

HALIFAX CITIZENS OWN 5,380 AUTOMOBILES

NO NEW TEACHERS ALLOTTED

State Motorists 'Gypped' Campaign Investigation Starts

(Special To The Herald)
Raleigh, Oct. 16.—One hundred and eleven teachers were allotted to schools in 57 of the 98 counties participating in the State school equalizing fund, due to increased enrollment of pupils, by the State Board of Equalization at its recent meeting, out of more than 200 requests for additional teachers. The limit of about $100,000 for this purpose, the State board paying the full salaries, held down the number, although a few others will probably be given in counties in which schools are just starting.

No additional teachers were allotted to Halifax or Northampton counties. Figures just compiled show the Halifax County will receive a total of $56,195.70 from the State school fund this year, of which $44,748.59 is for the constitutional six months term and $11,447.11 is for the extended term, in addition to any that may be paid for extra teachers allotted.

Figures just compiled show that Northampton County will receive a total of $73,417.43 from the State school fund this year, of which $57,494.43 is for the constitutional six months term and $16,923.00 is for the extended term, in addition to any that may be paid for extra teachers allotted.

Of the total $6,500,000 appropriated for schools, $6,273,588.06 has been allotted by the board, $4,992,990.34 from the $5,250,000 equalizing fund and $1,280,595.72, plus a balance from last year, of the tax reduction fund.

Halifax County had a total of 5,380 automobiles and 775 trucks on October 1, according to the registration cards on file in the Motor Vehicle Bureau, Sprague Silver, director, announces.

Northampton County had a total of 2,675 automobiles and 30 trucks. The entire state had a registration of 393,739 automobiles, including 3,550 owned by non-residents, leaving an average of 3,902 to each county; 58,010 trucks, including 910 non-residents, an average of 571 to the county, and 1,290 motorcycles, an average of about 13 to the county.

North Carolina motorists last year were "gypped" out of about $210,468 for motor oils they never got but paid for, due to the discovery that fully 81 per cent of the pumps, cups, bottles, cans and jars used for measuring are "short" according to C. D. Baucom, State inspector of weights and measures. Mr. Baucom, who has recently made a check up, reports that quart oil bottles are made about four table-spoonful short and since about 6,750,000 gallons of oils were used in the State last year, the loss will reach well toward a quarter of a million dollars. No indictments have been made, but faulty measures have been condemned, Mr. Baucom said.

Raleigh people are excited over the investigation being made here by the Senator Nye committee on campaign expenditures, in charge of Senator Patterson, looking into the recent Democratic Senatorial primary. Both Democrats and Republicans, some of them, say that it is nothing but a political move or a fiasco, and all are confident that nothing indicating excessive campaign expenditures will be discovered or opened up.

Both Senator F. M. Simmons and his successful opponent, Josiah William Bailey, in their sworn statements showed that they had stayed within the $10,000 limit of campaign expenditures for the Senatorial nomination, and little else is expected to be discovered by the investigators. Both of the candidates and their headquarters were worried because they could not get or supply the funds their workers demanded during the campaign.

Although great secrecy attended the preliminary subpoenas for witnesses and it is understood several score have been asked to testify, it is not considered the hearing will last long and that nothing of an incriminating nature will be found.

The first annual State-wide Industrial Safety Conference, sponsored by the N. C. Industrial Commission and in direct charge of Commissioner T. A. Wilson, former president of the State Federation of labor, will held at High Point November 13-14, to be followed by group and trade conferences in other parts of the State. The purpose is to center attention of employers and employes on prevention of needless accidents in mills, factories, on highways and in the homes.

Compensation was awarded in 112 death claims and 47 are now pending as a result of accidents for the first year of the Workmen's Compensation act ending June 30, 1930, in which time weekly compensation was paid in 9,681 cases, medical costs paid in 24,350 cases and no compensation or medical costs paid in 3,339 accident cases in the State, Commissioner Wilson points out. He shows that a total of 101,750 weeks, equal to one man's service since the birth of Christ, was lost from industrial accidents last year.

Officials and employes of more than 1000 industrial plants and 500 doctors have been sent invitations to attend, the meeting being open to all interested in the prevention of accidents. Among the prominent speakers is C. E. Pettibone, Boston, former president of the National Safety Council, who speaks Friday afternoon, November 14, on "Mental Cause of Accidents."

Information sufficient to determine whether or not the North Carolina Tobacco Relief Association will undertake to form a pool and hold tobacco cooperatively for highest prices this season is expected to be in the hands of Dr. J. P. Knapp, secretary, for presentation to the executive committee within the next few days. The committee, under the plan presented by Governor Gardner, will decide of the amount signed up is sufficient to the association into operation this season, or wait until next year.

Meetings were held the past week at the county seats in most of the 50 counties interested in tobacco growing, as asked by Governor Gardner. The plan was explained by County Agents and agricultural teachers.

The county organization in many cases carried the plan into township meetings, the efforts being to see how much tobacco would be signed up for holding this season.

The Monday Night Bridge Club was entertained on October 13 by Mrs. Julian Allsbrook and the twelve guests present enjoyed a delightful game. After six progressions it was found that Mrs. Allen Zollicoffer held high score and she was given a prize. A salad course was served by the hostess at ten thirty. Those present were Mesdames Allen Zollicoffer, J. W. Ross, Howard Pruden, Hugh Camp, Frank Hawley, Tommie Gates, W. C. Williams, Frank Muller, Misses Ruth Transou, Margaret Clark, Florine Holt and Marjorie Cannon.

A woman's watch in good condition was found in a codfish landed at Dunbar, England.

Pharmacy Week

All this week, all over the United States the drug stores are observing Pharmacy Week.

The idea back of this country wide event is to give the public a better knowledge of the requirements of the present-day pharmacist—to let it know something about the specialized education and the practical training required of the person who compounds medicines and fills prescriptions.

The retail drug business is probably a little different than most retail lines. With a little experience and capital, almost any person can open up a retail shop and sell groceries, candies, meats, clothing, furniture and the like. But the drug business is different. Before a person can operate a drug store and compound prescriptions he must pass a rigid examination before a state board of pharmacy. And before he can even submit to an examination he must have at least four years of practical experience in the retail drug business. And, in addition he must graduate from a recognized college of pharmacy before the examination can be taken.

The standards of pharmacy are being raised. Educational requirements are more exacting than ever before. Examinations are more rigid. The idea, of course, is to keep out the unfit and protect the public. With his broad training, the pharmacist, as assistant to the physician, is ever ready to serve you in maintaining good health of the community.

Prepare For "Rainy Days"

The officials of the Halifax County Fair Association prepared for emergencies that might occur on account of inclement weather by buying rain insurance. Rain this week has interfered with the progress of the Halifax County Fair.

You, too, can prepare for future emergencies by laying aside a small amount each week to care for those "Rainy Days." Thrift prepares you to deal with emergencies.
