"SPECTATOR" SPECULATES

The lame-duck Congress will be urged to throw away its crutches and go in for a swim.

Every time that Europe looks across to see the American Eagle it observers only the rear end of an ostrich.

Bootleggers and hijackers had better be looking for new occupations.

Teeth are those little white things that are removed just before the doctors say, "It must be the tonsils, then."

Maybe what Hoover really meant by his prophecy of grass in the industrial centers, if the Democrats won, was that the cities would once more behold the long green.

Is prosperity around the corner of the ballot box?

Yours,
"SPECTATOR."

Parker Affirmed

The youngest member of the judiciary, Judge R. Hunt Parker, was affirmed in his first case to be decided by the Supreme Court. The point, one new in this State and on which the highest courts of other States have differed, was whether or not the proceeds of a government life insurance policy is liable for the debts of the distributees of the insured. The soldier died and monthly payments were made to his parents. Upon their death the brother and sister claimed the proceeds free of debts of their parents. Judge Parker held with them and was upheld by the appellate court.

ON BEING THANKFUL

(President's Address Junior Class) There may be times when we are not as thankful as we should be because we think maybe our luck is not with us. But no matter what the incident may be, we always have something to be thankful for.

Beautiful flowers, homes, trees, and many other things that we term as small and insignificant, may just as well fill our hearts with sunshine and happiness and make us thankful; as for the larger ones, as wealth, expensive cars, fine furs and costly rings.

We should be thankful that we are living, that we have a chance to do something to make the world better before we leave, for some people who do not have a chance.

We have a home in which to live, a chance to go to school—all these things should make us give thanks for there are thousands who do not and have not had these chances.

EDWARD D. LUTER, Pres.,
Junior Class 1932-33.

Misses Amanda and Evelyn Tillman spent Thanksgiving in their home at Cary.

BUD 'N' BUB

By ED KRESSY

GET INTO THE ROCKET-PLANE BOYS AND WE'LL VISIT LANDS WHERE VARIOUS TYPES OF BOATS ARE USED.

FROM THE VERY EARLIEST MAN HAS DEvised ALL SORTS OF QUEER AND INGENIOUS CRAFT & FROM SUCH THINGS AS REEDS, BARK, SKINS, HIDES etc. EVEN TODAY NATIVES PADDLE ACROSS THE EUPHRATES ON INFLATED GOAT SKINS

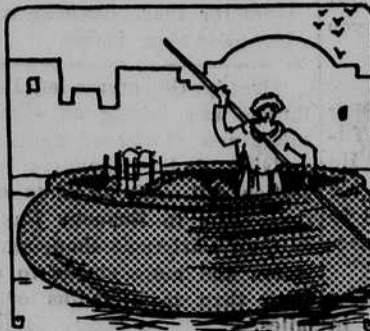

THE COVERING IS LACED ABOUT THE PADDLER'S WAIST.

PROBABLY THE MOST PERFECT SKIN CANOES ARE THOSE OF THE ESKIMOS. THEIR 'KAYAK' OR HUNTERS CANOE IS MADE OF WHALEBONE AND LATH FRAMEWORK. OUR NORTH AMERICAN INDIANS WERE VERY EXPERT CANOE-BUILDERS AND NAVIGATORS.

TODAY ON THE STEPPES OF EUROPE & ASIA ARE FOUND SMALL CRAFT CALLED PELOTA'S MADE OF OX HIDE, IN WHICH GOODS ARE PLACED. THE NATIVES SWIM OVER A RIVER PULLING THE PELOTA AFTER THEM BY MEANS OF A LONG CORD.

THE ROUND BASKET-BOAT ON THE TIGRIS IS CALLED A KUFAS. PEOPLE & FREIGHT OF ALL KINDS ARE CARRIED IN IT ACROSS THE RIVER OR DOWN STREAM. PADDLING A LOADED KUFAS UP-STREAM IS NOT SUCCESSFUL.

IT'S PRETTY NEAR SUPPER-TIME PROFESSOR. HADN'T WE BETTER BE GETTING BACK?
