

Laugh Market Gets Bearish At Peoples

Buttons anchored to home ports with anything less than the best grade of brass rivets or steel cable, have a delicate tenure of office next Monday and Tuesday at the Peoples Theatre where The Four Famous Marx Brothers are doing in "Animal Crackers," something fifty million rib racked lovers of comedy believed impossible. They've made a talking and musical picture that takes up where "The Cocoanuts" left off, and ends with the last survivor being carried up the aisle by force, three strong ushers, and well—who is your favorite escort to the "booby-hatch?"

The story is something about a stately and socially proper hostess, with a house party on her hands at a palatial country estate. A big game hunter, just back from an African expedition, his secretary, and two va-gabond musicians engaged to attend to the musical appetite of the guests, is the business assigned Groucho, Zeppo, Harpo and Chico Marx, respectively.

They arrive simultaneously and with their usual hurricane momentum at a time when the festive gathering is being diverted by a butler weighing just a fraction less than a half ton, a feud between the hostess and a rival matron over the authenticity of a fine painting, and more pretty girls in lingerie and bathing suits than most revues boast. You understand what we mean by pretty when we say Lillian Roth heads the feminine talent.

In addition to the Marx Brothers and Miss Roth, the cast presents Margaret Dumont, Louis Sorin, Hal Thompson, Margaret Irving, Kathryn Reece, Richard Greig, Edward Metcalf and The Music Masters.

Oh-yes, fans who got such a big series of "moments" from the antics of Harpo and Chico with harp, oboe and piano in their first monkey piece, need experience no tenuity in approaching the new "animalshi" crack-erjack. Musical burlesque has a bag play, and the talents and tunes are as refreshing and diverting as before, along new lines.

"Love In The Rough" Golf Comedy

"Love in The Rough," which will come to the Peoples Theatre as a new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer offering, is a picturization of the stage musical comedy, "Spring Fever," by Vincent Lawrence.

The production is of particular interest in featuring Robert Montgomery, whose rapid ascent to film popularity has resulted in rumors to the effect that he will be starred in his next picture.

Montgomery, a juvenile of the New York stage, made his film debut a year ago in "So This Is College." He followed this by playing opposite Joan Crawford in "Untamed," then serving in a similar capacity with Norma Shearer in "Their Own Desire." His success sent him up the ladder swiftly, and more pretty girls in lingerie and bathing suits than most revues boast. You understand what we mean by pretty when we say Lillian Roth heads the feminine talent.

The feminine lead is played by Dorothy Jordan, who deserts her erst-while costume roles to depict a modern debutante who forgives her suitor for being penniless when he wins a golf championship. The picture, filmed almost all out-of-doors, with beautiful scenic backgrounds on fashionable golf links, presents a new form of film entertainment, being strictly a musical comedy yet devoid of chorus intrusion and other devices and licenses of the stage. It includes seven song hits, the first contributed to the screen by Miss Fields and McHugh. These numbers are "I'm Learning a Lot From You," "Go Home and Tell Your Mother," "I'm Doing That Thing," "Like Kelly Can," "One More Waltz," "Dance, Fool Dance," and an opening chorus. The song writing team are perhaps best known for their "Blackbird" revue songs and "I Can't Give You Anything But Love, Baby."

The supporting cast is headed by Benny Rubin, laugh favorite, who is paired with Dorothy McNulty, "Good News" dancing comedienne. They are cleverly teamed and provide a wealth of entertainment in dialog as well as in song numbers and general clowning. Also in the cast are J. C. Nugent, Allan Lane, Tyrell Davis, Catherine Moylan, Harry Burns, Roscoe Ates, Edward Davis and Clarence Wilson.

their local conditions. Rather, we control their business affairs. We are actually responsible for this plight they are in.

Why? Bungling Republicanism. First and foremost, stock speculation which drained the currency of our country from legitimate business and drew it to Wall Street on the assurance of Coolidge, Mellon and Hoover that the market rise was due to the prosperity of the country. With 5 billion dollars in circulation, the loans to the stockholders on the exchange was permitted to reach the enormous sum of eight and a half billions.

