BAILEY TO RUN FOR SENATOR

Plunges Zestfully When Brogden Withdraws From Race

Ending a long period of uncertainty as to who would opnose Furnifold Chairman William Manning plans to McLendel Simmons, when he enters call a meeting of the committee this the Democratic primary on June 7 week to continue the work. for a nomination for a sixth term in the United States Senate, William Josiah Bailey of Raleigh Friday announced his candidacy and immediately assumed the role of an active candidate. Senator Simmons' refusal to support Alfred E. Smith, the Democratic nominee of President in 1928, is expected to be an overshadowing issue in th ecampaign.

Hokever, the probability is that C. L. Shuping, Greensboro lawyer, who piloted the Bailey campaign in 1924 will occupy a similar role in 1930. Mr. Bailey is understood to feel that he would like to have the man who shared his defeat also share in his victory HIDDEN he anticipates in his Senatorial race.

"I have three rooms here and shall get a fourth tomorrow and I do not expect to be practicing law, so I see no reason why I should not use these offices," was the way Mr. Bailey settled the question of campaign headquarters.

There is no sort of question about the issue in the forthcoming cam-Nor is there any doubt but that Mr. Bailey will raise it vigorously. A colorful campaign with a probability of great bitterness is generally ized bottled-in-bond. At the time of

Just when the Twin City Police were patting themselves on the because their vigilant efforts of the past week had pre-vented a recurrence of the robhery epidemic which the commu-nity has been suffering, some hold thief stole one of the policemen's car.

Chief Gray drove Policeman Massey's Ford Roadster to the hospital Tuesday night and parked it. He returned less than ten minutes later to find the car

A thorough search of the town failed to reveal it and SOS calls were sent out over the State.

Later Tuesday night, Weldor officers on the lookout for the car arrested Simeon Garris. Peliceman Massey, brother of the owner of the car, recognized the auto and made the arrest with deputy sheriff Mitchell.

Garris has been out of the pen less than three months, serving a fourth sentence for car stealing. He is in jail today.
