Mrs. B. Marks Sp

That's right, my friends, years in the retail business in going out of business and retiring to think of selling out a store chocked full of new Fall and Winter and thousands of dollars worth upon pile . . . racks and racks of the finest wearing apparel of the will be disposed of in a short that my task is not going to be

But through the many years ing the public in my business husband, B. Marks, when I and managing this store at fifteen years ago, I feel that in the hearts of my customers had, and I am confident that ing a public service and dut vain. I am proud to boast the oldest established store in Roanoke am one of its pioneers and of my residence here in 1906 and Store was founded and opened about to witness the closing since the beginning adopted the right" and "square dealing" at the end.

And now, my good friends, I cannot help but feel a back the trickle of tears that when I look back over all the write finish to this chapter of consolation that I have made stuck by me thru thick and thin to the oldest citizen, and this my life . . .

So, in closing and saying public, my deepest thanks for the past . . . and for the few remaining and entire stock of merchandise for quick disposal . . . first come reserved . . . all cost forgotten Selling-out, Going-out of Business individuals will share alike . . . lump, bulk or by the piece at all fixtures including clothing shelving, desks, mirrors, window ister at unheard of prices . . . quick . . . So, come one, come plenty of extra sales clerks will flood our store to help you Let's say good-bye . . . Si
