Back From School At Charlotte

Mrs. Ruby Wood Mincher, Roanoke Rapids City Clerk, returned Saturday from Charlotte where she made a study of the sale of state licenses for automotive vehicles during the week of October 27. The week's study was in preparation to the opening of the sales office here on December 1.

Mrs. Mincher left here Saturday, October 26, and began her study Monday. The first day consisted of a study of pertinent facts, while the remainder of the week was spent in actual selling of license plates in the Charlotte office. She worked under the supervision of experienced agents of the Carolina Motor Club, gaining valuable training in the actual sale of the plates.

Mrs. Mincher stated this week that she felt capable of handling the job after the week's study. She will be assisted here by a patrolman when his services are needed.

Mrs. Mincher will serve as an agent of the Carolina Motor Club in connection with her job of selling licenses. The Motor Club is the official agency in the state for "auto tags" in cities other than Raleigh. Those ordered from Raleigh are directly from the State of North Carolina.

STELL IS PRINCIPAL SPEAKER IN PROGRAM AT GASTON MONDAY

Rev. Lawrence Stell, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church here, was the guest speaker in a patriotic program at the Gaston school Monday night. The program was sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Association of the high school at Gaston.

In addition to the talk by Mr. Stell, many students and members of the organization participated in the program. The program was opened with a prayer by Mr. Stell. Vivian Clairborne, a member of the eighth grade and acting as chairman of the program, then asked the audience to stand and sing "America." Patriotic poems were rendered by Fredric Hodges and Alease High, members of the third grade. In singing "Our Flag" and "Soldier Boy", Fredric and Alease were joined by classmates, Mary E. Massey, Natalie Coker, Vivian Whitby, Arline Wray, Jeannette Ferguson, Charles L. Blythe, Billy Blackwelder, Peggy Seawell, Virginia Woodruff, Maxine Bryant, Emma J. Anderson, and Theresa Vaughn. The audience gave the pledge of allegiance with the pupils.

Mr. Stell told his audience that national democracy demands that people use their minds to settle the issues that confront them, that citizens practice unselfishness, that all people hold their opinions and beliefs in such a way that they may examine them again and again, changing them if necessary.

A short business session was conducted for the members by the president, Mrs. Robert Price.

New Recreation Center Is Opened

A Pre-School Class was opened Monday of this week at the Vance St. School. The attendance was 23, which is all that can be taken care of at present.

Mrs. Rebecca Moore is in charge of this group of children and much interest and enthusiasm has been shown by the parents, friends, and school officials of the city. Miss Kate Mills Suiter of Scotland Neck, N. C., is County Supervisor of W. P. A. Recreation and visits the city several times each week.

Mrs. T. M. Jenkins, who is city supervisor, wishes to thank all the folks who have made contributions to the recreation center.

Girl Breaks Arm

Ruth Geneva Pierce, 9 year old girl of the Gaston School, fell Monday at school and broke her arm below the elbow. She was playing when the accident occurred, it is reported.

She was brought to the Roanoke Rapids Hospital where she was treated before being sent home.
