Blackmer's Most Expensive Phone Chat — at $122.00

A New York to Hollywood telephone call that arrived for Selney Blackmer, former Broadway stage favorite while the actor was busy filming the first National talking picture "A Most Immoral Lady," cost the actor $122.

The director would not let Blackmer break off in the middle of a scene with Leatrice Joy, Walter Pidgeon, Josephine Dunn, Montagu Love and other high salaried featured players in the picture, because that would cost the company $400.

So Blackmer talked in the "talkie" while his New York agent waited 19 minutes at $11 per hour minutes. Then he transacted his business over the phone and found that he had a minute left of the $122 worth.

"A Most Immoral Lady" begins its local showing at the Rosemary Theatre Thursday and Friday.

LOST 68 POUNDS DURING TROUBLE

"I honestly believe Sargon saved my life. I had to resign from the Asheville Police Department because I was down and out physically. My weight dropping from 207 pounds to 139. I was sent home from duty several times, and spent four weeks in a hospital. My digestion was so bad that absolutely nothing agreed with me. I had to take a handful of salts every night for constipation. I had awful pains in my head and back. I had my teeth extracted, my eyes examined, and took one treatment after another but never did get better until I got hold of Sargon. Five bottles made me feel like a new man from head to foot. I've gained 13 pounds already and haven't a sign of my former troubles left. My friends are amazed at the change in me, and as long as I live I'll never stop praising this wonderful medicine."—Joseph N. Hyder, 61 Cumberland Ave., Asheville.

TWIN CITY HAPPENINGS

Miss Mary Anderson has returned to Long Branch, N. C. after an extended visit here in the home of her parents on Roanoke Avenue.

Miss Priscilla Mullen and Miss Marjorie Cannon spent Saturday in Richmond shopping.

Mrs. M. A. Parham and Miss Edith Parham spent the week-end in Scotland Neck visiting friends and relatives.

Miss Cleiton Harris spent the week-end in Henderson, visiting relatives and friends.

Miss Mary Kester, who has been quite ill in the hospital has returned home and she wishes to thank all of her friends for their kindness and thoughtfulness of her during her illness.

A few of the members of the Young Peoples Society of the Presbyterian Church gave a play, directed by Mr. T. A. Martin, Sunday night. This representation, entitled "Why Be Bothered" completed a series of talks made by Rev. Hugh Bradley on "Medical Missions in China." The cast consisted of Misses Elizabeth Wilson, Essie Wayne Matkins, Julia Crutchfield and Virginia Bell Vincent, Messrs John Bounds, Belmont Murray, and Cyrus Kitchen.

The Suzana Wesley Bible Class of the Roanoke Rapids Methodist Church held their regular monthly meeting Friday night in the home of Misses Margaret and Ottley Cranwell. Busi-

George Arliss Brings "Disraeli" To Vitaphone Screen

"I think Disraeli will find much favor with the public and greatly increase the prestige of talking pictures because it represents the finest traditions of literary craftsmanship," says George Arliss, veteran stage star who plays the title role of this Warner Brother and Vitaphone picture, which comes to the Rosemary Theatre on Monday and Tuesday.

Arliss, in addition to being one of the foremost character actors of the American and English stages, is also an author of note.

The New York State Federation of Womens Clubs is enthusiastic about Disraeli and the following letter was received by the president of the local Womens Club.

Dear Madam President:—

In accordance with the policy of the motion picture division that when an exceptional picture is produced we shall stand behind it and do everything in our power to secure an audience in the hope that by so doing we shall encourage producers to continue such pictures, I wish to bring to your attention a picture now showing in New York City, which will shortly reach your community and which is exceptional in every respect, both because of its plot material and because of the actors who appear in the picture.

I am referring to DISRAELI, now playing at the Warner Brothers theatre in New York, with George Arliss in the leading part. You, of course, realize the historical importance of this play and those of you who had an opportunity to see Mr. Arliss take this part upon the stage will be eager to see and hear him again in this presentation. Those who did not have that opportunity will be tremendously interested in his characterization of the part, and everyone will be impressed by his diction. This is the finest example to date of the use of the talking motion picture and its contribution to proper speech is notable, as the diction of all the actors is unusually fine.

In addition to this, the picture is exceedingly interesting and entertaining.

We ask you to do everything in your power to secure attendance at this picture when it comes to your theatre and town, knowing you will be well paid for so doing.

With kindest regards, I am, Sincerely yours,

MARION W. MACCOY, Chairman, Division of Motion Pictures, N. Y. State Federation of Womens Clubs.

ness was discussed then the guests were charmingly entertained by Miss Mary Seales. After this refreshments were served to the following, Misses Ella Lee Taylor, Margie Collier, Juanette Wright, Lurline Hardy, Lucille Moore, Alma Lassiter, Mary Seales, Audrey Hardy, Eva Johnson, Addie B. Moore and Ana Bell.

The Junior Department of the Rosemary Baptist Sunday School had a most delightful Valentine party on Tuesday evening in the basement of the church. There were about 100 present, and the many delightful games planned by Miss Helen Brown and directed by her were greatly enjoyed by the children. Mrs. F. E. Kendrick, Mrs. Leo, Miss Elizabeth Tait, Miss Martha Carson, Mrs. Geo. Pappendick and Miss Ada Edwards assisted in entertaining the children. A game that was enjoyed most of all was "Follow the Leader." Miss Tait led one group and Miss Edwards the other; after carrying them here and there, in and out, they were led to an attractive table where each one was served an Eskimo pie. They followed the leader again and passed a popcorn machine, where James Simms and P. C. Lewter served them with delicious popcorn.
