TWIN CITY HAPPENINGS

DON'T EXPECT TOO MUCH
 Skies can't be always blue, and life is not a game. It won't always rain sugar for you. Others must have a chance.

You can't always take lady luck. And dance across the floor. Opportunity may knock. At the other fellow's door.

Your every job can't be a cinch. Nor can you win every bet. You can't by chance lose in the punch. Or hit too high and get set.

You can't always ride the gravy train. And wear a feather in your cap. Maybe someone else is out in the rain. Consider the other chap.

Fortune won't always smile on you. And the other fellow spurn. Misfortune may come along and then the tide will turn.

So if reverses come to you. If hardships you have stood, Remember—"tis an ill wind That blows nobody good."

—Mrs. Selena, Wright Davenport.

Born October 16 to Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Wright, a girl, to Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Mosley, a girl, on October 17.

Miss Ida Bell Wilson of Littleton is in the local hospital with appendicitis.

Mrs. W. C. Williams honored her niece, Miss Wilhelmina Branch on Tuesday evening at a bridge party. Guests were invited for four tables which were placed in the living room, where fall flowers were used. High score for the evening was won by Mrs. Clarence Grimmer, who was given a picture. A salad course was served at conclusion of the game. Those enjoying Mrs. Williams' hospitality were Mesdames Clarence Grimmer, Frank Wilson, T. W. Mullen, Julian Allsbrook, Frank Kemp, Cooper Grizzard, Allen Zollicoffer, Misses Marjorie Cannon, Virginia Forbes, Susan Womble, Thelma Toler, Ruth Transou, Susan Holliday, Hazel Cobb and Ruth White.

Miss Mary Ward Hall spent the week-end at her home in Scotland Neck.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Nixon spent the week-end with relatives in Columbia.

Mrs. Walter Lynch of White Plains, Va., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Joe Edwards on Jackson Street.

Mrs. C. P. Denton has returned to her home in Battleboro after spending some time here with relatives.

Miss Bowen of Winston-Salem is the guest of her sister, Miss Ellen Bowen.

On Friday afternoon Mrs. Hugh Camp was hostess to the Friday Bridge Club and a few invited friends at her home on Roanoke Avenue. Four tables were arranged in the living room where an interesting game was played. When the scores were collected, Mrs. Pendleton Grizzard was found to hold high score and was given a Cookie Jar as a prize. Miss Lucille Carlton was given a prize as winner of high score for guests. Those playing were Mesdames J. M. Jackson, W. S. Dean, Pendleton Grizzard, Julian Allsbrook, Frank Hawley, J. W. Ross, Carroll Wilson, Chas. Emry, Alfred Martin, Frank Kemp, Cooper Grizzard, W. C. Williams, Misses Susan Holliday, Lucille Carlton, Marjorie Cannon and Reba Ray.

Miss Helen House spent the week-end at her home in Bethel, N. C.

Miss Evelyn Tillman visited friends in Greenville, N. C., for the week-end.

Misses Lee Arnold and Irene Gordon spent the week-end in Fayetteville, N. C.

Mrs. Hugh Camp and daughter, Caroline, are spending this week in Franklin, Va.

Miss Virginia Norwood of Lawrenceville, Va., spent the week-end here with Miss Mattie Lee Taylor.

One whole floor of the proposed new navy building in Washington may be devoted to a naval museum filled with historical relics of famous warships.

The Waldon-Roanoke Rapids Fair is over, a success to many, a failure to a few. It provided a way to spend money foolishly, but it helped many to forget the stock market, debts, jobs, the coming winter and the problem of family food supply. A county fair is an institution; whether you like it or not matters little—it's an institution just the same.

We will admit it's dry—and the word dry, as used, refers to the lack of rain and not to any claimed result coming from our Noble Experiment. It's not so dry but what the corn crop will yield thirty gallons per acre and the apples, while small, will produce brandy, but—as far as rain is concerned—it's dry. We are advised there are no spots on the sun and this fact has caused the thought—if this is the case—what can we do about it?

A clean town produces a good impression. A town don't have to have wide streets, elegant homes and fine business establishments to create a good impression on visitors. It may have all of these, but if it remains in a state of poor house-keeping it produces an impression—but not a good one! Wilson and Edenton might be considered as examples in good house-keeping. Look these over when you pass through.

Can it be true that our Tree-Sitting Andy has landed on earth? Has he received a medal? Has he been offered a Hollywood position? Will he be elected Mayor? Will he be the next compromise candidate for Governor of the State? Will he just remain Roanoke Rapids' Tree-Sitting Andy?

A popular druggist, or Rosemary, entertained a few of his Roanoke Rapids sidewalk friends by playing a mouth harp. The time and place were well chosen, for the crowd gathered quickly. However, a passed hat failed to produce sufficient returns on effort, and the entertainment ceased.

Three loud cheers for our Uncle Sam (Wood)! The mail transportation truck has been painted. Do we make progress? I'll say we do and, besides, the Roanoke Avenue Residential woodyard has disappeared, too. WE CAN MAKE PROGRESS!

Reader's Column

Mr. Editor:
 Once upon a time an old resident who had held the same job for many years died rather suddenly. Another old resident who had not been known to most of us since General Cass was President, applied for and was given the job. Whereupon a local wag was moved to inquire—"Oh death, where is thy sting?"
