plain, old-fashion-recognition.
Laurel would flip over having of copy, finished, polished, ready for the press. (The Hilltop may have to help).

Perry White just might like to have a band show up on Christmas eve and serenade not only him, but the whole student body.

George Peery probably would like to have an autographed picture of Spiro Agnew, like the one in Danny Ray's office. Dean Sears may want a junior FBI button and a little siren to put on his belt.

Maybe the Student Court wants a framed copy of Mr. Vicar's ten points on "How to Win Friends and Influence People." I'm sure they would be glad to hang it in the SGA bulletin board in the cafeteria since it has so much empty space anyway.

WMHC might want two size D batteries to run the station next semester. (They don't have to be new.) Volunteer Services could probably use a volunteer.

I'm sure every dorm wants a house mother like the one Treat has. Mr. Stegall may want a golden-throated songbird that wouldn't talk back. The Baptist Church might like a Baptist college across the street from it. Maybe Dr. Underwood would enjoy a new pants suit.

I'm positive the Hilltop staff wants a way out.

Love,
Little Harvey Hilltop

National "Professors' Club" Speaks On Academic Freedom and Responsibility

Washington, D. C. (CPS) — The American Association of University Professors recently emphasized that "the faculty's responsibility to defend its freedoms cannot be separated from its responsibility to uphold those freedoms by its own actions." In a statement on Freedom and Responsibility developed against the background of campus tension and unrest, the elected Council of the 90,000-member organization of professors offers the active cooperation of the AAUP in seeking adherence to basic norms of professional responsibility and academic freedom.

The statement, approved unanimously by the AAUP Council, declares that membership in the academic community imposes . . . an obligation to respect the dignity of others, to acknowledge their right to express differing opinions, and to foster and defend intellectual honesty, freedom of inquiry and instruction, and free expression on and off the campus." As a result, "The expression of dissent . . . may not be carried out in ways which injure individuals or damage institutional facilities or disrupt the classes of one's teachers or colleagues."

The AAUP statement calls on college and university faculties to "join with other members of the academic community in the development of procedures to be used in the event of serious disruption," and to ensure faculty "consultation in major decisions, particularly those related to the calling of external security forces to the campus." It encourages each college and university faculty "to assume a more positive role as guardian of academic values against unjustified assaults from its own members." To this end, the AAUP statement suggests that faculties give systematic attention to the development of "a more versatile body of academic sanctions," including warnings and reprimand, in addition to the ultimate sanction of dismissal.

In all sanctioning efforts, the statement concludes, "it is vital that proceedings be conducted with fairness to the individual, that faculty judgments play a crucial role and that adverse judgments be founded on demonstrated violations of appropriate norms."

The AAUP, which is headquartered in Washington, D. C., has for fifty-five years been the leader in setting standards of academic freedom and responsibility for the teaching profession.
