HALIFAX AND WARREN CITIZENS PLAN DRIVE TO GET GOVT HOSPITAL

A movement was begun yesterday in Halifax and Warren counties to have the new Veterans Hospital, slated for Eastern Carolina, located at Panacea Springs near Littleton and on the border line of the two counties.

This is an ideal location, from every standpoint, for the new hospital the government plans to erect. Panacea Springs, for years, was a noted health resort and even now water is hauled away every day by people from all over this section who have felt the results from its healing influence.

There is an old hotel there with from 65 to 70 rooms which could be rebuilt for any use seen fit. There are between 150 and 200 acres in the tract, which stand at a high altitude and slopes to a beautiful lake covering 7 or 8 acres. The grounds are covered with original growth pine and oak. It is a perfect setting for such a project.

Folks who came there years ago and were helped by the healing waters of the Springs still write about their cures.

The owners have been contacted and are reported to be very reasonable so far as price is concerned. The property is now owned by the heirs of the Braswell and the Eugene Johnston estates. It is located 3 and a half miles south of Littleton on the Rocky Mount road. Part of the property is in Halifax County, part in Warren.

It was reported a special meeting of the Littleton Lions Club tonight endorsed the plan and asked for support from other civic organizations of this section of the State.

All appeals should be sent to General Frank T. Hines, Veterans Bureau, Washington, D. C., with copies to Congressman John H.
