Hobgood Teacher Injured When Car Locks and Capsizes

Ethel Mooney, a 1927 graduate of the Aurelian Springs High School and a substitute teacher of the Hobgood teachers, spent last week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Mooney and her aunt, Mrs. J. H. Saunders, of Heathsville.

Sunday morning she left her aunt's home driving an old coupe. She hadn't gotten very far before the steering wheel locked causing the car to turn over. The car turned on the driver's side. Miss Mooney's brother, Walter, was with her but neither of the two were seriously hurt. Ethel got a very bad cut on her wrist. She was rushed to the doctor immediately and had her arm bandaged.

Sunday night was said to be a very miserable night for Miss Mooney but Monday she was feeling much better and left for Hobgood, where she will continue her work.

Kathleen Crawley Entertains

Kathleen Crawley entertained a number of friends at her thirteenth birthday party last Friday evening from 3:30 til 6:00 o'clock. Games were enjoyed by everyone. Later refreshments were served.

Those present were: Misses Doretha Matthews, Louise Heptinstall, Helen Carlisle, Alice Dickens, Cornelia Harris, Laura Alice Crawley, Kathleen Crawley, Annie P. Crawley, Messrs Charlie Lee Kelly, Clifton Browning, Bill Liles, Cabot Crawley, J. W. Crawley and George Rogers.

Glee Club Tacky Party

The Glee Club of Aurelian Springs High School gave a tacky party Tuesday night, Oct. 3. There was a grand attendance and everyone enjoyed it. The young people enjoyed taking part in the interesting games that were played on the stage. Ice cream and candy was sold and the fun house and fortune telling were objects of much interest. Prizes were given to the luckiest. These were awarded with much pleasure to Mr. Veach and Raymond Williams.

The Glee Club is expecting to enjoy and make good use of the music that will be bought with the money that was made, during the coming year.

Sixth Grade News

The sixth grade had a very good average attendance until last week when so many boys and girls stayed out to pick cotton. We are hoping to bring it up again this week.—Ollie Carlisle.

We have selected Mrs. Vlack as our grade mother and she has been to see us once already. She said that she was glad to be our grade mother and was going to do everything she could for us. She urged us to come to school regularly and on time in order that we might win the beautiful loving cup that is offered to the grade having the highest attendance. As a result of her visit, we are going to write to all who are absent and do everything we can to win the cup.—Susie Mitchell.

We are very glad to see that the agricultural boys have put up the flag pole near the road. It has been down for some time.—Jim Taylor.

We wish to thank the Weldon Coca-Cola Co. for the pencils, rulers and blotters. We are going to try to use them to the very best advantage.—Kathleen Crawley.

We are trying to keep all the citizenship rules in our report cards, and I think if we keep on trying, we will all be good citizens.—Sterling Carlisle.

The Lincoln Literary Society asked the sixth grade to give a play, so we decided to make our own play. The scenes centered around our citizenship rules in our own report cards and all the ideas were entirely original. Miss Hunt, our teacher, had us to write the plays for our language, then we selected the best ones and put them together. We selected the characters and practiced it in our room, then we were ready to give it in society. The high praise which was given us by Virgie Smith, the society critic, made us feel that all our work was worthwhile.—Goldie Mae Light.

Junior Weiner Roast

The Junior Class of A. S. H. S. had the pleasure of entertaining a number of friends and teachers last Wednesday night at Panacea Springs. The night being very calm and the weather cool made the fire appear more beautiful. Everyone had a delightful time roasting weiners. Those present were: Misses Hannah Heptinstall, Joyce Stallings, Ruth Hamlet, Avis Qualls, Mertice Liles, Margaret Hamlet, Gladys Porter, Margaret Crabtree and Evelyn Jennings, Messrs Clifton Crawley, Harry Liles, Julian Shaw, Joe Brown, Jack Mohorne, Joseph Liles, Willis Taylor, Cooper Tharrington, Alton Green and E. K. Veach.

Fifth Grade News

We are trying to make our room beautiful this year. On the left side of our room we have a window box and in this we have planted some colliers and Wandering Jew. On our reading table we have a pink begonia. On some pedestals in the corners we have some geraniums.

