

HAPPY HOLIDAYS!

THE MARS HILL COLLEGE

HILLTOP

Volume XLVII, No. 9

Mars Hill, North Carolina

Friday, December 8, 1972

ARC Funds Allocated

Dr. Page Lee, Director of the Internship Program at MHC, announced the awarding of $7,000.00 in student originated service learning internships. Of the 15 applications for funds, 11 were funded.

The general criteria for the grants were that they can be recognized as being learning experiences, that they be feasible, and that they meet a public need.

The credit hours granted for the internships ranged from 4 to 20. Rebecca Compton, Richard Croll and Bryan Rice received $1000.00 to tour "The Crucible." Mary Sanderson, Phil Wagner, and Perry Sanderson received $295.00 to compile a narrative census of Folk art of the Blue Ridge. Paul Pegg was granted $865.00 to attend the John C. Campbell winter folk school. George Jones and David Gasperson received $125.00 to help research archives for a Carl Sandburg National Memorial.

Fifty dollars was granted to Dean Edwards to do a mini-mester history internship with the North Carolina National Forests. Sam Easterby and George Richardson received $1,000.00 to do work as historians for the Interpretive division of the Great Smoky Mountains National Park. One thousand

Lecturers Scheduled

The visiting lecturers and artists committee has arranged for a "mini-symposium" in January on "The Contemporary South" with speakers ranging from Black movement leader Floyd McKissick to Archie Campbell of "Hee-Haw."

A schedule of six speakers have been confirmed, although dates and times of their presentations are tentative. A confirmed and detailed program will be available by Wednesday, Jan. 3.

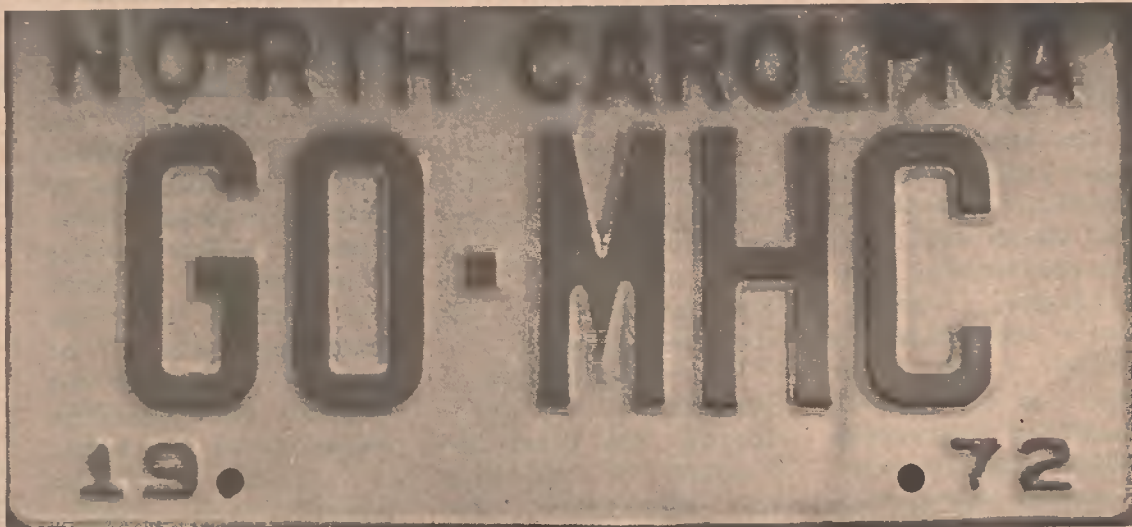

The tentative schedule is:
--Kays Gary, popular columnist for the Charlotte Observer and a Mars Hill alumna, Friday, Jan. 5.
--Floyd McKissick, a founder of Soul City, former director of CORE (Congress of Racial Equality) and An Asheville native, Monday, Jan. 8.

--James Sledd, linguistics professor at the University of Texas, who will speak on "Southern English and the Power Structure," Thursday, Jan. 11.

--William J. Reynolds, composer and music department chairman of Sunday School Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, who will lecture on and demonstrate "Sacred Harp Music," Sunday, Jan. 14.

--Mrs. Wilma Dykeman Stokley, novelist, newspaper columnist and Asheville native,

Packed Parking Lot: Problem

Even the birds of the air have nests and the doxes have dens, but poor Freddy has nowhere to park his Toyota.

Freddy Freeloader lives in Asheville and has a 9 o'clock class every morning. One morning recently he was late, so late that when he arrived on campus there were no parking places in front of the Administration building, where his class meets at that time. Frantically, he drove to Fox; all parking spaces were taken and some cars were even double parked. Freddy drove to the library parking lot--nothing! He was just about to panic when he remembered one more place, behind Moore Auditorium. He drove back there to find every one of the places taken by cars and four blue and gold buses. He looked at his watch to find it was 9:25.

Finally, in desperation, Freddy sped down the hill, whipped around behind the gym, turned greedily across the bridge, and with a suicidal grin across his face headed straight for the goal posts at the north end of the football field. At last, a clear, uncluttered parking space was his! After neatly maneuvering his yellow fastback between the posts, he quickly penciled a note, put it on the windshield, and dashed off to class only to meet his classmates coming out of the building because class had been dismissed 10 minutes early! Reluctantly he turned around and trudged down the hill toward the science building where his 10 o'clock meets. In the distance he could see the corner of his note on the wind-

Rotary Awards

Three individuals living or going to school within the limits of Rotary international's district 767, which extends from Monroe to Murphy, may have the opportunity of a year of graduate study at the institution of your choice, with an award which covers (a) round-trip transportation, (b) educational, living, and miscellaneous related expenses. Awards are made for study in almost any field and are tenable in countries in which there are Rotary Clubs. Applications must be made through a Rotary Club, not later than March 15, 1973. Further information may be obtained from any Rotary Club or write: Dr. J. P. Chapman, Jr. 520 Biltmore Avenue Asheville, N.C. 28801. Winners will be announced in September, 1973.