

JUNIORS AS HOSTS

Roanoke Rapids Juniors will be hosts to the 22nd district North Carolina Jr. O. U. A. M. on Friday, November 17th.

A large crowd is expected in Roanoke Rapids that day from the eleven Councils in Halifax, Northampton, Hertford and Bertie Counties, which comprise the 22nd District. The total membership in this district is around 400.

A well planned program is being planned by the local Council which includes speeches by State Councillor Siske and other notables and an old fashioned barbecue and brunswick stew dinner.

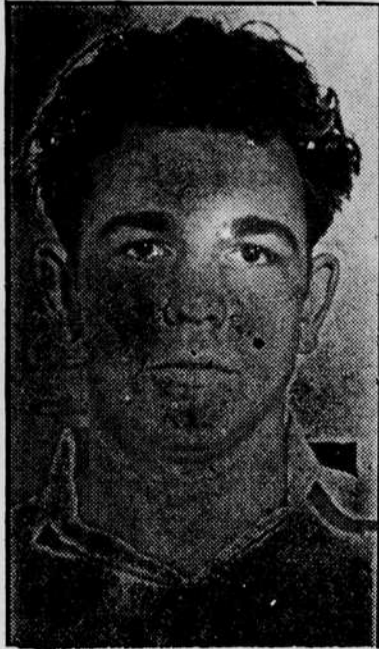

DON'T NEGLECT

It is particularly unwise to allow leaks to spring and be temporarily "patched up," because although you may spend only a couple of dollars a tth etime—you will eventually run into trouble, and have to undertake a much greater cost in the replacement of the affected pipes. It is far cheaper and wiser to have a thorough job done immediately—and as soon as possible—because lower labor costs now prevail than will later in the season—and plumbing materials are also cheaper.

Secretary Wallace minces no words. He says inflation is possible in three months unless—

Quite a number from Roanoke Rapids attended the Duke-Tennessee football game in Durham last Saturday.

FREE AT LAST

John D. Cannon, Roanoke Rapids boy, who has been held under a $10,000 bond in the Cannon murders, was a free man Tuesday.

On motion of the defense, the Boydton, Va., court ruled Tuesday that Cannon could no longer be held on the bond posted after the preliminary hearing when he was held for grand jury action.

The killing of four Cannons, relatives of John, was in March of this year in Mecklenburg County, Virginia.

Cannon was also questioned here last week in connection with the slaying of Marvel Cullom, who was a witness in the preliminary hearing of the Virginia case. Officers here were convinced he had nothing to do with the Cullom murder.

The boy left the first of this week for Burlington to resume work in a cotton mill there.

VETERAN SALESMAN INJURED

Travelling Man Unconscious For 24-Hours After Auto Wreck SMASHES TRUCK

W. H. Norris, Norfolk travelling salesman, is in Roanoke Rapids Hospital suffering minor injuries as the result of colliding with a truck about 1½-miles from Weldon Tuesday morning. Mr. Norris was enroute home, after spending the night in Weldon, and side-swiped the truck when something went wrong with the steering apparatus of the car he was driving. The driver of the truck sensed something was wrong with the approaching car, and pulled off the highway as far as possible with his truck. He was absolved of any blame in the case by Norris.

Mr. Norris is suffering from an injury to his back. He was given first aid treatment at a Weldon doctor's office, later being brought to the Hospital here, where he did not regain consciousness until yesterday morning. His wife and son were summoned to his bedside, but it is thot he will be able to resume his travels by Sunday.

Mr. Norris has been travelling Eastern Carolina for 43-years, and is well-known in this section. Little over three-weeks ago, his car plunged into the Cashie river at Windsor, N. C., and was submerged in 25-feet of water. The veteran travelling salesman managed to come out of this accident little the worse for the experience,

THE REASON PEOPLE DON'T SING THE OLD SONGS ANYMORE IS BECAUSE SOME ONE TURNS ON THE RADIO AND DROWNS 'EM OUT WITH NEW ONES.

Alligood's Trojans Win From Midgets

Bill Alligood's junior football team, the Trojans, defeated Vick's Midgets 6 to 0 in a hard fought game Saturday at Simmons Field.

The only score came in the third quarter when M. C. Mosley scored on a reverse play and went 30 yards for a touchdown. Both lines did splendid work with Perkinson and Hudson main cogs for the losers.

and his car was lifted to the shore. Very little damage was done to the car in Tuesday's accident.

Judge Parker Holds Night Court Ahsokie

In an effort to clear up the ninety-odd criminal cases on the docket of Hertford County superior court and to head off an impending special term of court for the county, Judge R. Hunt Parker has ordered night sessions of his court this week. Monday—the opening day of the session—court held a night session until after 9 o'clock. The net result of the first day's work, including the organization process, instructions to the grand jury and the impanelling of petit jurors, was the completion of a least 15 of the case awaiting trial.

First Frost Kills Off Vegetation

The last remnants of vegetation on the farms and in the gardens were sent to partial death by the first frost of the season. Few crops are left to feel the sting of frosts, sweet potatoes being the major crop still unharvested. Vines of this crop are sometimes killed by frost.

Comparatively mild weather accompanied the season's first blanket of frost, and there has been a slight moderation in the temperature that prevailed over the week-end.

He appreciates

The smartest feet in the Waldorf, yet she's been on them all day

He knows she's been busy all day. Yet here she is—rested—smart. Everything about her right. Even her shoes—so trim and good looking!

If you're a busy woman—at home or office—you'll be truly delighted with the new Natural Bridge Shoes we're showing this Fall.

Snug about the heels; plenty of room through the toes and in-step. Take a step in them and you'll know what proper arch support means.

And the reasonable prices of these shoes surprises everyone!

One of the smart shoes in the new Natural Bridge Line. Styled to enhance the natural grace of your foot and give lasting foot-ease. Carried in either black or brown kid.

Natural Bridge Shoes

Leggett's DEPT. STORE

A Stunning New Group Of DRESSES

Awaits you at LEGGETT'S this Week End—and they are very conservatively priced at—

$4.95

Our Famous "Half Sizes" in This New Group. 12's to 44's Special Selections for Stouts

What a rare group! They're just about the best-looking frocks to be had at $4.95. The styles are fashion's newest. Materials include Silks, Silk and Wools, Knitted and All-Wool Angorettes. Everything about them (especially the low price) mark them as DEFINITE VALUES!

Store Hours Daily: 9 A. M. to 6

The Home of Better Values Leggett's DEPT. STORE

Open Friday Until 8 Sat. 'til 10

WE DO OUR PART