

RECORDER AIRS OUT 20 CASES TUESDAY

Little Variance In Cases Before Recorder's Court

Of the twenty cases tried in Recorder's Court Tuesday liquor charges led with six cases. There were three cases each of assault with deadly weapon and driving while drunk, two cases each of larceny and reckless driving, and one each of carrying concealed weapon and driving while drunk, fornication and adultery, receiving stolen goods and affray.

In the case of Luther McWilliams and Spooner McWilliams, charged with carrying concealed weapon and driving while drunk, Luther McWilliams plead guilty and Spooner McWilliams plead not guilty. Spooner McWilliams was found not guilty. Luther McWilliams was fined $100 and costs. Defendant not to drive an automobile for five months.

Albert Story and Bertha McWilliams, who were tried for fornication and adultery, both plead guilty. Albert Story was sentenced to five months in jail to be assigned to work the roads. Prayer for judgment was continued as to Bertha McWilliams.

Albert Dixon, charged with assault with deadly weapon, plead not guilty, but was found guilty and sentenced to eight months in jail to be assigned to work the roads.

J. L. Wilkerson, who was tried on liquor charges, plead not guilty. He was found guilty, however, and sentenced to four months in jail to be assigned to work the roads.

George White, who was tried for larceny, plead not guilty. He was found guilty, however, and sentenced to five months in jail to be assigned to work the roads.

Walter Hill, charged with receiving stolen goods, plead guilty and was sentenced to five months in jail to be assigned to work the roads. Sentence to be suspended on condition defendant gives $100 bond to guarantee his appearance first Tuesday of each month for one year and show good behavior and pays the costs.

The case of W. C. Holston, who was up on liquor charges, was continued.

In the case of John Thompson, William Allen, Lung Tippet, and John Allen, who were tried on liquor charges, Tippet plead not guilty. John Thompson, not guilty, William Allen not guilty. Lung Tippet and John Thompson were found guilty, and William Allen was found not guilty. Tippet, John Allen and Thompson were sentenced to four months in jail to be assigned to work the roads.

Otto Faison, charged with larceny, plead guilty, and was sentenced to five months in jail to be assigned to work the roads. Sentence was suspended, however, on good behavior and on condition defendant pays the costs and the sum of $25 into the office of Clerk for the use of Mrs. May Carlyle.

Willie Brown, charged with reckless driving, plead guilty of speeding. Prayer for judgment was continued on payment of costs.

In the case of Lillie May Richardson, who was charged with affray, defendant was called and failed. Capias and continued.

In the case of Caroline Whitaker who was up on liquor charges, defendant was called and failed. Capias and continued.

P. C. Gregory, charged with driving while drunk and reckless driving, plead guilty. He was ordered to pay $50.00 fine and costs. Defendant not to drive an automobile for five months.

R. M. Taylor, charged with transportation and possession of liquor, plead guilty of unlawful possession. He was ordered to pay $5.00 and costs.

Tom Short, charged with driving while drunk, plead guilty. He was fined $50.00 and costs. Defendant is not to drive an automobile for five months.

Blake Patterson, who was tried on liquor charges, plead guilty of unlawful possession and transportation. He was sentenced to six months in jail to be assigned to work the roads. Capias to issue for road sentence on April 28, 1933, and any time within three years, provided defendant pays a fine of $50 and costs.

James Johnson, charged with reckless driving, plead guilty, and was sentenced to five months in jail to be assigned to work the roads. Sentence to be suspended on condition defendant remains of good behavior for two years and that he does not drive an automobile for one year, and that he pay a fine of $10.00 and costs.

Will Rogers Picks A Story For This Spot

SOME of the queerest letters written find their way into newspaper offices. It seems the natural thing to do when a bug has something crazy to say to tell it to a poor overworked editor. But once in a while a really funny one comes along, and that reminds me of a letter received by the editor of a tabloid newspaper for his "Embarrassing Moments" column.

The paper pays a dollar apiece for these letters and this one ran as follows:

"I work on the late shift in an automobile factory and came home an hour early last night. I found another man with my wife and was awfully embarrassed. Please send me $2.00 because my wife was also embarrassed."

The editor sent a check for $3.00 since he was sure the stranger was embarrassed, too.

Our personal opinion (worth little or less) on results of Roosevelt—McDonald—Herriot—etc. conferences:

1. Resumption of gold standard by America, Britain, France; eventually by the world.
2. Revision of war debts.
3. Lower tariffs here and abroad.
4. World armament reductions.

And if F. D. R. accomplishes any 50 per cent of our hunches, put him down with the late, much-missed Lon Chaney, as a Miracle Man.

If you want fun—the fun of walking plenty—try to get in a Washington hotel during April—the Cherry Blossom season. We walked plenty blocks because we failed to reserve rooms, and saw plenty others in the same plight. Didn't look like Depression here. Hotel clerks got their old supercilious air of "and who are you?" back again. That's a sure sign of better times.

Herald Composing Room "Gets Fancy"

One of the Herald compositors wanted to show you his impression of Maurice Chevalier, so we have the popular French star above, straw hat, protruding underlip, and everything . . . made from type! Chevalier's latest picture "A Bed-time Story" will be shown in the city soon. (Note to Advertisers: Please do not request any of this "fancy type-setting" in your ads.)

and representing a variance of only a few minutes over their old schedules. These two trains have heretofore not been carrying mail, but will after Nos. 14 and 15 are discontinued.

According to the new set-up of Seaboard passenger trains serving Roanoke Rapids, the city will have only two trains daily each way. To Norfolk at 5:08 A. M., and 10:30 A. M. To Norlina at 12:02 P. M. and 6:23 P. M. Train No. 18, due to arrive here at 6:23 P. M. in the past has recognized Roanoke Rapids only as a "flag stop". Due to the fact that this train will now carry mail, it will stop regularly at the station.

The recently announced low, round-trip, week-end fares to Norfolk over the Seaboard will continue unaffected until September, being good on all trains for that destination, and altho it has not yet been announced, it is rumored the Seaboard may run a special train each Saturday, for the seaport town, returning Sunday afternoon thru-out the summer months to take care of week-end excursionists.
