INTERMURALS; ALL WET

by Jon Diego
 Staff Writer

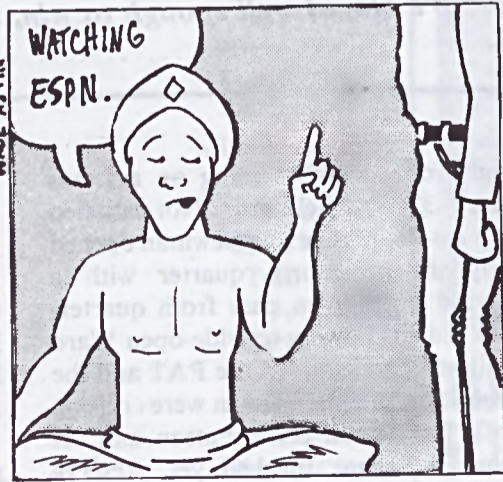

Intramural athletics contribute extensively in the students semester here at M.H.C.. Flag football; a tennis tournament; and the video game contest all had good turnouts. Now that intertube water polo is under way more have an opportunity to be involved in the intramural program. Many took the advantage of the chance to participate. Over one hundred students on ten teams are taking part. Teams must consist of men and women.

One need not be a great athlete to excel in this sport. Many a time there has been a petite female steal the ball from an overconfident football player, who found himself overturned while attempting to ruin the play.

Besides providing an outlet to release our daily tension and excess energy, intramurals have been called on to aid in time of crisis. Last year an all night tournament was organized to raise money for Marcus Thomas fund following his ski accident.

Though you may have decided to sit this one out, intertube water polo is a great spectator sport. So grab a friend and get involved in the fun.
