our national wealth.

● It is already evident that a farm bill alone will not help the farmer, unless there is along with it better control of marketing and distribution. It is here that the farmer has been really hurt. It has resulted in the grower who nurses a farm commodity from seed to sale, getting far less for his commodity than the middleman who sell it. In addition, it is also realized that any permanent help for agriculture will include a plan whereby the farmers will not buy in a protected market and sell in an unprotected market. This, of course, involves tariff changes, always a highly controversial legislative subject.

● It might also be pointed out that farmers generally are getting a better understanding of the day by day attempts to give them assistance. The American Farm Bureau Federation and other farm groups, through state organizations, are keeping the individual farmers and their spokesmen advised of developments. As a result, sentiment from "back home" reaches the Capitol almost daily and has an important part in guiding the views of members desirous of protecting the best interest of their constituents.

● If I may add a personal note, it is to say that it has been a source of much regret to me that an ear condition which required immediate attention or the danger of serious trouble later, has prevented me from participating in the preliminary consideration of the farm bill. However, I shall be on the floor within a few days and give such humble assistance as I can, to the cause of agriculture—our most pressing national problem.

KILLED BY AUTO NEAR LITTLETON

Negro Run Over By Two Cars, Driver Released

George Jackson, colored, 55 year old farmer, died Sunday morning about 12:30 from injuries sustained when struck by a car driven by Nelson Rainey. The car is owned by Mrs. Mariah Foote. Jackson was hit Saturday night about 7 o'clock between Littleton and Roanoke Rapids.

Mr. Rainey has been exonerated of all blame and released by the coroner. Jackson is married and is survived by his widow and family. He was born in Warren County, and has lived in this section nearly all his life.

After he was struck, another car ran over him. He was taken to the Roanoke Rapids Hospital by Willie Perkins, where he died without regaining consciousness. He suffered internal injuries, a crushed skull, right arm broken, and both legs broken.

Rainey was placed under arrest and held until Sunday when a coroner's hearing was held. He was immediately released. The coroner held the accident unavoidable. Witnesses testified that Jackson had been drinking earlier in the evening. He was on his way home with three other men when the accident occurred.

When struck, Jackson had started across the road and was in the middle when Rainey came along.

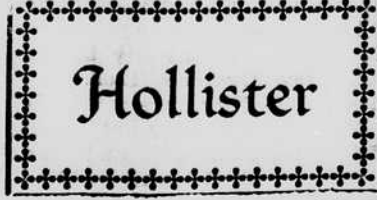

Mrs. Foote has paid the hospital bill. Burial was made Monday afternoon in Roanoke Chapel Cemetery.
