Clara Bow, Stanley Smith in a scene from the Paramount Picture, "Love Among the Millionaires"

comedians, including Mitz Green, Skeets Gallagher and Stuart Erwin, the dumb Axel of "Sweetie," are coming to the Peoples Theatre Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 1-2 in one of the "It" girls' biggest hits, "Love Among the Millionaires."

Full of the red head pepper and the throbbing love, "Love Among the Millionaires" is really Clara Bow's first musical romance. Introduced effectively as a screen singer in "Paramount on Parade" and then in "True to the Navy," Clara now steps forth as the new "Anna Held," gloriously radiant with a voice that puts a quartet of hot hit ballads over as no other could.

"Rarin' to Go" is only one of them, out this song, a real jazzy dance number, probably gives the greatest play to the Bow personality. Then "Believe It Or Not, I've Found My Man," is a joyous lyric of the scorch type. Clara follows this with the radio riot, "That's Worthwhile Waiting For." The theme song, "That's Love Among Millionaires," is her fourth number.

Little Mitz Green who won hearts everywhere with her imitations of Charlie Mack of Moran and Mack, of Chevalier and Helen Kane in "Paramount on Parade" mimics Clara Bow in this picture, and sings a song "Don't be a Meanie," which rivals Jack Oakie's "Alma Mammy," in "Sweetie."

Skeets Gallagher, Oakie's pal in "Fast Company," and "The Social Lion," has a strong comedy role with Stuart Erwin. Both these young men are candidates for the hand of Clara Bow and their intense rivalry provides a running fire of comedy.

June Collyer Gives Views on Marriage

June Collyer, beautiful New York society girl, who, in a few years has become one of the most important supporting players in Hollywood is often asked, by those who know her well, "How did you escape marriage?"

A Hollywood writer quizzed her in such a way while she was working with Gary Cooper in "A Man From Wyoming."

"Escape marriage?" Miss Collyer queried back at him, "that's hardly the way to put it. I simply haven't met the man yet."

"Haven't there ever been some one?"

"Oh yes" but not THE man. "I thought a lot of him. When I returned to New York from Hollywood after making my first picture we were together a lot. It might have meant something sometime but I received word to report back to work and I did. He couldn't have been THE man or I never would have returned."

"I have been bridesmaid four times and maid of honor twice at weddings of girls in New York. Most all of them did what was expected—married properly and happily. I might have. Who can tell? Somehow, however, I feel that I took the only course. I'm tremendously happy and interested in my work."

June's first film role was "East Side, West Side," about four years ago. In 1928 she was selected as a Wampar-Baby Star. Since then she has played supporting roles in a number of films including "Hangman's House," "Four Sons," "Illusion," "Rover of Romance," "The Love Doctor"—and now "A Man from Wyoming," in which she is presented as the society girl ambulance-driver, who meets and falls in love with Gary Cooper who is shown as a captain in the Engineers Corps at the front which shows at the Peoples Theatre Friday and Saturday September 5-6.

Kansas Crops Include Four Film Celebs

Birthplace statistics compiled at the Paramount New York studios recently uncovered the interesting facts that Charles "Buddy" Rogers and Jack Oakie, two of the screen's outstanding stellar luminaries, and Ginger Rogers, and Stanley Smith, a promising pair of featured players all hail from Kansas and Missouri.

"Buddy" Rogers claims Olathe, Kansas as his birthplace. Jack Oakie was born in Sedalia, Mo., only a few miles away. Ginger Rogers is a native of Independence, Mo., and Stanley Smith first saw the light of day in Kansas City, Mo.

By coincidence, all four of the Kansas-Missouri Quartet were working simultaneously in the New York studio recently. Rogers heads the stellar cast of the screen musical comedy "Heads Up;" Stanley Smith and Ginger Rogers played opposite one another in "Queen High" and immediately thereafter Miss Rogers became Jack Oakie's leading lady in the star's latest vehicle, "The Sap From Syracuse."

Miss Rogers' family moved to Texas and it was in that state that she won a Charleston contest four years ago of which grew vodvil contracts, Broadway booking and later her first screen role in "Young Man of Manhattan." Oakie went to New York after a boyhood in Missouri and Oklahoma. He began his quick climb to fame

On Wednesday night Aug. 20, the Epworth League of the Rosemary Methodist Church of Rosemary, gave a hay ride to Slagles Lake. Besides the League members there was a goodly number of invited guests. Although the night was cool the young people were very comfortable on the tv otrucks which were furnished for the ride by the Roanoke Ice and Fuel Co. When they arrived at the lake a big fire was made over when he was cast in a charity show in New York during the time he was working as a broker's clerk in Wall Street.

"The Sap From Syracuse," is his second starring feature. His first was "The Social Lion," made after his outstanding personal achievements in "Fast Company," "Hit The Deck," "Paramount On Parade" and others. "The Sap From Syracuse" at the Peoples Theatre Wed. and Thurs. September 3 and 4, is right down the Oakie alley. The wizard of wise cracks is seen in the title role — a young outlander who inherits a small fortune and decides to go to Europe. On the boat he is mistaken for another, a brilliant young American engineer. Rather than disappoint the passengers, Oakie allows them to believe he is the engineer, and the consequences are extremely amusing.

Adults Contract Children's Diseases

Adults can, and do, contract many children's diseases. And, usually, they suffer from them much more than children do. For instance, many adults contract worms, an ailment usually associated with children. Sometimes they suffer intensely and take expensive medical treatments, without realizing that worms are the cause of their troubles. Yet, the symptoms are the same as in children, loss of appetite and weight, grinding the teeth and restless sleep, itching of the nose and anus, and abdominal pains. And, the same medicine that surely and harmlessly cures round and pin worms from children will do the same for adults — White's Worm Vermifuge, which you can get at Taylor's Drug Store, Rosemary, N. C.

which frankfurters were roasted. There were hot dog sandwiches and plenty of watermelons and none of the party doubted the fact that Miss Thelma Mills enjoyed the feast, as she did not want any of it to be wasted. Boat riding in the moonlight and music were the features which caused the evening to pass hurriedly. Quiet was the return trip and all agreed that it had been a pleasant and enjoyable occasion.

Wreck on Southern Line

Salisbury—Twenty-five box cars of northbound freight train No. 54 went off the track two miles south of Salisbury Sunday night, and dinged up traffic on the main line of the Southern.

Railroad between Charlotte and Greensboro. No one reported injured. Passenger trains were being routed around by Parkers Junction, but running far off of schedule. Wrecking crews from Charlotte and Spencer got on the job at once.

Concord Woman Wins

Concord — A Cabarrus superior court jury decided last week that F. P. Allen of New Jersey, plaintiff, had not loaned $1,500 in July of 1929 to Miss Jean W. Coltrane, as he claimed. Miss Coltrane claimed that this money was merely placed in her care for investment, and had by her been turned over to agents whom she had trusted, but who proved to be swindlers.
