Well, people, it's that time again. Time for speeches and campaign posters and promises. It's time for that great American institution, the student body elections.

One fact is obvious about the election. Someone will be elected to each position. No one can tell what kind of job they will do while in office. We can only look at their past performances and decide what we think of them as people and vote accordingly.

However, in order to be successful all of these candidates need support from the student body.

Look at the records of the candidates, ask them how they voted on certain issues last year. Check for their mistakes and successes. Then and only then, go out and support the candidate of your choice.

Have you got any gripes? Do you need any advice? Drop a note to Carolina Coed in the Hilltop office. Have you got the pre-wedding blues? Well then, send for my latest book, "The Etiquette of Breaking Up."

Q. Dear Carol,

The boys in Myers recently persuaded President Bentley to spend the night in their dorm. What could we girls at Fox do to get him to stay here?

Debbie

A. Dear Debbie, Seduce him.

Q. Dear Carol,

Not long ago, my boyfriend was visiting me in Stroup parlor on a weeknight. He had to use the men's room and was told to go to his dorm. This seems very unfair. Can't something be done to change this situation?

Joan

A. Dear Joan, Your boyfriend didn't have to go back to his dorm. There are plenty of woods out behind Huffman. However, on the serious side, I have personally talked to Mother Rotan and she will see what can be done.

Q. Dear Carol,

What do George Peery and George Edwards look like without all their excess hair?

Linda

A. Dear Linda, Why don't you play "Delilah" one night and find out? Watch

Here we go again--another election.

Letter to the Editor

Ever notice how loudly someone will yell if their little toe is stepped on, while at the same time they are jumping up and down on the entire foot of someone else? Well let's look at the situation concerning the failure of the sound at the Sunday night movie on February 26.

Ever since I have been at Mars Hill College (two years) there have been movies. And the trouble in the sound system has been present at all or most of these, although less obvious at times.

What is the problem? Well, in an interview with Mr. Fish (Director of the Physical Plant) and Wayne Proffit (who shows the films) I found we have a proper problem. The company which installed the projectors ($5,000 each) checked them this fall and found nothing wrong. For those of you who were upset Sunday night, you should have been with Mr. Proffit. (he is a qualified electrician, and was at the time of the breakdown unable to find what went wrong. Our telling really helped as I'm sure that most of us would be qualified to test electrical components and correct the problem. Only recently have the students felt offended enough to say anything to the proper officials; and then cry for better movies, freebe's, and rolling heads.

Maybe the college is getting back at you, fellow students. Look around next time you leave the audi-

That is the reason why the Hilltop is coming out today. One important surprise is that Duane Cook, the sophomore president of SGA, is not running for an office. I can't understand why. Can you?

So much for trivial matters. Hey, guess what? Phil Weast is going to give the students a treat this month. On March 24 there is going to be a dance in the cafeteria. If my memory serves, me, this semester there has been one concert and one dance. Where is all the entertainment money going? Perry White, the former activities director, did a better job with the same money but he did not have the fantastic credentials as our Mr. Weast.

"I cannot believe that God would choose to play dice with the world..."

Albert Einstein However, speaking of activities, this weekend the department of theatre arts will be presenting two one-act plays and a session of pantomimes. The credit for this weekend entertainment goes to people like Mr. James Thomas, Mr. C. Robert Jones and Tim Elmore and not Mr. Phil Weast.

"I do not believe in the God of theologians who rewards good and punishes evil."

Albert Einstein Speaking of academic departments something interesting is happening in the mathematics department. Dr. Donald Russell, currently teaching at Clemson University, has been hired for the coming year. Dr. Russell will concentrate on teaching statistics.

"The presence of a superior reasoning power revealed in incomprehensible universe forms my idea of God."

Albert Einstein This issue's outstanding student award goes to Joe Bridges. His dedication and determination in his play during the last part of the season was outstanding. The Doz award goes to Rosalind Pendergraft who waited ten hours in order to sign up for a room for the fall semester.

The quotes inserted in this column were placed for those people who think that the Hilltop is not being representative of a Christian institution. They are placed here not as a theology but as food for thought.
