

the Mars Hill College

HILLTOP

Volume XLVII, Number 1

Mars Hill, North Carolina

Friday, August 25, 1972

Townhouses 6

Four additional town house units were not constructed this summer when male students did not exercise their option to reserve housing for the fall semester, according to college president Dr. Fred Bentley.

Originally ten units were planned, but when no need for additional housing arose Bentley could not ask the board of trustees for the extra money.

In a letter to the students Bentley said "If men had made proper reservations for fall semester housing, we would have built the townhouses." He went on to say "If there is a justification that there is a need for these townhouse units for next fall, we will build them."

Dean of student development, Dr. Donald Gehring, recently gave an idea of what life will be like for same regulations that apply in the the women in the townhouses, "The other residence halls will apply in the townhouses, and that the future of the townhouses may very well depend on how responsible the residents are."

Each unit will house eight women and will elect a representative to the womens council. There will be college, who will be responsible for one resident assistant, hired by the maintaining the guidelines set by the college and the residents.

The residents of the townhouses will, in the fall, able to decide whether or not to have men in the living room area of their unit. The policy as it stands now will allow men in the living room area from noon until a half hour before closing time, as in the other halls. Each unit will be allowed to adjust this time accordingly, with the exception that men have to be out by the normal closing time, Gehring said.

Co-ed checks out kitchen facilities in one of the townhouses built this summer

Evaluation begins

The 1972-73 academic year has been earmarked for review of the college's 4-1-4 curriculum; and a "Review Commission" has scheduled the first phase of the review this fall when the faculty, augmented by administrators and students, is to develop a set of specific curricular goals and objectives against which the 4-1-4 program can be evaluated.

The 30-member commission also will ask the faculty to consider incorporating the curricular goals and objectives into a "competency-based" curriculum.

The commission will initiate discussion on objectives and competency-based curriculum when it presents a working paper to the faculty workshop on Thursday, Aug. 24, in the library auditorium. The paper was written during the last three weeks in July when the commission held daily open meetings, in which 22 other faculty members participated. The "Working Paper on Curriculum" to page 5

4 New profs on campus

A psychology professor, a physical education professor and two music professors have joined the college faculty for the 1972-73 academic year according to Dr. Richard L. Hoffman, vice president for academic affairs.

This year's faculty totals 109, one more than last year's. The new addition is Dr. Walter L. Stroud, 27, assistant professor of psychology in the department of social and behavioral sciences. He received a doctor of philosophy degree from the University of Tennessee this month. He earned his master's degree from East Carolina University and his bachelor's from North Carolina State University in Raleigh. Stroud is a native of Pennsylvania and grew up in eastern North Carolina.

Miss Barbara Hollingsworth, 26, assistant professor of physical education, is filling in for Miss Virginia Hart, a long-time faculty member who is on a year's leave of absence while completing post-graduate work at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. Miss Hollingsworth is a native of Louisiana and taught last year at a public school in Cario, Ga. She is enrolled in the doctoral program at Florida State University and has her bachelor's and master's degrees from Louisiana State University. She will teach a January mini-term course here in "Sociopsychological Factors of Motor Learning."

Dr. Julia Treacy and Chris Yoder, both assistant professors of music, are replacements for Dr. and Mrs. Robert C. Rich, who left the department for faculty positions at Stetson University, Deland, Fla.

Miss Treacy, 32, received a doctor of musical arts degree in higher education from the University of Colorado this month where she was a teaching associate in voice and group instruction. A native of Washington, D.C., she has a master's degree from Indiana University and a bachelor's from Mundelein College, Chicago, Ill. Miss Treacy will teach a January mini-term course in "Performance of Popular Songs."

Yoder, 34, a native of Indiana, has a background of public school teaching, and has spent the last three years at community schools in Priceville, Ill. He has a master's degree from the University of Illinois and a bachelor's from Goshen College, Ind. He will teach a January mini-term course in "Folksongs and Dances of American History."

Resuming their faculty status after absences for post-graduate studies are Miss Joan Groom, assistant professor of Music, who spent last year at Eastman school of Music at the University of Rochester, N. Y.; Robert Melvin, college chaplain and member of the religion and philosophy department, who spent last year at Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn.; and James Wyatt, librarian, who spent the last two years at Florida State University.

On leave of absence this year, in addition to Miss Hart, is Robert Knott of the social and behavioral sciences department, who will work on a doctorate at the State University of New York at Buffalo.

Two other faculty members resigned in addition to the Riches: David Walker of the education department and Miss Sharon Keiser of political science.

Yearbook seeks ed; radio ok

Resignations during the summer caused changes in the leadership of two of the four major student communications media on campus for the coming year. The radio station, WMHC, has a new general manager; and the yearbook, the Laurel, needs a new editor.

Karl Brady, junior from Asheville who was named general manager of the radio station during the spring by the Board for Student Communications Media, had "greetings" from his draft board shortly after commencement in May. He managed to get active duty with the Navy rather than the Army, but he will not be enrolled for the fall semester.

Acting to fill the vacancy in the leadership of the station, the board chose Roy Gullick Jr., of Greenville, S.C., for the job. A veteran on the staff of the station, Gullick was the only other applicant for the manager's post when the board made its initial decisions during the spring.

Grace Corbett, rising junior from White Lake who was named editor to page 4

Open hours attempt

Efforts by the summer student council to obtain "open hours" policy for coeds living in Fox residence hall were unsuccessful, but supporters of the move say a new effort will be made early in the fall semester.

The council passed a bill which would have initiated an experimental operation of the open hours concept during the period from July 21 until the end of summer school, Aug. 11. It would have allowed women in Fox to come and go without time restrictions.

The bill was vetoed by President Bentley, who cited "logistical problems" and the fact that a variety to page 2

Country Boutique slates mountain 'do' Sept. 2

There will be festivities on campus Saturday, Sept. 2. The Madison County Crafts program has planned a day full of mountain music and dance, old-fashion games and crafts demonstrations as part of the "housewarming" for its new Country Boutique store in the log cabin across from the college cafeteria.

"We are inviting everybody in Madison and Buncombe counties," said Diane Brown, crafts coordinator of the program, "and we are encouraging, especially, the entire college community to participate in the events." Ms. Brown is a 1970 art graduate of Mars Hill.

The housewarming will begin around 10 a.m. with craftsmen demonstrating such skills as carding and spinning, weaving, quilting, whittling and will end with mountain dancing on the parking lot next to the cafeteria starting around 6 p.m. In between there will be games such as sack races, cakewalks, horseshoes and, for the more sed-

to page 4

REG SCHEDULE

Monday
August 28
1:30-5:00

ALL STUDENTS (Returning, Freshmen, Transfers) must secure an authorized registration card from the BUSINESS OFFICE before going to Chambers Gym. RETURNING STUDENTS who DID NOT register in May will meet their faculty advisers for scheduling. FRESHMEN and TRANSFER STUDENTS who did not attend SESSION I, II, III, or IV of Orientation/Registration will meet Chairman of the academic department of intended major for scheduling (Chairman's office).

RETURNING STUDENTS WHO REGISTERED IN MAY and FRESHMEN/TRANSFERS WHO ATTENDED SESSIONS I, II, III will make registration official by presenting their authorized registration cards in Chambers Gym, secure ID cards and an IBM print-out of their class schedules.

ALL OTHER STUDENTS will present authorized registration cards, have ID cards made, and register in Chambers Gym.

Tuesday
August 29
8:30-noon