'Iron Horse' Goes Streamline

TAR HEELS MEETING

By Leon Knight

The Aurelian Springs Young Tar Heel Farmer Chapter met last Thursday in their chapter house and a very interesting program was given which consisted of the following: Devotional, farm poem, farm stories, farm jobs for the winter months, and a musical number. Apparently the boys are becoming more interested in our programs since we started making most of our programs consist of the following heads: (1) Devotional (2) Literary (3) Technical and (4) Amusement.

We are hoping to organize a thrift club in the near future as a number of boys have already expressed themselves as being in favor of it and will support it so far as possible to do so. Many things may be gained from a thrift club other than the amount of money to be saved at the present time. A boy that learns to save while in school will probably continue to do so when he gets into the world.

We have been doing a lot of work in our wood shop recently and it seems that nearly every boy in agriculture is very much interested in this kind of work. Some of the things being made by the boys in shop are: milking stools, nail boxes, bird boxes, necktie racks, tables, book cases, magazine racks, wood boxes, cabinets, etc. We don't all expect to be carpenters, but we hope to be able to drive a nail and saw a straight line.

Mrs. Chase Hostess

Mrs. J. T. Chase entertained her bridge club last week, progressive contract was played at two tables with the high score prize being won by Mrs. R. E. Cleaton. At five o'clock a salad course was served to the following players: Mesdames, R. E. Cleaton, J. W. Harrell, Fletcher Dickens, J. M. C. Covington, W. A. China, Wilber Anderson and Frank Nash.