We have been painting some jars to put our cut flowers in that we bring to school. We have placed some of these on our book case under our bulletin board, which we use for putting pictures on.

On our reading table we have looks, puzzles, and the newspaper. We love to read these and put our puzzle maps together.

We also have a poetry club that meets every other Thursday. Alice Dickens is president and Wm. Ezra Bowers and Margie Walker are the leaders. Wm. Ezra's side is the Robert L. Stevenson, because his group is studying Robert L. Stevenson's poems, Margie's group is the Henry W. Longfellow, because they are studying Henry W. Longfellow's poems.—Margie Walker, Fifth Grade.

STRAIGHT SHOOTING

By OLD TIMER

HOW'S BUSINESS?

"How's business?" one merchant was asked, and do you know—and how strange it is these days and times—he had a smile on his face when he answered, "I don't get much business, but what I get is good." In comparison with the above, listen to the answer by another merchant to the same question—"How's Business?" "In all my life I've never seen it worse—I ain't doing a thing, I owe everybody and I don't believe I can last another thirty days." I ask you—with which of the two merchants do you like to do business, the optimist of the pessimist?

Mr. Editor:—

The best editorial you ever wrote—the one of most importance—the one which has a thundering lot of warning in it—appeared in your issue of September 25th. Print it again—this time put it in black type on the front page—and reprint it until the matter has been given attention. You are trying to "lock the door before the horse is stolen"—get the door locked and prevent, as far as it is possible to do so, any accidents to our school children along Roanoke Avenue.

Yours for the children,
Old Timer.

Fifteen hundred (1500), or more, school children cross Roanoke Avenue four times each day. This means there are six thousand (6000) chances of an accident every school day—and are automobiles driven at twenty (20) miles an hour up and down Roanoke Avenue? The are not! Six thousand (6000) possible chances for an accident at sixty (60) miles per hour! If the Editor of The Herald needs any support, support him.

Overheard on the streets—"Why doesn't Old Timer go to Rosemary and look things over up there?" Example is a great thing, let's set the example and, besides, the Rosemary merchants close all their places of business on Wednesday afternoons during the summer! Let's get our own back yard cleaned up before we pick on Rosemary—and we don't want to pick on Rosemary anyway.

Don't drive your car past a school truck when its loading or unloading—that's the law, and it's a good one.

Uncle Sam's mail truck which carries the mail from Roanoke Junction, by Rosemary, to Roanoke Rapids and from Roanoke Rapids, by way of Rosemary, to Roanoke Junction—has these signs on its exterior: On one side we read "All Kinds of Country Produce, Chickens and Eggs, —Once You Try It You Will Buy It." On the other side we read: "Fresh Fish—More You Eat, More You Want." Take a look at the mail truck and see if I am correct.

One man was heard to remark:—"I don't want my mail delivered to my house, I prefer looking at it myself, before it reaches home." Draw your own conclusions!

Sunday Closing Is Debating Question

The Declamation Club met Monday Oct. 6, 1930. A debate was scheduled for then.

Resolved that the State Legislature of North Carolina should pass a law requiring all places of business to be closed on Sunday.

The speakers were, affirmative: Planch Shearin, Evelyn Hawkins, Alice Mae Glasgow, Plumber Shearin. Negative: Annie Pearl Crawley, Jessie Bell Lewis, Raymond Hawkins, Marvin Butts.

A very interesting debate was given.

The boys and girls are being trained so that we will have no difficulty in finding good debaters to compete in the State debate. In fact, they all debate so well that it will be a very difficult problem to choose the ones for the State debate.

—Kathleen Heptinstall.

Primary News

The pet project is still proving to be interesting to the beginners. The rabbits and pigs are being studied this week.

The children visited real live pigs and then wrote the following chart for their reading lesson: Phil has 3 pigs. They like to eat corn. They Drink Water. They have curly tails. They say wee, wee.

The beginners wish to thank their grade mother and Miss Carrie Bowers for the lovely flowers and box of candy they sent. They enjoyed both very much.
