

NEXT WEEK AT ROANOKE RAPIDS THEATRES

DOROTHY LAMOUR IN RETURN FILM- IMPERIAL SUNDAY

Jane Withers In "Youth Will Be Served" Thu.-Fri.

"Disputed Passage", starring Dorothy Lamour and John Howard, will come to the Imperial Theatre Sunday of next week for one day only for a return showing. "Brigham Young - Frontiersman", which is reviewed on the opposite page, will be shown at the Imperial Monday and Tuesday.

"Melody and Moonlight", starring Johnny Downs and Vera Vague, will come to the uptown theatre for "bargain day" next Wednesday only.

Downs, as a would-be hooper on the down beat, meets up with Jane Frazee, society deb, who is out slumming at one of the city's notorious dime-a-dance emporiums, as her last fling in resentment of her father's tyrannical insistence that she marry and settle down instead of seeking the theatrical life she insists upon.

After winning a dancing cup at the emporium, becoming involved in a brawl which ensues, falling in love with the personable Downs, she starts a Dancing School of the Air, which is stopped before the broadcast by the tyrannical father (Jonathan Hale), who brings pressure to bear on the sponsor, and the final intervention of Mary Lee, Downs' little sister, who brings matters up to every one's satisfaction, the audience included.

"Youth Will Be Served", starring Jane Withers and Jane Darwell, will come to the Imperial Theatre next week for a two-day run on Thursday and Friday. This picture was secured at the last minute and a review was not available. However, the film is said to have all the characteristics of a Withers story with added punches here and there. A show with an appeal for all ages.

Saturday John King and Ray Corrigan will appear in the Western story, "Range Busters", which promises to give the lover of the great outdoors plenty of thrills.

"Deadwood Dick" will be the added attraction for the day.
