

TO BUILD NEW PEANUT FACTORY

The Columbian Peanut Company has decided to build a new peanut factory in Scotland Neck to replace the one which was destroyed by fire last month. Plans are going forward to begin work on the new structure in the near future.

The five story peanut factory burned in March at a loss of approximately $60,000,000, which was covered with insurance.

The new building is to be in a different location. Six acres of land have been bought and the new structure will go up on a tract of land just off the end of Josey Street, an extension to North Roanoke Street. It will be on the Hoffman property on the west side of the railroad, in the corporate limits of the town.

W. E. Allmond manager of the Columbian Peanut Company, states that plans call for a building with much more floor space than the old one and room and work for double the number of employees. The new structure will not go in the air as high as the old one but will be much larger. It will be completed in time to handle next year's peanut crop in this section.

The old factory turned out about 600 bags of peanuts daily; the new one will turn out 1,000. The monthly payroll will be about $3,000 and Scotland Neck and Halifax County will get between five and six hundred dollars yearly for taxes from the company.

Several towns put in strong bids for the factory.

County Women Seek Home Demonstration

Members of the womens clubs of Hertford County are not yet ready to give up home demonstration work and preliminary meetings have already been held in one or more clubs for the purpose of presenting strong arguments to the County Commissioners against the discontinuance of the home agent. Other agencies in the county also will assist in the movement to convince the county board that the extension work among the women should not be discontinued.

The women think the Commissioners acted hastily in deciding to discontinue the home agent in the county Monday of last week at the regular April meeting, because, they say, no opportunity was given them to present the matter formally. The meeting at that time was called for the purpose of deciding whether a farm agent was to be employed to fill the place of C. A. Rose, resigned, and the women had given no thought to a decision on the home agent work.

Final Exercises Are To Begin Sunday

Final exercises of the Littleton Hi school begun on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock when the Rev. C. K. Proctor of Oxford preached the commencement sermon at the school auditorium.

On Wednesday night at 8 o'clock, a pageant was given by the first seven grades, at which time seventh grade certificates were presented. Class day exercises were held the following night at the same hour.

The work of the school for the session of 1929-30 will come to a close Friday, April 25 at 8 o'clock, when the commencement address will be delivered by E. J. Coltrane of Salisbury, president of the North Carolina Education Association.

Coast Line Offers $250 In Prizes For Highest Yield Corn

Four cash prizes amounting to $250 are offered to corn growers in 31 Eastern Carolina Counties who grow the highest yields on five acres of land. The prize money is offered by the agricultural department of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad and is open to farmers in counties served by this road. Rules of the contest have been prepared by the Agricultural Extension Service of State College.

E. C. Blair, extension agronomist at State College, says there will be entries from each of the 31 counties and in some counties ten or more growers have already entered. Last year, the first prize of $100 was won by J. Lib Lee, of Benson, Johnson County, who made 107 bushels of corn an acre on the five acres. Second prize of $75 went to Roy Lee Hayes, a 4-H Club boy of Wilson County; 3rd prize of $50 went to Jesse Murray, another club boy of Pender County and fourth prize of $25 went to Geo. W. Trask of New Hanover County.

Those who plan to enter the contest must file entry by June 1, with the county farm agent or vocational teacher where there is no agent. The rules of the contest have been slightly changed this year so as to make the chances of winning more favorable to the person who plants soybeans in his corn. Any farmer or member of his family may contest for the prizes.

Mr. Blair says those living in any of the following counties may enter: Anson, Bertie, Beaufort, Brunswick, Columbus, Craven, Cumberland, Duplin, Edgecombe, Franklin, Gates, Hertford, Halifax, Harnet, Johnston, Jones, Lee, Lenoir, Martin, Nash, New Hanover, Northampton, Onslow, Pamlico, Robeson, Sampson, Scotland, Wake, Washington, Wayne and Wilson.

Middle Life Suffering

"THREE years ago, I was in bad health," says Mrs. J. B. Bean, of Kirbyville, Texas. "I was going through a critical time, and I suffered a lot. My back hurt almost all the time, and my legs and ankles ached. My head hurt me until sometimes I would be almost past going. As I had used Cardui before, and knew how much I had improved after taking it, I got a bottle and started taking it. I continued to use it for several months. After awhile I regained my health, and I feel that I could never have gotten through that awful time without Cardui."
