Armistice Day to me is a day of rejoicing and thanksgiving. It signifies the conclusion of the most terrible war in the history of the world, a war that is an unforgivable blot on the record of civilization. Millions of men gave up their lives on the battlefields in defense of their homes and countries. The world was thrown in a turmoil. International relations were at a standstill. Millions of innocent and helpless people suffered. Billions of dollars that could have been used in the advancement of civilization were thrown away on a war that could have been avoided.

Defenseless women and children were fired on and sunk in mid-ocean, without a chance of being saved from death in the relentless sea, by monsters who called themselves men. Hate and fear was bred in the hearts and minds of the nations at war with each other. How can nations cooperate and work together for the good of all if each nation secretely hates and fears the other. It cannot be done. We should let this horrible war be a warning to future generations.

War is often glorified. Bands play inspiring music; soldiers clad in clean, bright uniforms parade down the streets; flags flutter in the breeze; people sing patriotic songs and cheer wildly. But all of this does not picture the horrors of war. It would be more fitting if miserable wretches clothed in tattered, dirty, bloody clothing, men maimed and mutilated by high explosives, men condemned to a living death by deadly gases used in warfare, and men moaning and crying out in agony were given as examples of the so called "glory of war."

Few people think of the mothers and fathers whose loved ones have gone off to war, of the agonies they suffer for fear that those loved ones might be snatched away from them by the cruel hands of war. They do not consider the desolate, bleach, shattered, war torn villages that were peaceful and beautiful before they were destroyed by the ravages of war. the green forests and smiling, grassy, sunlit meadows, where birds sang and the itmid creatures of nature liver, battered and blasted out of all semblance to its former self, and covered with crumpled, inert bodies that gave folly of war.

EAR TROUBLE

Being deaf, or even partially so, is nothing less than a real misfortune. To not be able to hear perfectly is a real deprivation. To miss those soft, sweet chords in the mucis-to be shut out from that wood-bird song-the whipporwill, the Bob-white! I recall when spuirrel-hunting-I could plainly hear my gamey tid-bit, gnawing into the hickory-nuts, as I moved slyly about in the forest, rifle at a "ready."

A first symptom of impaired hearing is,-ringing noises in the ears. It may occur so gradually that the victim does not notice the slight buzzing that is aggravated by "taking cold." It may then be described as a "roaring!" Granted mute evidence to the horror and that one has not a cold, or any other recognizable infection, and yet his ears ring-few adults or those past middle-age are totally free from it.

This symptom may persist for years, and not cause the patient to seek relief. It is a little affair, but one that may repay a little in-

Remember, ringing in the ears usually has its origin in the eardrum-the part you can reach with the awful "ear-spoon," or head of a pin, or match-or any other unwise thing! The ear-drum, bear in mind. It is being interfered | North Carolina, to obtain a divorce with, and sounds its warning. What to do? Well-see that there is no undue accumulation of material in the ear. Wash out gently with syringe and comfortable warm water-do it very gently and yet thoroughly-once a day. Keep he external canal clean-free from

This done-and the noises keep right on! Most cases are from hardening of the ear-drum. My practice is to get Oil of Mullein, and put a few drops in the ear once or twice a day. This is a vegetable oil that seems to work well. See your doctor.
