

Movie Mania

by Bob Kramer

Due to the paper coming out in two weeks, there are only a few movies to be reviewed for the week of April 1-7.

Lady Sings the Blues (R)
Dianne Ross plays Billie Holiday. Tragedy, sadness, and song. All of the reviews are great. May not make it to Mars Hill if Dianne Ross wins an Academy Award. It could be taken out of release and released to a big theater.

Nicholas and Alexandra (PG)
Story of Russia's last Czar, Nicholas, and family. We better not forget Rasputin. An interesting feature is the choice of actors and actresses who look like the real characters did. It's a bit long but worth seeing.

The Academy Awards are scheduled for March 27th. Here are my personal picks and the ones I think the Academy will pick. I think that Godfather will win awards for best picture, best actor — Marlon Brando, and best supporting actor, Al Pacino. I think that Shelly Winters will win the award for best supporting actress in the Poseidon Adventure. For best actress my choice is Liza Minnelli in Cabaret, but I think the Academy will give it to Dianne Ross. This was a good year for supporting actors. Two other picks of mine in that category are Joe Gray (the MC in Cabaret) and John Voight in Deliverance. Voight was not nominated, Gray was.

Deep Throat, the Mercedes Benz of Porno films has already made over $7 million dollars in the last 6 months. That is really surprising when you realize that movies like Mary Poppins and Fair Lady have only made $10 million in 9 years. No wonder the Art Film circuit is growing.

New black exploitation film to be released soon is Black Caesar, Godfather of Harlem. Twenty years from now people will be looking back at the new wave of black films with their stereotyped black stars with many of the same criticisms that Amos and Andy get.

In Texas they now have a "portabel" drive-in theater. It has three screens that rise up out of the ground. During the day, the theater is a parking lot. It is adjacent to Texas Stadium, home of the Dallas Cowboys, and the drive-in's snack bar is utilized during events in the stadium. Plans are now underway for a drive-in under a roof.

Also Delaware has an unrevealed story by selling some suspicious Treat for a purpose. I only think it's down to the bottom. I understand Claude has had the "Golden" told what the question them the last to suggest in fact to MHC as an order that into that pool along the next College Union leading the Com-UB written by Phil Weasling to say and better put on to find a shovel understand when

I will be putting a box in the Hilltop office and maybe one in the cafeteria for you to submit your questions. I would like to thank the "Announcer" for defining "love" for my fellow MHC students this spring. LOVE: "A young man's fancy." Now, as to the definition of a young man's fancy...

Appalachian Culture Discussed

By Eric Gardner

The Appalachian Consortium met at the Mars Hill Campus this week. The Consortium is composed of five colleges and universities and four agencies for the purpose of learning and understanding as they preserve the culture of the Appalachian Mountain Region.

The colleges and universities: Appalachian State University, Western Carolina University, East Tennessee State University, Lees-McRae College, and Mars Hill College; and the four agencies: Mountain Scenic Economic Development District, the U.S. Forest Service, and the Blue certs on tour and also had a break on Wednesday for fun at Disney World.

The tour is the highlight of the concert season for the band and gives them experience as a touring organization. The band has the chance to travel as well as to represent the college and aid in spreading the name of the college.

There were several highlights to the performances that the band presented. In "Clarinet on the Town" by Ralph Herman, the clarinet section was featured while in "Vivaldi Trumpet Concerts" by Antonio Vivaldi, Steve Floros and Kent Gall were featured on trumpet. The nine member Trombone Ensemble, directed by Mr. Richard Cryder, was a separate part of each performance playing jazz numbers.

Each program varied in its content of marches and novelty numbers. There is no doubt that director Ray Babelay and the sixty one members of the band, enjoyed the program, and representing Mars Hill College while on tour in Florida.
