

EMPLOYERS HERE TO RECEIVE FORMS FROM POST OFFICE

Wheels In Motion For Unemploy'm't, Old Age Pensions

Roanoke Rapids will commence doing its part to make the United States Social Security Act a success when on Monday, November 16th, the local post office will distribute to all employers, employing one or more persons, the Employers Application For Identification Number Forms, according to Postmaster L. G. Shell. Employers are given one week to return the forms to the local postoffice.

Mr. Shell pointed out that these forms will be delivered by city carriers, rural and star route carriers as well as through postoffice boxes and the general delivery. It is hoped by the local postal official that no employer will be missed when delivery of the form is made on Monday. However, should any person employing one or more people fail to receive such form on the date mentioned he should secure same by making request for it at the postoffice.

Forms on which data concerning all people employed locally is to be recorded, will be delivered to local employers about November 24th after the employers identification forms have been completed and returned to the post office.

The postmaster stated that when local employers have completed the identification form they may return such form to the post office by handing it to a city carrier, placing it in any street letter box or by bringing it in person to the postoffice. In either manner mentioned no postage is required.

Mr. Shell also called attention to the fact that the following classes of employees are excepted. In other words, people employed in the following classifications are not to be included in the survey to be made by the post office Department starting Monday:

1. Self-employment.
2. Employees of the railroad industry who are subject to the Carriers Taxing Act approved August 29, 1935 (49 Stat. 974)
3. Agricultural labor.
4. Domestic service in a private home.
5. Casual labor not in the course of the employer's trade or business.

The Legion Celebrates Armistice

Supper At Legion Hut And Dance At Club

Armistice Day was celebrated by the Weldon-Roanoke Rapids American Legion Post yesterday with a supper at the Legion Hut in Weldon followed by a dance at the Chockoyotte Country Club.

Legion members and their wives attended the supper where bounteous helpings of barbecue and stew were served. The Reverend Watts of Seaboard spoke on the subject "I Hate War", saying he had borrowed his topic from President Roosevelt. Duets by Mesdames Raleigh Daniel and Charley Daniel were enjoyed.

Music for the dance at the Country Club was furnished by Paul Jones and his orchestra. An event of the evening was the crowning of the Queen of Armistice Day, Miss Mildred Lee Moore, winner of the popularity contest. An impressive ceremony was led by J. R. Allsbrook in the coronation. A good crowd of Legionnaires and their friends enjoyed the dance.
