Harry Norwood Killed; Jack Smith, Harvey Hazelwood, Edward Elmore In Watts Hospital In Durham

Bulletin . . . 12:15 a. m. Friday . . . Watts Hospital in Durham reports to The Roanoke Rapids Herald that the condition of Harvey Hazelwood and Edward Elmore is very critical tonight. Jack Smith's condition is fair. Hazelwood and Elmore are partially conscious. Hazelwood has both legs broken and severe chest injuries. Elmore has both legs broken. Smith has both legs broken.

Mrs. Harvey Hazelwood and daughter, Marjorie, are at the hospital. Mrs. Edward Elmore, his wife, and Bob Elmore, his father, are at the bedside of Mr. Elmore . . . Mr. and Mrs. Willis Smith, and Lois and Miriam, sisters, are with Jack. His brother, Sam, returned late today from Durham.

Harry Norwood, 21 year old Roanoke Rapids man, was fatally injured and Harvey Hazelwood, Edward Elmore, and Jack Smith were all seriously injured in an automobile accident on the Creedmoor-Durham highway about one mile south of Creedmoor, early this morning. Norwood, whose death certificate stated that his death was due to probable internal injuries, was rushed to Watts Hospital in Durham but died before reaching there. Hazelwood, Elmore, and Smith were also taken to Watts Hospital where it was found that each suffered broken bones, various cuts about the face and body, and possible internal injuries.

The four men were returning from the Owls-McCrary Eagles baseball game in High Point when the car, driven by Edward Elmore, got out of control as it left the pavement and struck the shoulder of the road, according to people who talked to Elmore just after the accident. Before the car could be righted again, it struck the abutment of a small bridge just outside of Creedmoor. The motor was forced back through the dashboard, pinning Elmore and Smith, who were in the front seat, in the car. Hazelwood and Norwood, who received the most severe injuries, were in the rear seat.

OWLS PLAN GAMES ON SAT. AND SUN.

Business Manager Shearod Crumpler announced tonight that the Owls would play two games here during the week-end. He is negotiating with the strong 7-Up team in Washington, D. C., for a two-game series on Saturday and Sunday. If he cannot make arrangements to play the 7-Up club, he expects to have Adam Millis, one of the strong High Point teams that participated in the state tournament, here for the Saturday's game, and Ca-Vel of Roxboro here for the Sunday's game.

The 7-Up team enjoys a wide reputation of having one of the fastest semipro aggregations in the capitol city. Both Adam Millis and Ca-Vel have been among the leading teams of their sections this season. Adam Millis was rated one of the strongest teams in the state semipro tourney, having lost out early by reason of some tough breaks. The Ca-Vel club, which played here earlier in the year, has added to its club some experienced and talented material until they have a winning ball club. It is the desire of the Roxboro players to avenge themselves of the defeat the Owls handed them on their former visit here.
