

SCHOOL BUS WRECK

3 ARE SEVERELY INJURED, OTHERS BRUISED AT HALIFAX

J. B. Barnhill, driving school bus No. 40, in route to Weldon High School with some twenty-five or thirty high school students from Halifax, met in head-on collision with an automobile driven by a Mr. Gibbs, of Winter Haven, Fla. The wreck occurred about one mile North of Halifax about 8:30 Tuesday morning.

Sara Jennings, Elizabeth Applewhite and Rosemond Bozard were severely cut and bruised about the face. Nearly all of the students were shaken up badly, several receiving cuts and bruises of a minor nature.

Mr. Gibbs and his wife received cuts and bruises, the latter being unable to board train or bus and continue her journey to Florida.

The front of the school bus was smashed up badly, breaking several glasses and doing damages to the chassis and motor. The car driven by Mr. Gibbs was overturned and burned to ashes.

It was stated that the school bus attempted to pass a produce truck, which was traveling in the same direction, and the driver of the produce truck increased his rate of speed, thus prohibiting the school bus's passing. This forced the school bus driver to go head-on into the approaching car without an opportunity to get back on his right hand side of the road.

What actions will be taken by Mr. Gibbs to recover his damages are unknown. School bus transportation is now under supervision of the State, which does not carry insurance; nor can it be sued.
