SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By ANN PAGE

"No price is set on the lavish summer June may be had on the poorest corner."

AND June is here, with its bounty—heaped up beauty for the eyes and for the palate. Bridal June makes it easy for the June Bride to set up her housekeeping. Warm days invite cold foods, fruits, salads, cold cooked meats, refrigerator desserts, and iced beverages.

The stores offer suggestions with their green produce stands, colorful fruit counters, cooked meats in variety, cheeses galore and the dependable tin can. Picnic supplies offered include jellies, preserves, pickles and olives.

Most of us wish to take advantage of the fresh foods each in its season and among them to be found this week are new potatoes, cantaloupe and asparagus. Spinach, green peas and strawberries are also very plentiful.

The Quaker Maid Kitchen this week offers three simple menus to the June bride.

First Farm Loan to Illinois Farmer

The first loan under President Roosevelt's $200,000,000 Emergency Farm Loan Bill was made at the St. Louis office of the Federal Land Bank. Photo shows E. A. Lawyers Question Constitutionality Of Legislature

The question has been raised by well-versed lawyers of the State as to whether a single one of the 1400 acts passed by the 1933 General Assembly is constitutional—on the ground that the General Assembly was not properly or constitutionally constituted. The Constitution directs that the senatorial districts of the State be rearranged and that the representatives be reapportioned among the counties after every federal enumeration. The 1931 General Assembly did not do this and, it is claimed, nothing done by the 1933 body, which was not formed as the constitution requires, is constitutional.

The retail merchants have stated at times and by groups that they will resist the three percent general sales tax imposed by the last legislature, and it is likely that, if action is brought to resist it, the unconstitutional nature of the General Assembly will be used as one argument to show that the sales tax is not constitutional. All of the other laws, Revenue, Appropriations, Machinery School Machinery, and all public, public-local and private laws, would be unconstitutional, if a case should reach and the N. C. Supreme Court hold that the General Assembly was not constitutionally constituted, as some of the lawyers claim the court would hold.

Cotton is coming up to a fine stand all over North Carolina according to reports from county farm agents and many growers are planning to increase their acre yields this season by top-dressing with quick-acting nitrogen fertilizer.

Young Demos May Adopt Resolution Favoring Repeal

Repeal or no repeal of the 18th amendment is expected to come up at the annual meeting of the North Carolina Clubs of Young Democrats, to be held at Wrightsville Beach, July 8, at which Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus and Senator Robert R. Reynolds will be the principal speakers.

President J. Dewey Dorsett said he had heard that resolutions would be presented at the morning session at 10 o'clock seeking to put the organization on record in favor of repeal. The two prominent speakers will address the banquet at night. There's intimation that Senator Reynolds will launch his campaign for repeal of the prohibition amendment in this his first appearance in the State since election last fall. At least 500 young Democrats are expected.

Superintendents Of County Schools Told To Hire Accountant

Raleigh, June 7. — Letters to county school superintendents have been sent out by Charles M. Johnson, director of Local Government advising them that if they have not already done so, to make a contract with some accounting firm for the audit of the school records of the county for the fiscal year 1932-33, forward the audit to him and held until all are received, when they will be turned over to the State School Commission, and returned when approved.

Mr. Johnson reminds that the part the State will pay on these contracts will come from the $16,000,000 school fund, and, as all school folks have been reduced as to salaries, the cost of auditing should be reduced in line. Also, he points out, the books should be posted to date before the audit is made.

All contracts are to be executed and forwarded to the Local Government office in triplicate, and bills rendered in performance of services in accordance with the contract must be forwarded to the Local Government office for approval.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Doyle spent the week-end in Emporia, Va., with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Yates.
