

MOVIE
0 pm

THE HILLTOP

The Student Source for News

Volume 66, Issue 5 • Mars Hill College, Mars Hill, NC 28754

THIS WEEK

Opinions

Several letters to editor highlight this issue. One concerns the recent vindication of Hiss, another criticizes the college's choice of entertainment. Also, new in this issue is Mike Wachtendorf's new column BABBLE ON.

News

An MHC musician recently was given a high quality instrument for recognition of her future accomplishments, the Bailey Mountain Cloggers are in again, Newsmart cards are on their way, and world news is wrapped up in INTERNATIONAL DATELINE.

Features

The fashion merchandising majors are sponsoring an indepth look into FASHIONOLOGY." Check this out along with news of the upcoming Christmas tree festival to benefit Hospice. Also, a Mozart musical making its way to MHC is detailed. Don't forget to check out what SGA has been up to as well as the AROUND CAMPUS update. Don't Miss the New addition, LET'S PARK AND RECREATE.

The Back Page

Don't miss this week's CHAOS, CROSSWORD COMPANION, or listing of upcoming SUNDAY NIGHT MOVIES.

MARS HILL

MARS HILL
COLLEGE

Bill Clinton

TO BECOME NEXT PRESIDENT

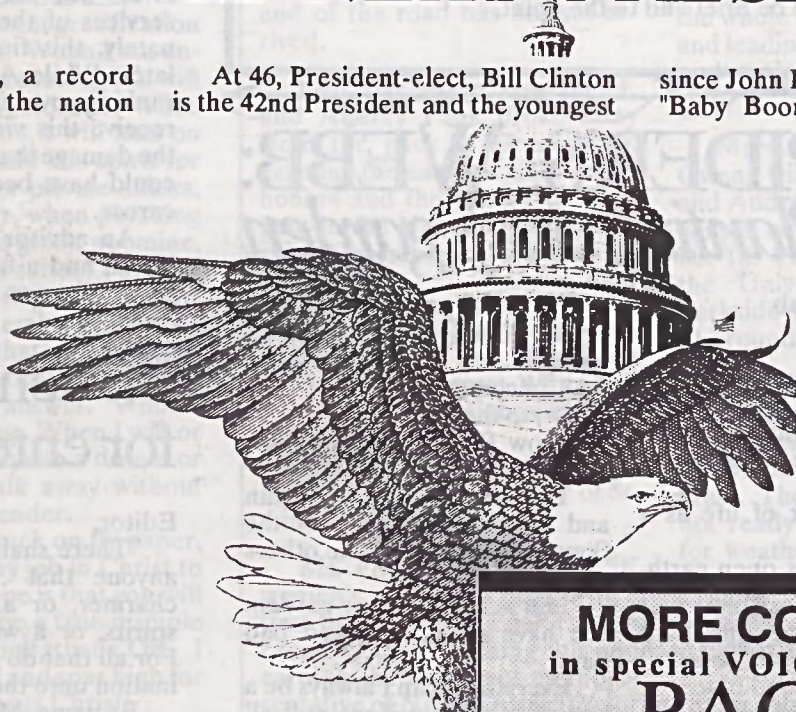

On November 3, 1992, a record number of voters across the nation voiced their right as U.S. citizens and spoke out for "change" electing a new President, Bill Clinton, Governor of Arkansas, and Vice-President Albert Gore, senator of Tennessee.

It was a landslide victory for Clinton having claimed 357 electoral votes, 32 states, and the District of Columbia. Clinton also won 43 percent of the popular vote over President Bush who claimed 168 electoral votes and 38 percent of the popular vote. Third-party runner Independent Ross Perot won no states, but showed strong winnings with 19 percent of the popular vote.

At 46, President-elect, Bill Clinton is the 42nd President and the youngest since John F. Kennedy. He is the first "Baby Boomer" to enter the White House, and the first Democrat since 1980 to be elected.

Clinton being a new kind of Democrat and coming from a younger and new generation stands for new ideals, new policies, and greater hopes and dreams for the United States people. He stands for "change", which according to the polls is just what the United States wants.

MORE COVERAGE
in special VOICE '92 section
PAGE 8

"Toad the Wet Sprocket" Coming to Moore Aud. Nov. 14

By Kelly McElveen
assistant editor

TOAD THE WET SPROCKET will play their Top 40 "All I Want" along with other songs off their recent album fear in a concert in Moore Auditorium Saturday, November 14 at 8 p.m.

Co-sponsoring the concert with Mars Hill is UNCA. According to Jay Hirst, Director of Student Activities at Mars Hill, both schools wanted to do big name concerts, but the cost was too great. In this partnership, Mars Hill and UNCA will split the cost and the ticket sales.

"It's real important for Mars Hill Students to come out and support the concert," Hirst said. "The more students that come out, the more money we can make to do another concert."

Hirst expects the show to be sold out by Saturday night, and he stressed the importance of needing to draw in area high school students as well as those outside the area. He reports having calls from as far away as Raleigh and Greenville.

The concert, in addition to providing entertainment for Mars Hill students, is also aiding in the recruitment of new students. The Admissions Office will have their fall visitation on the same day as the concert.

"We mention it to high school students on the road and some go 'Oh Wow'," said Rick Hinshaw, Director of Admissions. "It makes a solid impression for them to see activity around the campus."

Another concert is scheduled for April, Hirst said, but he hopes to get another booked in January of February if TOAD goes well.

Tickets are $5 for Mars Hill and UNCA students and $10 for the general public. They are available at Jay Hirst's office located on the third floor of Wren College Union.

MORE ON THE "SPROCKET" PAGE 5