

Movie Mania

by Bob Kramer

The next two weeks in film here at Mars Hill seem to be promising.

Valachi Papers --Out-godfathers the Godfather.

Charles Bronson plays the lead. He has made the transformation from Indian to hood faster than Clint Eastwood went from cowboy to Dirty Harry.

Play It Again Sam -- Woody Allen as a "just turned bachelor," who would be successful if only the females would cooperate. Bogart is his idol and thus the title.

Shamus--Burt Reynolds of Cosmopolitan fold-out fame, as a private detective whose bed is a pool table, perfect example of the idiotic rating system. The movie is rated "G," but opens with a scene of a couple being murdered in their bed. Murder weapon-flame thrower.

Getaway -- Steve McQueen and Ali McGraw prove that there are good bad guys and bad good guys not to mention a bad good girl who becomes a good bad girl before the film ends. The film deals with a band robbery and double cross. Moral --Shot guns make a mess of police cars.

The Bible --Fine movie. Proof positive that Bible stories are not outdated. The scene of Adam and Eve is done with exceptional good taste, so that the viewer is hardly aware of the nudity. John Houston as Noah is my favorite. Don't let the kids miss this one.

Ramblings: Don't miss Sleuth. Watch for Alec Guinness as a dancing Hitler. New - ultra - violent film, Last House on the Right. Murder weapon -- chain saw. Godfather is now playing in Germany. The title in German is Pate. (Pronounced with a short a and a long e.) Mars Theater operator told me he offered a deal to the student government a while back on films. $8.00 per student per semester. This would enable all students to see all movies. This is only 25¢ per film. Movies like Cabaret, Sleuth, and Getaway for 25¢ when regular theaters get $2.00- 2.50, "unglaublich." Only restriction -- all students must participate. Someone should investigate this. Seems too good to be true.

registration upcoming

Pre - registration for the fall semester of 1973 will be held during the week of April 30-May 4. According to Robert Chapman, students should make an appointment with their faculty advisors for a conference during that period to plan their schedules for the fall.

In order to pre-register and to have pictures made for a fall semester ID card, students must pay their tuition deposits ($50.00) for the fall semester to the Business office.
