Accounts Acclaim New Movietone Romance

In "Cheer Up and Smile," Fox Movietone has approached the ideal in lending story appeal and sophistication to a love romance born on a college campus, we hear from the authentic preview sources.

"Cheer Up and Smile," which opens next Monday and Tuesday at the Peoples Theatre is such a picture. It is a gay sparkling romance of young love, filled with the pathos and heartaches necessary for a good drama.

While searching for the ideal story of this type, the magazine story by Richard Connell, "If I was Alone With You," came under observation. It was from his pen that the rollicking fun and drama of the all talking, singing romance "Cheer Up and Smile" was taken.

To Dixie Lee Fox Movietone featured player, and Olga Baclanova went the co-featured roles. The first two mentioned have scored previous successes in youthful roles, and their work as sweethearts in this picture of the campus nights and Broadway lights reflects their abilities to the highest advantage.

"Whispering" Jack Smith is another Fox Movietone featured player who carries away honors in "Cheer Up and Smile." Much of the infectious humor of the dialog, and the heart appeal of the many tuneful songs, spring from his winning personality.

Others in the splendid cast are Charles Judels, Johnny Arthur, John Darrow, Sumner Getchell, Franklin Pangborn and Buddy Messenger.

"FAST" GIRL IN A NEW ROLE

Ginger Rogers, whirlwind comedienne of the New York stage musical comedy hit, "Top Speed" plays one of the principal roles in "Young Man of Manhattan," Paramount's talking screen version of Katherine Brush's famous best selling novel which comes to the Peoples Theatre Wednesday and Thursday August 13-14.

It was while playing in St. Louis that she attracted the attention of Paul Ash, jazz maestro extraordinary. Ash presented her at the Oriental Theatre in Chicago. When he transferred his organization to the Paramount in New York City, Miss Rogers was one of the stellar attractions of his presentation. Subsequently she toured the Paramount-Public theatres circuit in a Joseph Santly presentation—"High Hat." After that she was cast for her present stage role in "Top Speed."

In "The Young Man of Manhattan," she appears as Puff Randolph, the giddy young gadabout who puts the Indian sign on the romance of Toby, played by Norman Foster, and Ann, played by Claudette Colbert. Charles Ruggles plays the part of Shorty Ross the wise-cracking fellow reporter who helps the lovers to repair their domestic fences.

Fu Manchu Dead? Not By Long Shot

Warner Oland, villain in many of the silent as well as the all-talking films, has created a new type of role in the character of Dr. Fu Manchu, famous Oriental menace of the popular Sax Rohmer stories.

The first Fu Manchu filmization was shown at the Peoples months ago. It was called "The Mysterious Dr. Fu Manchu." Thousands who saw it and thrilled to its gripping mystery and clever acting will rave over its sequel, "The Return of Dr. Fu Manchu" which comes to the Peoples Theatre Friday and Saturday, August 15-16.

It soon becomes plain that Fu Manchu is very much alive in this sequel picture. He begins a tance to plan the demise of Dr. Jack Petrie, only surviving member of an English family whose members were obliterated by the Oriental out of vengeance for an incident of the Boxer Rebellion. As a means to this end he effects the capture of Nayland Smith, Scotland Yard detective, and Lia Eltham, his ward. Smith escapes the clutches of Fu, but the cunning doctor holds Lia as hostage.

Jack decides to rescue Lia himself and thus he becomes enmeshed in the fearsome plot by which all face death at the hands of the villain. After a series of thrilling scenes however, Smith makes a daring resolve. How he accomplishes his purpose and how Fu Manchu falls in his, provide the dynamic climax of the picture. To see it is to thrill.

Would You Know One If You Saw It?

If you ever came face to face with a germ, would you recognize it? Of course it is not likely that you ever will see a germ, unless you own a tremendously powerful microscope, for you would have to magnify one over a thousand times to make it as big as a pin head. But you should recognize the fact that these tiny germs can get into your blood streams through the smallest cut, and give you typhoid fever, tuberculosis, lockjaw, blood poisoning, and many more dangerous and perhaps fatal diseases. There is one sure safeguard against these dangers — washing every cut, no matter how small, thoroughly with Liquid Borozone, the safe antiseptic. You can get Liquid Borozone at Taylor's Drug Store, Rosemary, N. C.

If you want a cigarette that is milder and of better taste..

Smoke Chesterfield

MILDER, YES—BUT SOMETHING MORE. Chesterfield offers richness, aroma, satisfying flavor.

BETTER TASTE—that's the answer; and that's what smokers get in Chesterfield in full-est measure—the flavor and aroma of mellow tobacco, exactly blended and cross-blended. Better taste, and milder too!
