RESULTS OF COTTON FERTILIZER DEMONSTRATION AT THE SPRINGS

"Proper fertilization has always been an important factor in farming operations," stated E. K. Veach, vocational agricultural teacher of Aurelian Springs High School.

"As a means of aiding us in a study of various fertilizer methods for cotton, the Chilean Nitrate Educational Bureau furnished the materials for a demonstration this past season. Joseph Liles, son of J. R. Liles, Littleton, agreed to do the work. The demonstration was located on sandy loam soil of as near uniform fertility as it was possible to find. Mexican Lig Boll cotton seed were used and the cultural methods were the same on all plots."

The following gives the fertilization and yield of each plot on an acre basis: Plot 1 received 300 pounds of 8-3-3 and yielded 1140 lbs. seed cotton. Plot 2 received 300 pounds 8-3-3 and 200 lbs. Chilean Nitrate and gave a yield of 1840 pounds. Plot 3 was fertilized with 400 pounds Acid Phosphate and 50 pounds Muriate of Potash and gave a yield of 1100 lbs. Plot 4 received the same fertilizer as plot 3 in addition to 50 pounds of Chilean Nitrate at planting and 150 Pounds Chilean Nitrate as a side dressing, and gave a yield of 1900 pounds seed cotton.

"Each farmer should study the fertilization and yields of these various plots, because there are some valuable lessons that will be worth noting when planning for next year's fertilizers," continued Mr. Veach.

An interesting feature of this demonstration was a field meeting and estimating contest held in September. Prizes were offered by the Chilean Nitrate Educational Bureau to those making the least error in the estimate of the yields. Julian Shaw won first place, Henry Cooke, second place and Jesse Liles, third place.

"The results of this demonstration together with experiment station recommendations will be used in our evening class work when studying fertilizers," stated Mr. Veach.

The first day of the month is now pay-day instead of the first Monday, as formerly. This gives the commissioners more time to look after the affairs of their constituents, say the knowing ones.

The Al Capone of this section having been caught, tried and convicted, the damper has been closed so far as bootlegging is concerned in this territory.

"How are you prospering these days?" I asked one of our most progressive farmers last Sunday. "Prospering?" came the quick response. "Well, there is nothing doing in that line. My tobacco is gone, got scarce nothing for it, not half the cost of producing it. Peanuts quoted a t about one half of what they sold for last year. Cotton 6c and it cost 8c to make it; got plenty of corn, but it is worth very little, so I have nothing to gloat over. There is something needed and if you will read the 118th Psalm, 25th verse you will find out what it is. Good bye," he said, with a forlorn look on his face. "Come to see me."

The Herald is rapidly gaining more and more favor with the people each issue, they

"Honor the man who is willing to sink One half his repute for his freedom to think,

And when he has thought, Be the cause strong or weak Will risk 'tother half For his freedom to speak."

And such, they say, is the editor of The Herald. A man once tried to edit a paper to suit everybody. He is dead now. Died in a lunatic asylum.

The long spell of dry weather has been fine on the gathering of crops but has played havoc with the gardens in this section. The small grain crops, such as rye etc., is also suffering for rain at this time, Tuesday evening.

The cotton gins at Halifax and also at Pierce's Cross Roads are running full capacity and give employment to many in their operation. They, too, will soon come to a standstill, which means more unemployment.
