Funeral For Accident Victim This Afternoon

UP AND DOWN The Avenue WITH THE EDITOR

Miss Lucille Carlon, nurse in charge of the clinic of Doctors Beckwith and Weathers in the Rosemary mill section, reports a very notable increase in the number of people applying for the free typhoid shots, since the publicity given this subject in the Herald a couple of weeks ago.

Saturday, July 1st, will be the last date possible to start the course of three shots necessary to immune one from typhoid, but those applying on that date for their first shot will be given the other two necessary to complete the course at intervals of one week from the date of each shot.

From today's Richmond News-Leader:

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Ravdin announce the engagement of their daughter, Jennette, to Samuel Marks, son of Mrs. Rosa Marks and the late B. Marks, of Roanoke Rapids, N. C. The wedding will take place in July.

Last week a man shuffled up to the bar at Kidd's Place, downtown, and called for a stein like a veteran. After drinking it, he declared he was 62-years-old, and that this was the first time in his life he had ever had a glass of real beer, and that he liked it!

Curtis C. Shell, owner and manager of The Quality Shop, announces he will move his place of business from the Smith Building, where he has been located for several months, to the Crew building, in the store-room formerly occupied by the Pure Food Store. It is not known who will occupy the present location of the Quality Shop or if it has been rented yet.

Mr. Shell, popular merchant, gives "lower operating overhead" as his sole excuse for changing his location, and further states that "In these days when everyone is looking for values, it makes it necessary for one always to be on the alert for ways to save in overhead. We invariably pass these savings along to our customers."

Jesse Rice Dies In 50-ft. Fall At Local Paper Mill

Funeral services for Jesse Rice, 32-year-old local man who fell a distance of 50-feet to his almost instant death while at work on the roof of the soda plant building of the Halifax Paper Corporation here Tuesday afternoon, were held Thursday, June 15th, with Rev. Herbert Baucom, Jr., officiating.

A very large assembly of friends and relatives attended the funeral, and interment was at Roanoke Rapids Cemetery.

Pall bearers were: Ross Edwards, Eddie Kidd, Bruce Rook, Clarence Mosley, H. M. Hudson and L. H. Jenkins.

The accident came as a shock to the many friends of young Rice, and is one of the few fatalities that has occurred at a Roanoke Rapids industrial plant in many months.

HOSPITAL TRUSTEES MEETING

Roanoke Mills Co. Will Build
Clinic At Corner Second
And Jackson Streets

School Continued

The regular monthly meeting of the trustees of the Roanoke Rapids Hospital was held on Monday, June 12th in one of the class rooms on the first floor of the Nurses Home.

Pursuant to the established regulation, which has been in effect since the present hospital was built, the following constitute the Board of Trustees:

- Mr. Kelly Jenkins,
- Mr. W. F. Joyner,
- Mr. W. L. Manning,
- Mr. F. M. Brown,
- Mr. J. T. Chase,
- Mr. S. T. Peace,
- Dr. John Martin,
- Dr. F. G. Jarman,
- Dr. R. P. Beckwith,
- Dr. Bahnsen Weathers,
- Dr. Covington.

The Hospital Staff is composed of the doctors mentioned above, all of whom will have office space in the hospital. It was brought out that in order to take care of the mill employees better, quicker and with less inconvenience to them that the Roanoke Mills Company is building a clinic on the site of the old Methodist Church at the corner of Second and Jackson Streets for the use of Drs. Jarman and Covington. This is in line with the clinic maintained in the South Ward by the Rosemary Mfg. Co., for Drs. Beckwith and Weathers, and the clinic maintained in the Patterson Mill Village for Dr. Martin.

Chief of the Medical Staff, Dr. Beckwith, reported that after a detailed study had been made, the staff recommended that the student school for nurses be continued and the Trustees so ordered.

After investigation of the prices charged, at other hospitals, for meals for special nurses on special cases, upon the recommendation of Dr. Martin a reduction in these
