crumb-strating his thorough knowledge of all college related af: fairs, Bentley appeared to satisfy the majority of the audience with his carefully worded answers and. in fact, seemed to diffuse the controversy that had been raging around Yuvkendall's importurities. Many people, however, were unconvinced, claiming that the meeting was an artificial situation contrived purely on Bentley's

The senate meeting on Monday, October 8, open to the public, will again be presented with the S.G.A. resignations and will probably open a forum for new inquiries into the S.G.A.-Administration controversy.

MARS HILL COLLEGE

Volume XLVIL, No. 4

ay, October 3, to uestion administra

ive positions con-

eming the "conces

Mars Hill, North Carolina

Friday, October 6,

SGA Leaders Supported Senate Quorum Off 1

For senator Jan Sparks, "better late than never" proved to be an unreliable cliche at the special Monday night Senate meeting called by S.G.A. president Terry Kuykendall. Although only a few minutes late, her delayed arrival along with the refusal of various senators to answer the senate roll call resulted in the senate being one member short of the necessary number of senators to Initiate a quorum. Lacking the majority required for a quorum, a vote could not be taken regarding the acceptance or rejection of resignations offered by S.G.A. President Kuykendall, Vice President Duane Cook, and Chief Justice Frank Farrell. This in effect rendered the S.G.A. inoperative for the time being and represented a victory for Kuykendall and his colleagues. Evidence that the Kuykendall forces had acquired substantial support in the student ranks was clearly demonstrated by a standing ovation given them by a majority of the some 400 students in atendance. This occurred immediately after Cook had formally terminated senate business. Although the opposing forces represented primarily by David Gasperson and Darlene Stutts presented pointsof-order that questioned the legality of Kuykendall's action, the senate parliamentarian, Ed Crissman, ruled against them thereby ending the controversy.

Continuing the meeting in an informal manner, Kuykendall presented the college administration with three demands advocating:

(1) Students on the administrative team (the highest policy making board) (2) Students on the board of

(3) Equitable student representation on college committees including (a) Admission and Academic Standards and (b) Faculty Develop-

The reading of these demands was followed by prolonged and stormy applause from the audience.

Kuykendall proceeded to open the meeting to questions from the students and was quickly bombarded by with the three demands and his decision to resign his office. Gasperson, representing the opposing group, was also subjected to questioning by the pro-Kuykendall majority which as time passed became increasingly arrogant and at times somewhat belligerent. Kuykendall and Gasperson, confronted with difficult questions maintained their composure and fielded the questions with ease and confidence demonstrating a high degree of sophistication and tolerance.

Cook, noting that the projected hour time limit was up and realizing that the questioning had digressed to personal attacks and deprecations, abruptly ended the meeting leaving many questions still to be answered, an action that evoked some discontent from the audience.

On leaving, crowd reaction was found to be mixed but with a large majority supporting Kuykendall. However, a determined Darlene Stutts commented, "this meeting is not a defeat, it's just an unfinished issue". Undoubtedly the issues involved present a stimulating conincisive queries that dealt generally troversy that only the future can re-

Kuykendall and Bentley discuss problems Prior to meeting on Tuesday

Cadenza Receives National Award

art magazine of Mars Hill College, Advisor and Literary Consultant; gled out to receive a "Certificate also. of Excellence" for outstanding use Last Spring Cadenza was subof the graphic arts in effective committed to the Associated Collegiate ledged those people who had a material is equally as impressive. part in creating the 1972 issue.

Cadenza, the student literary — These included: Mrs. Betty Hughes. has recently been named recipient Mr. Joe Chris Robertson and Mr. of two national awards. Strathmore Gordon Mahy, Art Consultants: paper Company reviews hundreds and Mr. George Self, Groves Printof productions each year which are ing. All students who served on the done on Strathmore Paper stock. staff, and those who contributed The 1972 issue of Cadenza was sin-literary or art work were recognized munication. This award was made Press Critical Service for the first through Groves Printing Company, time. Recently the honor rating a-Inc. of Asheville, N. C. who pub-ward of "First Class" was received. lished the magazine. Mr. W. C. Al- Both literary and art work rated derson derson, representing Groves Printing, high. Judge Helen Gonzalez commade in the representation of the represen made the presentation of the certifi- mented in her evaluation, "Cadenza cate the presentation of the certifi- mented in her evaluation, "Cadenza cate the presentation of the certificate to editor Kay Gregory at the Stu- is a most attractive magazine, with dent Government Convocation last colors and layouts that dazzle the Thursday night (Sept. 28th). Upon reader. What a pleasant discovery receiving the award, Kay acknow- to find that the quality of the literary

Drinking Bill Rejected

by Su Harper

The Drinknig On Campus issue dominated discussion at a lengthy dinner meeting of the Student Affairs Council, Wednesday, September 27. uals on the Council for defeating the After much debate the bill was de- motion include: feated by a vote of 8 to 4. Reason 1. Misrepresentation of what the ingiven for the decision were:

1. The essence of the school Charter, Section 6 under the 1905 a- 2. The bill is not a contribution to mendment to the Charter states, "That it shall not be lawful for any person to erect, keep or 3. The necessities of group living maintain at Mars Hill College or within four miles of said college in the county of Madison, any laws against sale of liquors to minors, public display, etc.)

President Bentley's opposition to into effect.

Other reasons given by individstitution expects of student conduct if this section were deleted.

the intellectual and social development of the students.

(opposing values with peer groups).

The student Affairs Council then tippling house or establishment passed the Freshmen Women's Curor place whatsoever for the manu- few Hours Bill. The bill asks that facture or sale of intoxicating li- freshmen girls curfew be extended quors or wines, nor shall it be from 11:00 to 12:00 on weekdays. lawful for any person to sell wines. This would make all women's curor intoxicating liquors within fews uniform. President Bentley must three miles of said college." approve the bill before it can go

Also on the agenda was election The Council's belief of the con- of members for the Appeals Board. stituency's opposition to this pro- The Court of Appeals hears all cases that appeal the original deci-4. Legal ramifications of article 18A- sion of either the Student Court or 30 and others of the General Stat- Dean Gehring. The new Court of utes of N.C. (This deals with Appeals consists of 2 faculty members, Mary Thrig and Earl Leininger; 2 students, Ken Chamblee, and Jan Sparks; and 2 non-policy making administrators, Jim Wyatt and Ed

> Because of the late hour, the meeting was adjourned with the stipulation that another meeting would soon be called to discuss the remaining issue on Open Hours for Women. This will involve a joint meeting of the Student Affairs Council and Christian Life committee of the Trustees.

> Members of the Student Affairs Council are Dean Gehring, Dean Joyce, Dr. Hoffman, Rev. Bob Melvin, Winona Bierbaum, Frank Farrell, Page Lee, George Peery, Froggie Tuttle, Chris Navey, Duane Cook, Debra Watson, Terry Kuykendall, David Gasperson, and Jim Thomas.

> Student Affairs Council meeting is open to anyone interested. Regular meetings are held every third Tuesday at 5:30 in the President's Dining