GINGER ROGERS & MISS HEPBURN IN PEOPLES PICTURE

George Arliss Picture First On The Program

George Arliss has unquestionably the juiciest role in his career as the parson-pirate in "Dr. Syn," his latest starring vehicle scheduled to play at Peoples Monday-Tuesday.

Produced with great skill, and with tremendous fidelity to the period, "Dr. Syn" tells the tale of the notorious Captain Clegg, who escapes the gallows to settle down in a small village near the Kentish marshes. He is genuinely repentant of his past, and sincere as the parson of the village. But the extreme poverty of the villagers, and the harsh excise laws drives them to smuggling, and "Dr. Syn," their parson, becomes also their leader in bringing in contraband. But the shadow of his past haunts him when the revenue men arrive, bringing with them a strange and tongueless half-breed. He was one of Captain Clegg's men, cruelly punished for treachery, and now he has sworn vengeance. And he suspects the real identity of Dr. Syn.

How the parson eludes this menace and cleverly tricks the "revenuers," will prove very interesting to all patrons. There is also a tender love story interwoven into the plot, with John Loder and Margaret Lockwood, in the romantic leads.

"Stage Door," the long-awaited picture which teams for the first time Katharine Hepburn and Ginger Rogers, is scheduled for Wednesday-Thursday at Peoples.

The two glamorous stars add new laurels to note-worthy careers by their superb performances in the remarkably compelling drama and share top honors with Adolphe Menjou, who, in the role of a Broadway producer, recalls his outstanding performance in Miss Hepburn's Academy award picture, "Morning Glory," in which he played a similar part. Other players who win distinct recognition are Gail Patrick, Constance Collier, Andrea Leeds, Samuel B. Hinds, Lucille Ball, and a score of youngsters, many of whom are newcomers to the screen.

The gripping story is laid principally in a theatrical boarding house in New York and deals with the topsy-turvy careers of a group of stage-struck young ladies who have migrated from all sections of the country. A vivid cross-section of life is reflected in the turbulent strivings of these ambitious youngsters.

Katharine Hepburn plays a society beauty aflame with the desire to be a great dramatic actress, despite parental objections, while Ginger Rogers is seen as a happy-go-lucky, wise-cracking night club entertainer with an eye on the musical comedy stage.

The equality of women gets better than an even break in "My Dear Miss Aldrich," the amusing comedy which will be presented at Peoples Friday only. With Edna May Oliver, Maureen O'Sullivan and Walter Pidgeon topping a first-rate cast, this picture ranks as one of the better laugh films of the age. It tells the story of a school teacher who inherits a newspaper. The managing editor, strong in the belief that no woman is fitted for work beyond the home, attempts to block her at every turn until, of course, he falls in love with her.

Edna May Oliver appears as a puzzle addict, in the most humorous role of her brilliant career. Ev-
