

MYSTERY STILL SURROUNDS COED'S DEATH

CONSIDER...

by Eric Garner

Mars Hill College has never had to experience such a tragedy as that tragedy which has recently affected us all. As a unit, the college has always been a place of hardy and pleasant atmosphere. With the death of Sally Bell Moffitt on Friday morning, October 12th, the face and soul of this college saw a darkness that it had never seen before. Sally was close to many of us and those who did not know her inside, were surely aware of her ever present sunshine spirit and friendly smile. Many of us have shared so many good times and also the hard times with Sally. For now, let us not think of Sally as gone from us but let the memories of the good times cheer our sorrowed hearts. The memories of Sally, the beauty of such a warm and wonderful person, are now for us to cherish.

Sally was a good friend. When you've got a friend, you've got the world. Let us all cherish memories of our friend.

SALLY BELL MOFFITT

Authorities are still probing the mystery surrounding the death of Sally Bell Moffitt, 18 year old sophomore.

Miss Moffitt's body was found early Friday morning, Oct. 12, by two highway construction workers as they arrived at a work site.

State Bureau of Investigation officials received their lab report late Thursday but would not comment on what the document contained.

Miss Moffitt was found at the intersection of highways 213 and 19 & 23 where she had been dragged approximately 50 feet across a graded area, down a small embankment, and left near a small stream.

An autopsy revealed the cause of death to have come from a severed pulmonary artery, which was caused by one of three broken ribs.

The operation also showed that she had not been beaten or molested.

A native of High Point, Miss Moffitt was an Elementary Education major, and attended Central High School in High Point.

Funeral services were held in First United Methodist Church of High Point where she was a member.

A scholarship fund has been established in her memory. Those wishing to contribute to the fund may do so by contacting Jim Cox in the Development Office.

WMHC to Air Soon

by Jim Baker

Mars Hill students that enjoyed listening to WMHC last year (and I believe they are both back this year) are really in for a treat. The old college radio station is no more, for instead of the Rinky-dink-chicken-wire- and flashlight battery concoction that polluted the airwaves from high atop the Fine Arts Building in days past, we find now a well organized and well equipped radio station of professional standards.

Before you laugh at this unimaginable fact, let me call your attention to the new facilities that will make WMHC what it is to become (be that it may). This year, the broadcasts will reach every dorm, and arrangements are being discussed for broadcasting to the cafeteria and student center as well. To accomplish this, Station Manager Ray Gulliek has purchased 5 new transmitters and 2 booster signal devices. We students who worked at WMHC last year and laughingly referred to ourselves as "DJ's" will always have fond memories of realizing our broadcast range could be nearly doubled by opening the station's windows and turning up the volume a bit. And though it was true that WMHC's top 40 chart was World War II surplus, now the records are current releases being supplied by such well known corporations as Atco, Elektra, Grunt, and Atlantic.

The old station operating hours extended from the time someone got around to playing DJ until he got bored and left. Now WMHC will be operating on a schedule with definite hours and programs. According to Ernie Howard, WMHC Chief Engineer (Dammit the Dog former holder of this position, retired at the end of last year) the station will probably be on a 24 hour 6 day a week basis. Personally, I doubt this; I remember how faithfully some DJ's managed to "forget" their early morning shows last year. Speaking of DJ's remember how much fun it was to hear guys trying to swallow the microphone? Well, that past time is gone. The radio announcers now have had to undergo at least 5 hours of practice time in a simulated "live" broadcast and they have been properly trained and instructed by we who had absolutely no training last year.... wait a minute, does that make sense?

The programming of WMHC this year will consist of easy listening and rock music, and I intend to sneak a classical number or two in occasionally. Regular features will include the ever popular album side, the inspirational Power Lind, and the sickening commercials.

Rick Hinshaw, world renowned DJ who abounds in obscurity, invites all those who are hard of hearing to listen to WMHC regularly. If you have any questions concerning the station, call 232, but no one will answer, because the station is not operating at this time. When will WMHC go on the air? Patience, my child, a number of vital electronic parts have not yet arrived, so "Soon" is the only answer we can give. Be prepared for the grand opening and have your radio set on 640AM-better yet, watch television.

had experience in writing and in advertising composition and layout and he feels that these qualifications are what is desired for this position as editor.

The Hilltop is still in need of people to fill spaces on the staff. There is a great need for writers and people to help with paste-up and advertising. Advertising sales will receive 15% of the amount of ads which they sell. Those people desiring to help with the publication of this newspaper, please come by Eric's office in the Student Publications area. He's usually there.

Exposition of 1889. You'll need to reserve a seat, and the free tickets can be picked up in Owen Theatre beginning Oct. 29. By the way, this is the first play to be presented in Owen since the theatre was reworked and renovated inside. This is sure to make a very entertaining evening, so remember Rivals this November.
