College Receives $2600 Employee-Alumni Grant

Belmont Abbey College has received $2600 in Kodak employee - alumni grants through Eastman Kodak Company's 1978 Educational Aid Program.

In recognition of the contributions made by the college and university graduates to the company's business success, Kodak employee - alumni grants - $650 to privately supported schools and $150 to publicly supported institutions - are awarded to accredited institutions for each undergraduate or graduate year completed by those who graduate and join Kodak within five years of their graduation. These grants, awarded during the graduates' fifth year of employment, are made on behalf of those employees who are utilizing their academic training in the performance of their job duties.

The Kodak employee - alumni grant to Belmont Abbey College is made on behalf of Anthony F. Latronica, Jr., who received the B.A. degree in economics and business in 1970. He is currently a marketing manager for the Eastman Kodak Company in New York City and lives in Lake Hopatcong, N.J.

Upon the request of the Kodak Company that the grant dollars be distributed to Latronica's department, the $2600 will be used as scholarship funds for business majors currently enrolled at the College.

This year, Kodak employee - alumni grants totaling $950,000 have been awarded to 223 four-year privately and publicly supported colleges and universities and to 66 privately and publicly supported schools offering an AAS degree.

In a joint announcement, Walter A. Fallon, chairman and chief executive officer, and Colby H. Chandler, president, said: "More than 850 institutions have shared in some $65 million in Kodak aid to education since the company's program was formalized in 1955. While elements of the Kodak program have changed in response to the changing needs of higher education, its goal remains the same. That is, to help our institutions of higher learning fulfill their obligations to students and to the nation, with society as the principle beneficiary. Kodak grants for 1978 continue the company's commitment to quality education and to academic excellence."

Through the company's 1978 Educational Aid Program, 311 institutions of higher learning are sharing a total of $3.9 million in Kodak grants. The grants are financed from the company's current earnings and from funds previously set aside for the purpose.

Kodak's Educational Aid Program includes research grants to assist and encourage education at the master's and doctoral level in selected disciplines, special grants to help institutions revise and interrelate their academic programs to keep pace with changing times, grants to education associations that further the goals of quality education, and the Kodak Scholars Program designed to support and encourage excellence in education.