The remedy: The Republican party, thru the Federal Reserve Act could have controlled the stock market speculation. Instead, thru its leaders, it encouraged it. The result was the crash and disaster.

Another indictment by the speaker dealt with farmer and tariff. A special session to help the farmer. A special tariff. Still farm produce prices dropped. A Republican tariff, to which 20 nations of the world complained and raised retaliatory walls which cut off the farm exports of our country. A third of our cotton, a third of our tobacco had been sent to foreign countries. This trade has been lost because of the Hawley-Smoot tariff fact. 15c American cigarettes selling for $1.30 in Europe.

A special farm relief board in operation since April, 1929, with a half billion dollars to spend, promising 16 cent cotton has repudiated that promise and ruined farmer and manufacturer.

Twenty-nine commissions, and 70,000 office holders instead of proposed Hoover efficiency.

Utter lack of leadership on the part of the President while the nation starves and millions walk the streets without jobs or hopes of work.

A Wickersham commission which has spent a quarter million dollars and made one report: That the Prohibition laws are being violated, as everyone knows.

And a dozen other indictments of similar nature.

The remedy: Says Mr. Bailey, agree old line Democrats, the remedy is in the Democratic party, the party which believes fundamentally that the people and not privilege should rule. With equal rights to all, special privilege to none, the Democratic party has lived to see a hundred parties live and die. It is the only old party left. The Republican party has lived only since the Civil War. The Democratic party is based on a principle. The Republican party was born of an emergency and has lived on because opportunity and luck has favored it. Such a party is doomed to failure and it has been found out, concluded Mr. Bailey. Democracy has and will stand the test. It is the party which will curb speculation, renew world trade, and bring back to the country the respect and friendship of the rest of the world and prosperity and happiness to its own people.

TWIN CITY HAPPENINGS

Mrs. Frank Joyner spent several days in Richmond this week.

Miss Clara Hearne attended the Northwestern District of the North Carolina Educational Association at High Point recently and made a talk on Character Education.

The Welfare Department of the Womens Club met Monday afternoon Oct. 27th with the chairman, Mrs. T. M. Jenkins on Jackson Street. A number of families were reported as having been helped with clothing, food and school books. One World War Soldier was given assistance by the Red Cross. Mrs. A. E. Akers was appointed to complete plans for the Christmas program at the general meeting of the club which will be given in December. Mrs. Jenkins urged each member of the department to cooperate with the Roll Call Chairman, Mrs. F. G. Jarman when called upon. Those present at this meeting were Mesdames W. L. Long, A. E. Akers, C. N. Wheeler, Bahnsen Weathers, R. L. Towe, W. G. Lynch, W. V. Womble, T. M. Jenkins.

The Monday Night Bridge Club met with Mrs. Cooper Grizzard on October 27 at her home on Jackson Street. There were twelve players present and an interesting game was played. After six progressions the scores were collected and Miss Ruth Transou was given a pair of silk hose as winner of high score. A salad course was served at ten thirty. Those playing, Mesdames Frank Hawley, J. W. Ross, Julian Allsbrook, Allen Zollinger, Howard Pruden, George Hayes, David Traynham, W. C. Williams, Misses Ruth Transou, Margaret Clark, Reba Ray and Florine Holt.

Mesdames Eugene Wilson and George Lampley were joint hostesses at a bridge party Monday evening at their home on Monroe Street honoring Mrs. William Allgood, a popular recent bride. Three tables were arranged for playing in the living room which was decorated with Halloween decorations. Fall flowers were also used. After several progressions a Halloween clown entered the room and presented Mrs. Allgood with a black cat basket which contained many linen handkerchiefs. High score prizes were presented Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Edmondson. A salad course was served the following: Misses Helen Turner, Catherine Hines, Mr. and Mrs. Al George, Mr. and Mrs. William Allgood, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Edmondson, Messrs Grover Woodruff, Eugene Wilson and George Lampley.
