TO OUR CONTRIBUTORS

We have always, will always, welcome contributions from our readers and subscribers. We are especially interested in their contributions to the news columns, this being just what its name signifies, a newspaper.

But a small weekly newspaper has only so much space and if it continues to exist, a certain amount of that space must be devoted to advertisements, to straight news, to regular features upon which it can depend every week.

Therefore, we make this suggestion to our contributors. If you wish to help us and have your contributions printed, the first and most important fact to keep in mind is to get your contribution or copy in early. Why wait until Wednesday, our last day of grace, to send us something which happened Saturday of last week. Usually on Wednesday we find ourselves deluged with material from which we can only use a certain portion. And even then, we find ourselves late in getting to press on Thursday.

If your contribution is not news, by that we mean poems, editorial comment, card of thanks, obituaries, etc., there is more reason than ever for getting the copy to us at an early date, else it must be sidetracked for news and ads coming in at the last moment.

Another way to help us, especially on the non-news contributions, is by being brief and to the point. Just a few weeks ago, we received more than a dozen poems. Now we like poems, but we have readers that like them, but we can use only so many, and we prefer the short ones. After all, we are not running a poetry magazine.

All the larger newspapers charge for publishing cards of thanks and obituaries. We do not. Yet we must ask that these be brief also and that one set suffice. We have received recently a half dozen "In Memoriams" on the same death. We usually run one. In this case we did run two.

We don't wish to hurt anyone's feelings by not running their contributions and that is the reason for this editorial.

POTENTIAL MURDERERS

This week was another one of those crazy-quilt types that seem to come in cycles like good and bad business.

Just about every kind of accident, alarm, riot and crime that can happen to a community piled up on us. News is life. There will be a spell of calm and quietude when in newspaper jargon "nothing happens." Then like a sudden electrical storm, the whole world will flash upside down.

Usually such periods last only for the instant; are gone as quickly as the rainbow comes. But there is one sinister spot which can be traced through all the recent flurries of crime waves and mob hysteria. We speak of the growth and prevalence of hold-ups and thieving.

In our State last week at least four crimes of this nature were reported. The significant fact is the boldness with which such outrages are being perpetrated. It seems to be taking on the color of frontier days and Jesses James, when there was little law and less order.

There is every reason right now for added care on the part of the honest man and eternal vigilance on the part of the officers. Courts can do their share by placing the heaviest penalties. Every highwayman and thief is a potential murderer and should be dealt with as such.

VISITING ENFIELD

Tuesday night of this week, thirty men from here took the time from their business or social affairs to visit as many men gathered at Enfield.

A splendid supper and program was enjoyed. Men from every branch of business and professional life were present and a feeling of good fellowship and interest prevailed.

There is nothing which is more important to a community than a live service club. Kiwanis International insists that its members visit with other clubs, get acquainted with members in other towns. Kiwanis is the excuse to meet on common grounds.

Before the advent of Kiwanis, it would have been almost impossible to persuade thirty men from here to go down to Enfield and visit for an evening. It would have been impossible to get those men to perform, each doing his bit as a part of a highly entertaining program. Lasting friendships will be formed from just such meetings; lasting ties will be formed between communities too far separated by just a few minutes travel.

THE CANCER CLINIC

While only those who suspect cancer will gain by attending the clinic to be held here on the last three days of this month, the entire public should be interested in attending the lecture to be given here on October 24 by Dr. S. W. Budd of Richmond.

Especially should those who have reason to suspect cancer in themselves, relatives or friends attend this lecture. Treated in the early stages, cancer is conquerable by proper medical treatment. Even advanced cases have been radium-cured.

Drugs and similar treatments are useless although millions are spent each year by cancer victims for such treatments. Reputable physicians and specialists are giving their services free in these lectures and clinics and here is opportunity knocking at the door for many who could not ordinarily afford such an expense. Pass the good word along.

THE WORTH OF CREDIT

Work is well under way in the formation of a Credit Association for the retail merchants of the Twin Cities. The Association will simply help to guide the merchants by means of information gathered on the credit standing of those who desire credit.

While new here, this policy is followed by retail merchants in every large city in the country and in many of the smaller cities.

Credit means the belief in a man's truth, sincerity and reputation. It is a mark of honor when a merchant extends his credit. He is taking good, salable merchandise or service for which he has paid or must pay for at an early date and he is letting his customers have it with no other security than his belief in that man's sincerity and trustworthiness.

The trouble is that too many people take credit lightly when it is the most important feature in his intercourse with his fellowman. For a real citizen, give us a man who pays for his bills.

PROFESSIONAL ADVERTISING

It seems about time the members of the medical, dental and legal profession abandon their obsolete ethics as to newspaper advertising. No one outside of their own profession can understand their line of reasoning which forbids paid newspaper advertising.

The lawyer never objects when his local paper makes a report of a case he has made which advertises him and his business. He never recoils from any favorable mention of himself.

The doctors never suffer by loss of dignity when the newspapers broadcast new discoveries that have been made by their profession to benefit mankind and which increases business for themselves.

People do not know the causes, preventives and consequences of diseases as they should. They are entitled to know. Doctors should advertise these facts in paid newspaper advertising, using plain words so the people may know in time so they can see their doctor.

Because quacks have misused newspaper space is just the reason why the legitimate doctors should advertise. Too many people go to quacks and suffer thereby, due to the lack of advertising on the part of the medical profession.

Doctors Disagree
When children are irritable and peevish, grind their teeth and sleep restlessly; have digestive pains and disturbances, lack of appetite, and have itching eyes, nose and fingers, doctors will not always agree that they are suffering from worms. Many mothers, too, will not believe that their carefully brought up children can have worms. The fact remains that these symptoms will yield, in a great majority of cases, to a few doses of White's Cream Vermicide, the sure expellant of round and pin worms. If your child has any of these symptoms, try this harmless, old fashioned remedy, which you can get at 35c per bottle from
