SUPERIOR COURT NEWS

Joe Williams, young white man of Rosemary who had been working for the Shearin Filling Station near Roanoke Junction, was tried on several liquor charges and received a sentence of 18 months on the roads. Williams, who was caught some time ago after deserting his liquor and Ford when the car ran into a creek and stalled, had been a source of much trouble since his arrest. During his trial by a magistrate he was whisked away from the officers by two confederates who drove their car to the trial, left it running and went in, and under their guns, escaped with him. He was later captured while asleep near a still, which he denied knowledge of, placed in the Halifax County jail where he attempted to cut the cell bars with hacksaw blades.

W. H. Stover pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny of a copper cable belonging to the Weldon Brick Kiln and was given a six months term on the Halifax County roads. Ellis Mack was given six months on the roads for possession of whiskey. Claude Parks, white man of Roanoke Rapids was given a fine of $25 and costs or 60 days in jail for clipping in on a gallon of whiskey. Simon Garris pleaded guilty of a charge of larceny and was given two years in the State prison.

Robert Owens, who goes by the name of Buckateer Owens, plead guilty of buying stolen property, and was given six months. Owen said he paid a dollar for a piece of cowhide for an apron but didn't know where it came from and that it was stolen. All he knew was that some short negro had sold it to him. He wanted it, he said, to make a leather apron as he had to handle a lot of lumber that kept his overalls torn up. The leather, used for belt leavings was stolen from J. W. Truett and Co. of Hobgood.

Drusella Bellamy who used the English language rather recklessly and abusive upon the streets of Enfield was found not guilty of resisting an officer and went on her way. She had been fined $10 and cost by Mayor Atkinson of Enfield for being drunk and disorderly but charged with resisting an officer. Judge Devia held that though she cursed every man in the United States, that there was no resistance there.

Fifty cents was not enough money to keep the husband of Anna Wilk from swearing out a warrant for John Bellamy for cutting his wife with a knife, and so he was brought to the Superior court for trial and found guilty and received a $50.00 fine and costs or four months on the roads of Halifax County.

Walter Wright plead guilty to a charge of cutting Jimmie Smith and received a six months road sentence. Wiley Russell was fined $50 and costs for carrying a concealed weapon.

L. Larrymore, white man of Weldon was fined $50 and costs for driving a car under the influence of whiskey.

H. N. Hudson, white man of Roanoke Rapids was fined $50 and costs and his license revoked for a period of 90 days for operating a car while

IN MEMORIAM

In sweet memory of my darling son, E. Martin, Jr., who fell asleep 2 years Feb. 13, 1928.

A bud the gardener gave me,
A pure and lovely child;
He gave it to my keeping
To cherish undisturbed
But just as it was opening
To the glory of the day,
Down came the heavenly gardener
And took my bud away.

—Mother.

Gone from the arms of loving parents
To live with the pure and true
God took our darling to Heaven
So that we may journey there too
By his parents,
MR. and MRS. E. M. EVENSON

Mrs. J. A. Twiddy, Mrs. Berta Pridden, Messrs. Collin Pridden, Louis Moore, Frank Moore and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Moore attended the funeral of Mr. Moore's mother in Virginia last Monday.

In Memoriam

As the Master walked in his garden at noonday, He saw among his choice flowers one too frail for this world. He plucked it and now it blooms in Paradise.

Little C. Mildred Medlin was born Jan. 21, 1925, and died Jan. 20, 1930. Altho her sojourn here was short, she had entwined herself around the hearts of her loved ones by her sunny disposition.

On Monday morning of last week she climbed down from her little bed bright and cheerful, and ran into an adjoining room to the warmth of a glowing fire in an open fireplace. There was only a few minutes until the screams of the other children brought her parents into the room, and there they beheld her in a blaze of fire, for in some way her little gown had become ignited. Before the fire could be extinguished her little body was so badly burned that death resulted a few hours later in the Roanoke Rapids hospital.

She was the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forest C. Medlin of Weldon.

Funeral services for little Mildred were held at the home and interment was made in Smith's Church cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Medlin have the heartfelt sympathy of the community and while they grieve and feel the loss of little Mildred, they have this consolation that she is,

Safe from corroding care,
Safe from the world's temptations,
Sin cannot harm her there.
